YOGI BERRA

JOHNNY KUCKS
... wraps it up

World Series Records Fall

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
BROOKLYN (UP) — Yogi Berra broke Dodge hearts with a pair of $100,000 homers and young Johnny Kucks broke their backs with three-hit pitching today to crush Brooklyn, 9-0, and give the New York Yankees their seventh world championship in 10 years.

The Yankees, turning on all their long-famed power in this seventh and final game of the annual classic, made it a mauling, mardigras before 33,782 Ebbets Field fans as Berra's two-run pair, one by Elston Howard and a grand-slammer by burly Moose Skowron provided an all-time record of 12 homers for the series.

Berra's blasts in the first and third innings gave him 10 runs batted in to break the immortal Lou Gehrig's 28-year-old record for the series and set up big Don Newcombe for another trip down heart-break highway. Newcombe, four times previously a failure against the Yanks, was kayoed again by Howard's blast, leading off the fourth — and the 23-year-old Kucks took it from there with the added comfort of Skowron's big wallop in the seventh.

Humiliating Loss

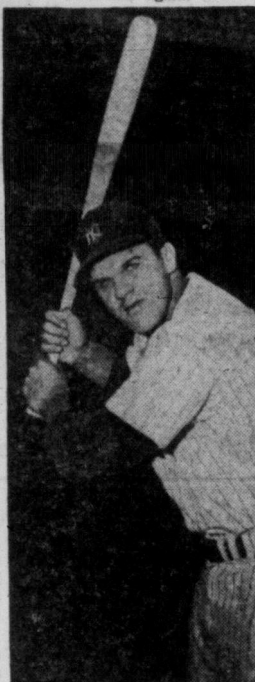

Kucks, the "singer-ball baby" of the Yankee pitching staff, finished it up with a fantastic flair as he handed the Dodgers the most humiliating seventh-game series defeat since the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Detroit Tigers, 11-0, in the 1934 finale. He had only six base runners back of him this blue-skied day on three hits and three walks, and he scored his only strikeout against the final man — Jackie Robinson, whose hit had won Tuesday's squaring sixth game. That meant, on the heels of Don Larsen's history-making perfect game in the fifth contest, that Yankee pitchers had given Brooklyn only one run and seven hits over the last 28 innings to provide Casey Stengel with this sixth world championship in eight years.

And, once again it was grim defeat for Newcombe, beaten twice by these Yankees in 1949.

HOW YANKS DID IT PLAY BY PLAY BY UNITED PRESS

FIRST INNING

Yankees — Bauer lined a 1 and 2 pitch over Reese's head into left field for a single. Berra stole second base on Newcombe's third pitch to Martin. Campanella making a one-bounce throw to second.

Martin was called out on strikes on a 2 and 2 pitch. Mantle ran the count to 3 and 2 and then went down swinging.

Berra lined Newcombe's second pitch a few feet foul down the right field line and then hit the next pitch over the right field screen for a home run, putting the Yankees ahead, 2-0. Skowron struck out.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers — Gilliam bounced to Skowron, who made the putout unassisted.

Tom Sturdivant was warming up in the Yankee bullpen. Reese ran the count to 3 and 2 and walked when Kucks' next pitch was inside.

Snider hit the first pitch into left field for a single, Reese going to second. Robinson hit into a double play, Kucks to Martin to Skowron. Robinson protested the call at first base.

95 Terrorized; Girl Teachers Used As Shields

TERRAZZANO, Italy (AP) — Italian police burst into a schoolhouse today and freed 95 children and four teachers held prisoner for hours by two berserk brothers who opened fire in the final minutes of the siege, killing one man. Both brothers were wounded.

The children, between six and 10 years old, had been held at gunpoint for six hours by Arturo and Osvaldo Sampato, who demanded 2,000,000 lire ($380,000) to release them. A full battalion of national police attacked the building after the director of an asylum for the criminally insane from which one brother recently was released warned that the youth was growing more maniacal by the moment.

The brothers had threatened to blow up the children with dynamite or scar them with acid unless given the money.

Police Went In, Guns Blazing

Italian police, long prevented from shooting by the brothers' use of the girl teachers as shields, finally went in with guns blazing.

They wounded both Arturo, the madman, and Osvaldo, the younger brother whom police described as a near-moron under Arturo's domination.

Near-hysterical parents tried to lynch the pair when, manacled, they were brought into a courtyard outside the two-story school. Police fought back the crowd and took them away.

Many of the children were bound hand and foot. Heroine of the rescue was Miss Paolo del Caratore, a teacher. She attacked the younger brother with her bare hands. She wrenched away his knife and stabbed him in the head. It was then Arturo, the older brother, grappled with her and police were able to close in without the children being endangered.

Tried to Kill His Own Sister

Arturo pumped two bullets at his own sister just before the police assault. She had been trying to persuade him to give up.

The brothers shot one man dead who tried to climb into a school window during the final attack on the building. Earlier, they shot the mother of one child in the leg.

Arturo kept asking for a TV set in messages to police during efforts to get him to surrender. One was placed on the window ledge just before the attack in hopes he would be fascinated by it and not open fire. But Arturo's gun went into action as soon as police began climbing up ladders into the second-storey windows.

The brothers repeated their oral threat by tossing out a note saying: "Give us 200,000,000 lire or we will not have pity on the children."

Holding up a flask, one shouted to police: "See this. There's acid in it. We also have dynamite. The children are in our hands. If you make a step we will kill them all."

A parish priest then sought to reason with the youths, but they would not listen to him.

Terrazzano, a town of less than 1,000, is on the highway between Milan and Sesto Calende.

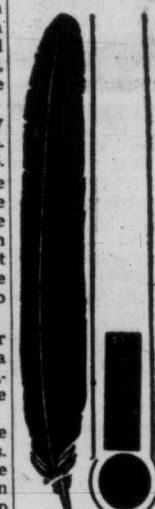

At noontime the bandits permitted the police to carry food for the children to the entrance. Using a teacher for a shield, one gunman brought the food inside the school.

Sobbing parents waited outside the police lines while the dramatic siege was under way.

GOP Concealed Oilman's $5,000 Kefauver Says

Cheque Photostat

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Senator Estes Kefauver says the Republicans have tried to conceal a $5,000 campaign gift from the oil company president whose money was offered to a South Dakota Republican senator during the congressional debate on natural gas in the United States.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, in a speech to a Syracuse Press Club luncheon today, said he was ready to display a photograph of a cheque for the $5,000.

His speech was released to the press in advance.

He said the cheque was drawn on the City National Bank of Houston, Tex., dated Jan. 10, 1956, made out to the United Republican Dinner Committee, and signed by H. B. Keck, president of the Superior Oil Co.

The senator declared the circumstances of the gift was evidence that "when candidate Eisenhower promised as part of the great crusade to take firm action against corruption in government, he failed to live up to his word."

TWO LAWYERS INDICTED

Kefauver demanded to know whether the Republican national chairman, Leonard W. Hall, or Attorney-General Herbert Brownell had notified the president of the $5,000 cheque, and if not, why not.

Keck testified during a Senate lobbying committee investigation that $2,500 rejected by Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) came from his personal funds.

Kefauver pointed out that Superior Oil and two of its lawyers, Elmer Patman and John Neff, had been indicted in connection with the case.

"But no action was taken regarding the much greater amount given the Eisenhower dinner committee by the same head of Superior Oil," he said. "President Eisenhower sent a piously worded message to Congress vetoing the gas bill on the ground of arrogant lobbying activity in attempting to influence Congress."

"Now, however, we learn that the Eisenhower dinner committee—the committee which raised all the money for the president's television appearances in this campaign—received money from the same source."

AID TOO LATE

Bear Kills Trainer as Girl Screams

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — While his fiancée tried desperately to save him, a 28-year-old animal trainer was killed Tuesday night by a 500-pound performing bear he was taking from its cage.

Paul Lemery was attacked shortly after he entered the cage of one of four bears he had been training for television appearances. Hans, a European brown bear, pinned Lemery to the floor and clawed and bit him.

Lemery's fiancée, Shirley Rodriguez, 23, outside the cage, grabbed a seven-foot pole and beat the bear repeatedly as it clung to Lemery.

Screams by Lemery and Miss Rodriguez were heard by Robert Bellefleur, 26, an operator of a store near the trailer where the bears were kept in three cages. He seized a .35-calibre hunting rifle, ran to the door of the trailer and fatally shot the bear in the head.

Any Tax Cuts Will Be Small, Harris Hints

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Harris implied Tuesday that any tax cuts proposed in his 1957-58 budget will be small. He gave the indication in a speech to the Eastern Ontario Liberal Association.

Ottawa Sends Paul Martin On Long Tour in Far East

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Hon. Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare, will be the first Canadian minister to visit the international supervisory commission in Indochina when he makes a goodwill tour of the Far East this winter.

The tour will include India, Ceylon, Pakistan, Australia and New Zealand. Mr. Martin will be the official Canadian government representative at the Olympic Games in Melbourne.

The tour is further evidence of the increasing importance with which Canada regards the Far East.

Mr. Martin is expected to leave Ottawa with his party about mid-November. Plans call for him flying in the Royal Canadian Air Force C-5 aircraft used by Prime Minister St. Laurent on his round-the-world tour.

After the Olympic Games, Mr. Martin will fly to New Zealand for the Colombo Plan conference in December.

The tour itinerary includes an official visit to New Delhi. Tentative plans call for Mr. Martin to lay the cornerstone for the atomic reactor which Canada has given to India.

Grave Case Remanded

ALBANY — A further remand to Thursday was granted William Harold Nelson, 18, when he appeared in police court here today on a charge of offering an indignity to a human body.

Nelson pleaded guilty earlier. He is one of four youths charged in connection with recent cemetery vandalism and the digging up of a body as a grisly prank.

Jean Gibson, 17-year-old waitress who recently was transferred to juvenile court, was today transferred for the second time to police court and remanded for future hearing. No date was set.

David Windsor Ferguson, 15, and Alma Doreen Lochner, 19, who are out on bail of $2,500 and $1,000 respectively, will appear in court again Friday.

RCAF Races Winter in Arctic Hunt For Plane Carrying Nanaimo Pair

EDMONTON (CP)—The RCAF today battled time and freezing temperatures in a search for a woman and three men, missing for 12 days on a flight through 300 miles of partially uncharted wilderness inside the Arctic Circle.

With full winter imminent and daylight hours diminishing, the biggest aerial search in years in Northwest Territories tracked and re-tracked the tree-lined area—barrens north and stunted trees south—to find two light aircraft and their tiny party.

Every available aircraft in the area sought pilot Dick Warner of Aklavik, N.W.T. and Edmonton.

QUEEN TO THROW SWITCH

Atomic Electricity Ready for Britain

CALDER HALL, Eng. (Reuters)—Atomic power is giving heat and light to offices here for the first time in Britain.

Electricity from atoms has been used in the nuclear power station here "for a week or two," a British atomic energy authority official said.

The experiment is "undoubtedly a success," he added, and power from the plant will soon be flowing into Britain's grid system, now supplied by conventional coal power.

The gigantic Calder Hall plant will be opened officially by Queen Elizabeth next week. The plant's present output of 10,000 kilowatts will be doubled by the time the Queen throws the switch which will feed uranium-sourced electricity into the national power lines.

WHITEHAVEN FIRST.

The first community to get its electricity from atoms will be the nearby coal-mining town of Whitehaven, which has a population of 30,000.

Last May the first of two atomic piles went into operation. Enough uranium was loaded into the pile to start a chain reaction and enable it to become self-sustaining.

Just recently, dynamos were hooked up to the atomic power units — and electricity began to flow.

The Calder Hall plant is regarded as the prototype of 12 atomic power stations planned for the next 10 years at an estimated cost of £300,000,000.

Disputants Meet With Hammarskjöld

By RON CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP)—New hope for settling the Suez Canal dispute centred today on a British-French-Egyptian meeting in the office of United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Representatives of the three countries agreed to meet Tuesday night during a closed-door session of the UN Security Council. The council decided to suspend sessions for one day to see if the three parties can work out privately a basis for negotiating an agreement.

The secret council session followed three days of debate in which virtually no progress was made in bridging the gap in opinions on who should control the vital waterway.

RUSSIAN OPTIMISTIC

After Tuesday night's session of the 11-nation council, Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, grinning broadly, said he had "a feeling of optimism." Other delegates had no comment.

During the three-day debate neither side budged an inch. Britain and France insist the canal should be placed under international control. Egypt, backed by Russia, says she cannot negotiate on any basis other than that which would leave her in control.

U. S. State Secretary Dulles narrowed the sphere of disagreement slightly by saying the heart of the problem centres on one thing — the principle of "insulation" of the waterway against the influence of national politics.

If Egypt would accept this principle, he said, subsidiary problems could be resolved. But, if that principle is repudiated, "then it is difficult to foresee a useful role for a negotiating body."

Immediately after Dulles' speech, Shepilov told reporters such a principle is just a cover for internationalizing the canal. Any international group created to run the canal would be influenced by the politics of the countries of the board, the Russian said.

Immediately after the 1½-hour closed council session, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi accompanied Hammarskjöld to his office. They were joined later by Foreign Minister Christian Pineau of France. After the session all three declined comment.

SE CHIEFS WORK FAST

Search planes fly 1,000 feet up and the spotter has about six seconds to see a missing aircraft in a mile-square area. Rolling country, bush or fog reduce the spotting possibilities.

FO Booth gave the four a better chance of survival than that given last fall to Gerhart (Jerry) Lozie, 27. He survived 10 days in the North but had to have both legs removed below the knee because of frostbite after he was found Oct. 1, 1955, just north of the Saskatchewan border.

Lozie had no food and was stranded on the wing of a plane but the missing quartet have bed rolls, food for about two weeks, a gun and fish net.

FO Booth said that if the four are down on a small lake they may be unable to cross thin ice to where they can hunt or light signal fires. The hunters are federal experts on northern fishing.

DUKE'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Queen Dances Gaily, But Not Rock-Roll

IVER, England (CP)—Queen Elizabeth danced to rock 'n' roll music until the wee hours today at a gay 21st birthday party for her cousin, the Duke of Kent.

"It was all very regal, you know," said a fellow guest.

"You couldn't say she actually did the rock 'n' roll herself, but she did dance animatedly."

Her partner as the band played See You Later, Alligator and Rock Around the Clock was Lord Porchester, 32-year-old peer.

Nearly 200 royal personages and members of London's high society helped the duke celebrate his coming of age at Coppins, the home of his mother, the Duchess of Kent. The party lasted from 9 o'clock Tuesday night until the last guests straggled out at 5 a.m. today.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh left just after 3 a.m. for the 20-mile journey back to Buckingham Palace.

Some of the younger set rocked 'n' rolled, with varying degrees of skill, until nearly dawn.

The gay young duke is as devoted a rock 'n' roll fan as many of his contemporaries. The duke is seventh in line of succession to the throne.

The party was divided into two sections. First came a private family dinner party, attended by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, then a dance for about 130 young friends of the duke and his

Diefenbaker's Opportunity

IT SEEMS ALTOGETHER PROBABLE that Mr. John Diefenbaker will be the next leader of the Progressive Conservative Party. This able parliamentarian, veteran of the first war and solitary Conservative member of the House of Commons from Saskatchewan has waited a long time for his chance and now it has come. But the prospects facing Mr. Diefenbaker, or any other successor to Mr. Drew, are daunting.

Only when Mr. Drew has retired, his health sacrificed to his public duty, is his achievement of the last year or two fully appreciated. Beginning in the spring of 1955, when the St. Laurent Government stumbled into the fiasco of the Defence Production Act, Mr. Drew slowly established himself as the first formidable Conservative since Lord Bennett. At the last parliamentary session the Opposition was cutting ice for the first time since the war. It was obvious, however, that all the impetus of the undoubted Conservative revival came from one man and that man was exhausted by his labors.

It will be difficult for any other man to fill Mr. Drew's place even if he is given the chance of a long apprenticeship. There can be no such apprenticeship for Mr. Diefenbaker. Though the next election probably will not be held until next June, the new Conservative leader will be deep in the election campaign at the moment of his nomination.

As all our political history shows, it is one thing to become a party leader; quite another to become master of a party; and still another to become master of the nation. Customarily our successful leaders spend several years at least in leadership before they can hope to strike for office.

Mr. Diefenbaker will have no such chance. However able he may prove to be (and no one can measure a statesman before he has reached the top) it is quite obvious that the enforced retirement of Mr. Drew is a cruel and untimely disaster to the Conservative Party. Perhaps the Government's re-election was assured in any case but, lacking some high feat of folly, it can hardly fail now.

Whose Fight Is It?

OBSERVERS MAY HAVE DETECTED a significant note in the current Security Council discussion of the Suez problem.

The Egyptian case was presented, according to the news reports, in a lengthy but vague way. No clear-cut basis for talks was provided, although the Egyptian representative made it plain that President Nasser was "willing to negotiate."

By all the "rules" of diplomatic usage, such a presentation was an open invitation to make an offer. Optimistically interpreted, it could even mean that Egypt was getting ready to shift its position regarding internationalization of the canal and would consider any reasonable proposition.

But the Russian statement to the Council was much stronger. Mr. Shepilov, the Soviet delegate, was free with charges of British and French "colonialism," and harshly demanded that the West reconsider a plan that has already been turned down.

It seemed clear that the man from Moscow was taking a much more determined stand than the Egyptians, although ostensibly it is the Egyptians who are fighting for their own interests.

Was this a glimpse of the real motivation behind the whole Suez question—the overnight coup by which Egypt seized and nationalized ownership of the waterway, and the continuing insistence that only Egypt shall have control of its operation? Could Egypt be paying for common arms with more than its cotton crop—with nothing less, indeed, than service as a cat's paw in Russia's much wider game?

The United Nations talks, if they achieve no solution, will do much if they expose such a situation, granted that it does exist. It would be no new thing to find the U.S.S.R. operating in international politics from behind the shield of an underlying used to hide its real intentions.

If such should prove correct in this case, President Nasser would find that he had played a very dangerous game, one from which he would not be able to withdraw until he had served his final, tragic purpose.

As a westerner Mr. Diefenbaker is at a personal disadvantage in Ontario but if he receives the full support of Premier Leslie Frost (as Mr. Drew did not) he can reasonably hope for substantial gains. Much will turn on the attitude of Mr. Frost, who dominates the provincial politics of our largest province and who, at the moment, is quarreling bitterly with the Federal government on taxation matters.

Presumably, if Mr. Frost throws his weight into the scales, the Conservative Party will thrive in Ontario but if it is to re-establish itself as a truly national party it must also show signs of growth elsewhere. That will depend not only on Mr. Diefenbaker's high personal qualities but on his policies.

What actual policies does the Conservative Party stand for today after a long period of confusion? We hope the forthcoming party convention will re-define those policies, that Mr. Diefenbaker or some other leader will articulate them clearly and that, for the first time in many years, the Canadian people will have two real alternatives before them next June.

In This, Too, Perfection

BASEBALL'S "WORLD SERIES" came to its climactic close today with a great four-games to three victory for the Yankees.

While the champions were being hailed, the reading world, extending beyond those deeply interested and informed in the affairs of baseball, had occasion to note the achievement of a pitcher's "perfect game"—no hits, no runs, no walks.

Don Larsen attained that feat for the New York Yankees on Monday. To those unacquainted with the rules and traditions, it may mean little.

Yet perfection, even what man calls perfection, is an accomplishment so rare that it must be noted. Only the highly informed can argue whether or not a single example of art has achieved perfection, whether or not there is a perfect poem, a perfect song.

Mr. Larsen, say the baseball authorities, has won the perfect game. May the achievement of perfection be as significant to all those young people who followed the series as the victory it ensured in a game. A baseball player has established a superlative standard. It shines in a world where so much that is sub-standard is counted good enough.

Removing the Humbug

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF the International Olympic Committee has rejected the proposed new pledge for athletes competing in this year's Games.

The pledge would have required competitors to state not only that they are amateurs, but that they intend to stay amateurs.

The executive board has been wise in its decision. An oath of intention to remain an amateur would have had no force whatsoever. In the first place, any athlete turning professional after the Olympics could have argued quite honestly and logically that he had intended to remain amateur but, because of circumstances, had changed his mind.

Another invitation to humbug has been removed by the board's action.

Real or Just a Bad Dream?

IN THE CENTRE RING

By B. A. TOBIN

Man of the Hour By Hour

THIS is an age in which fame can be built on some pretty tawdry foundations. There seems to be a great public hunger for cheap exhibitionism, a terrible thirst for meretriciousness in entertainment. Anybody who can and is willing to satisfy those needs is likely overnight to find himself among the worshipped elite. Great advantages will immediately accrue to him. He will be swamped with offers of money in return for his services. He will be urged to sign contracts for trivial exertion at exorbitant pay. He will be accepted into the company of the great, allowed to mingle with them at social affairs, to trade autographs with them, to be received on occasion by royalty, to wallow through untold thousands of pages of newspaper and magazines, and to enjoy for a greater or lesser period of time all that this world affords in the way of material reward.

That, surely, is the trend of the typical success story of our times—the biography of a meteor coming from nowhere, headed nowhere, meaning nothing, but glittering and stared at while it lasts.

The disease is an affliction of the public, rather than of the individual. There is nothing in the lives or accomplishments of these performers that entitles them to admiration. It is the public that creates them, lauds them and casts them aside for a new attraction. seals receive a million-fold more than the dead herring their efforts really merit.

What calls these freaks on to the stage, with their guitars, their candelabra, their microphones, their gim-crack clothing and their pathetic little attention-begging tricks and mannerisms? Who provides the initial audience, not only for the performer but for the press agent?

A lot of it, I believe, lies in the strength of the herd instinct among adolescents. It is not necessary that one of these clowns be really popular. It is only necessary that a section of the population believe he is popular. Then each individual adolescent must render at least lip-service—and not a curled one, either—in order to prove he or she is one of the group.

Hep! Hep! Hep!

Pollled singly, not one of the crowd might care two hoots about the entertainment idol in question but in the mass each must cheer him for fear of being rated as out of the running with the herd.

The measure of the individual's real regard may be gauged in the rapidity with which the idol is dropped—without any particular care being taken to make sure that he lands on his feet of clay either—as soon as the fashion has passed and another press agent has won acclaim for another protegee.

Then it immediately becomes un-herdly to lavish admiration on the previous hero. Even if he were really preferred he must be abandoned without a backward glance.

Fashions in hog-calling change as frequently and as drastically as fashions in coiffures. Who will be seen in last year's duck cut when the times demand a fancy forelock? Who will sing last year's tune when it won't be in fashion again for 15 or 20 years?

Easily Fooled

The pity of it all is that the mob is bamboozled by such feeble stimuli. So many thousands of humans are doing jobs that could command public admiration in a hundred fields of endeavor. Yet frivolous entertainment has been chosen as the sole branch of activity that rates worship—and by entertainment I mean commercial performance whether on the stage or in the sports stadium.

Perhaps the truth is that the worthy workers would not have it otherwise. For them—the scientists, the engineers, the researchers, the builders and makers and doers—the job is the thing, human personality a poor second.

But for the others—the screechers and grimacers and poseurs—what they do is so trivial that all attention must be centered in the personality. What a pity that in a field where personality is such an important commodity there should be such a dearth of the real thing.

OCT. 10, 1916 — Holiday (Thanksgiving) fishing is reported to have been very successful in Saanich Arm yesterday. Some salmon and grise were caught, but the most sensational catches were of big cod, which were plentiful.

Success

Kindly allow me space in your letter column to comment on the great evangelist meeting at the Arena.

Mr. Thomas Rees, the modern evangelist has completed his mission and left for other fields. People ask was his mission a success? From the huge crowds who attended the Arena services it would appear to have been a huge success. As a speaker he was not one of those tub thumping bawlers. But soft spoken and sincere, which no doubt left some impression.

The response to the singing of those beautiful hymns would have been much improved if two or three of the old Sanky and Moody hymns had been introduced, as at least fifty per cent of those present had never heard the hymns he tried so desperately to put over. However let us hope that his sincere Christian influence at least left an impression on some of our spiritual advisors with whom there is no doubt he became personally associated during his stay in Victoria.

Court and Politics

Thank God our Supreme Court Judges are federally appointed.

The decisions and findings on the contempt cases against Finlayson and the two Vancouver newspapers and now on the Sturdy-Sommers case permitting access to records (both of which were objected to by Sommers' counsel) are like a fresh breeze into a smokey murky atmosphere.

After all, our whole governmental and judiciary strata is fashioned from the British parliamentary system which has stood the test of time and is our one salvation.

No wonder Mr. Bennett did not want a proper judicial enquiry prior to the calling of a snap election. The conduct of the Bennett Government would not be tolerated for more than a few hours in England. The slightest suspicion of wrong doing on the part of a Minister of the Crown there is acted on immediately, public opinion and tradition sees to that.

Again I ask, what have the members of the Social Credit League to say in the matter? Are they afraid to speak up or are they mesmerized?

Drew and Hong Kong

There has been of course a considerable amount of editorial expression eulogizing the qualities of the Honorable George Drew as Leader of the Opposition, and a general expression of regret that he has found it necessary to retire for reasons of poor health from the leadership of the Conservative Party.

There has been little or no mention however of the part he took during the war in criticizing the dispatch of untrained Canadian troops to Hong Kong. History has recorded the catastrophe that resulted when the Japanese took that Colony and when it was found that the British and Canadian garrisons were able to offer little or no resistance.

As a result of the charges that George Drew made at the time, a Royal Commission was set up, and the late Chief Justice of Canada, Sir Lyman Duff, was commissioner. Upon the evidence produced before that commission (George Drew was unable to get all the evidence that he desired produced before it) the Mackenzie King Government was upheld, and as a result, the charges made by him were held upon the evidence to be unjustifiable, and for the time being, the government of that day was upon the evidence freed from blame. As a result of the charges made by Mr. Drew, he was charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations by reason of his utterances aforesaid. However, the Government decided not to proceed with his prosecution, and the charge against him was finally withdrawn.

The recent publication of the Official Canadian Army History has fully confirmed Mr. Drew's charges to the effect that the Canadian troops sent to Hong Kong were not only untrained, but were not properly equipped. This episode in his career shows the courage Mr. Drew displayed in making his charges fearlessly in time of war, and was one of many instances of the courage he has displayed throughout his political career. His retirement as Leader of the Opposition is in itself a sad loss to the public life of Canada. However, no one is indispensable and in the Conservative Party there is no dearth of leaders in the federal field.

Help to the Helpless

On behalf of the Vancouver Island Adoption Association for Displaced Persons I should like to thank all those who have contributed to our Christmas hamper fund for Aichholzhof Camp. Candies and small gifts are now being bought and we hope to have the hampers packed and away before the end of the month.

Several people have asked for more information about Aichholzhof and our purpose in adopting this camp. At a meeting last May it was decided that Vancouver Island should form a branch association from the one already inaugurated in Vancouver and take over a new camp. The head office of the association in London, Eng., selected the small but very needy camp of Aichholzhof for us, and we have now obtained, through the German Red Cross, all the information we require about the families living there. The rest is up to us.

We are holding a meeting at the Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street, on Thursday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m., and all those concerned in the plight of the dispossessed people of Europe are invited to attend.

The office of the high commissioner for refugees in Geneva is working now on a permanent solution for these camps and relies on our co-operation. If these places were closed tomorrow many of the inmates have lost the will to go out and make a living in the world; their hopes have been shattered too often and a feeling has grown that they have been betrayed and discarded. But friendly communication with an individual or a group of individuals does revive hope and faith in human nature, and the rebirth of hope is the first step towards rehabilitation.

This is how we can help.

Water and Sewer Loans

As I ponder over some experiences of the past, especially the result of the recent election in B.C. and the future of what may happen with some engineering, it seems to me that the Social Credit doctrine must be well installed at Ottawa, federally, before it can ever be the complete success anticipated.

I cannot forget the problem facing Saanich in negotiating its water and sewer installation bonds, facing discouraging offers or banks not interested in making loans and then only on condition of repayment in six months.

It is this feature that compels some control from Ottawa for the general needs of expansion and supplying of these essential services demands that decisions cannot be tolerated which depend on the whims of some banking cartels. The free flow of money is just as necessary for our well-being as the free circulation of the blood through any healthy body. That, of course, is my humble opinion.

Veneration

In the course of rather insultingly-phrased remarks about elderly people Dr. Ian Macdonald tells an assemblage of doctors that forced retirement from work at 65 years of age is biologically unsound.

The return of a remnant of Israel to the Holy Land is a sign that Jehovah's new world under the rule of Jesus Christ is near. For proof of this and what to do in view of it see the following: Jeremiah 31:7-10; Luke 21:20-24; Matthew 24:14, 21, 22; Romans 10:9 and Zephaniah 2:3 in the Bible.

Tribute to Dinah

Hats off to Miss Dinah Kerr, your Church page reporter; for the sincere and exacting way in which she reported the Evangelist, Tom Rees' mission.

I am sure others will join me in lauding Miss Kerr's straightforward and humble way of exalting Christ the Saviour, through the medium of her column, just as was portrayed by Tom Rees. She certainly didn't forget the theme of the mission, "Know Christ, and make Him known."

Safe in an English Court

From The Times, London

THAT the unhappy dispute over the accused Russian-discus-thrower, had swollen to such a point as to threaten cancellation of the eagerly awaited visit of the Bolshoi Theatre Company to Covent Garden was deplorable and almost incredible. Miss Nina Ponomareva was charged with stealing five hats from a shop in Oxford Street, defaulted on her bail, and has been sheltered in the Russian Embassy ever since.

The presumption of innocence is still in her favour; public opinion here is predisposed to believe that the suspicion under which she lies has been incurred merely through a foreigner's ignorance of our ways and language; and if such, on investigation, proves to be the case, her reputation and liberty are safe in an English court.

Quite Unfamiliar

But these truisms are quite unfamiliar to Russian thought, and the Bolshoi dancers must be supposed to be perfectly sincere when they assume that the charge against Miss Ponomareva has been "concocted"—even that they themselves may be in similar danger if they come to London. It appears from their statement that the proof they expected of the absence of political malice was that "this entire affair . . . would be immediately ended by the British authorities."

Is there any means of convincing the Russians that, just as the lowest English court would indignantly repudiate the demand that it should convict at the will of the executive, so it is beyond the utmost authority of the State to stop the process of justice once it has been set in motion?

The Russian point of view is hard for Englishmen to appreciate. The Russians are not a travelled people. Among the hundreds of thousands who journey abroad from Great Britain, on business or pleasure, every year, it is inevitable that a few are brought into foreign courts on charges, of which they may or may not be guilty.

Routine Matter

We have learnt to accept it as a matter of routine, calling only for the watchful eye of our diplomatic and consular representatives and a protest if the trial does not seem to be fair. But Russian travellers overseas are few and carefully selected; a charge against one of them is rare, and naturally causes a severe shock.

It has also to be appreciated that the Bolshoi Company has a prestige in the eyes of Russians to which nothing here quite corresponds. Against a background of drab housing and living conditions it shines out as the symbol of pre-eminence in that art in which the world is most ready to acknowledge Russian greatness.

But civilized standards place the arts and their foremost servants far above the level of petty squabbles over political prestige. Regrets that this lamentable series of events was ever started and hopes that somehow the slate can be wiped clean are mixed, none the less, with regret that sense of proportion should be lost in Moscow so easily.

Canadian Writers Popular

LONDON—Arts and letters... LIBERACE is going to get a going-over from the press wherever he goes during his visit to England, one may feel sure of that. In fact it had started even before he set foot in this country.

Interviewer Roderick Mann of the Sunday Express said to him: "Opinion in England about your film 'Sincerely Yours,' was divided. Some thought it was the worst film they had ever seen, but others merely felt it was awful."

A BOOK REVIEW in the Evening Standard says that the novel "Love and Salt Water" is "an excellent, assured performance by Canada's best writer." Its author is Ethel Wilson. Just shows you how out of touch I am—I had never heard of her. But a call to the publishers of the book revealed that this wife of a Vancouver doctor had had reviews in England for her previous novels.

FILMGOERS here, especially those who are also keen on ballet, wildly enthusiastic about Gene Kelly's new movie, "Invitation to a Dance," the one which has no dialogue, all dancing by the nimble Kelly and friends.

CANADIANS who fought in Italy during Second World War might be interested to read: The Fortress, by Raleigh Trevelyan, all about the Anzio operation, plus wartime sidelights on Naples, Rome, etc.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Crick in the Back

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many persons ask me why they have a crick in the back, and what they can do about it. Usually I think a crick in the back is due to a smouldering tendency to arthritis of the spine. I know that in my lifetime I have had hundreds of such cricks, sometimes quite painful. Fortunately, they were temporary, and usually they soon went away without any treatment. I think they were all manifestations of my tendency to fibrositis, which is a relative of arthritis.

When a person has a paralyzing crick in the back, which comes, perhaps after trying to lift a trunk in the attic, and when then he can hardly straighten up, and perhaps has to remain in bed for a few weeks, it may well be that one of the discs that lie between the vertebrae slipped back, and pressed on the nerves. In some of these cases the man has to be operated on and the disc removed before he can be well. In some cases the disc slips back into place and then the pain goes.

In other cases it seems as if some bit of bone had slipped out of place in the spine, and then manipulation may suddenly bring relief. In some cases a hot tub will help, with perhaps a couple of aspirins, and some deep massage.

SPASTIC COLON

Hundreds of people still ask me what to do about a spastic colon, or so-called spastic colitis. My answer is that I don't know much to do about it, and I won't try to do much. As my old chief used to say, every self-respecting nervous woman has a spastic colon; there would be something wrong with her if she didn't have it.

It is highly important that the woman know she hasn't a colitis. Colitis means an inflammation of the colon, and she has no such inflammation. All she has is an irritable colon, which responds too violently to

A vivid memory of that hectic Anzio show is Sholto Watt, war correspondent of the Montreal Star, who, to say the least, didn't look the least bit fearless. Yet he hastened to get into situations where shot and shell were flying around. At Anzio, he was interviewing a tough sergeant who followed his army training and was quick to dive for cover when big stuff started coming over. Watt adjusted his monocle and looked down at the sheltering sergeant. "Good heavens, man," he said, how on earth can I interview you if you keep jumping into ditches."

DIEPPE will have another outing on the printed page. Harpers, who in 1942 published my book, Rehearsal For Invasion, about the affair, have just called to say that another publisher has bought the rights from them to reissue it. The new edition, with a new title, will be out early in the coming year. Thus do things drop in one's lap out of the blue.

SCOTT YOUNG, former Winnipegger now living out Pickering way, getting a little here for his first novel, The Flood, based on that unpleasantness a couple of years ago in Winnipeg. Critics feel he gets the wetness over very graphically.

"MR. MONROE," the English papers' snide way of referring to Marilyn's play-wright husband, Arthur Miller, isn't having any success in getting his play, A View From The Bridge, on in London's West End. It is being staged in a small "arts theatre" because the Lord Chamberlain (British theatre censor) doesn't feel the theme should be aired in public.

The Unseen Audience

True Thanksgiving Day for Gardeners

It was not until Thanksgiving Day came, with its quiet mild overcast skies, that I realized how many things had piled up to be thankful about.

The weather it self was the first thing to come to mind—the long, warm, prolific summer which had enabled all of us to excel in some otherwise difficult crop. The warmth of holiday weekend was another blessing to many gardeners. Flowering annuals were hauled to the compost heap, the ground dug and enriched with bonemeal, wallflowers and bulbs for spring were planted.

I was grateful that this year the lovely Dartmouth crabapples did not have to rot on the ground, but have been made into jelly almost as lovely to look at as the fruit on the tree. Combined with some quince fruits from the ornamental Cydonia japonica (known by many simply as "japonica" which means Japanese) this jelly is really going to be appreciated by husband Jack.

During the day, above the sound of passing cars, suddenly came the voices of many geese in flight.

There they were, in a huge horseshoe formation, apparently approaching a lake for feeding since they were not headed south. I felt grateful to have seen them, for now I know that we must indeed get down to earth and finish the fall work in the garden before rains and colder weather sets in.

Thanksgiving Day, and an unknown reader of this column phoned early with a question, but ended by wishing us both a happy Thanksgiving Day!

For such gifts as these I find occasion to be thankful not only at Thanksgiving, but on each day of the year.

Brinks Chase
Cost U.S.
$5,000,000

BOSTON (AP)—Now that eight men have been sentenced to life in prison for the $12,200,000 Brink's robbery, how much did the 6½-year pursuit cost?

That's a tough question. So many agencies used so many men working for such a long period that it's hard to account for all the expenditure. But the Boston Globe has come up with a figure.

After careful checking, the Globe says it estimates that the Brink's investigation cost $5,000,000—better than four times the fabulous amount taken.

The newspaper says its figure is "strictly an estimate—no one can furnish an accurate amount, so it may have run higher. Scores of incidental expenses couldn't be estimated.

Half of the burden must be assigned to the FBI, the Globe says. It figures agents' salaries and expenses, reached "a staggering $2,500,000"—figuring the average pay of an agent at about $7,500 annually.

State, county and city governments spent an estimated $2,000,000 more, the Globe says. And the nine-week trial which ended early Saturday night cost another $150,000. Fees, meals and entertainment for the jury are figured at close to $20,000.

Young Netherlander Offered Just Too Much for Chest

By PETE LOUDON

A young immigrant Netherlander, Peter Boudewyn, 22, has set a new style in Community Chest giving. His generosity resulted in chest collectors arguing with him to scale down his payroll deduction gift.

Peter is receiver and shipper for Woodward stores here. When the red feather collectors called he wanted to give $5 a month. He said he'd read of the need and thought that would be the proper amount to give.

Peter isn't a big wage earner. Knowing he had only been three years in Canada, the officials thought they should point out his gift would equal $60 a year. Most employees at his level would give just upward of $1 a month. Average gift last year was $8.76.

Maybe someone gave Peter a helping hand when he came to Canada. He didn't say. But he stuck to his guns. It was only after long argument he compromised and dropped his gift to $3 a month—$36 a year. It was the first time the can-vassers ever found anyone wanting to give too much!

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

CITY'S WEATHER RECORD
Sunshine, 1956.....2049.9 hrs.
Last year.....1821.5 hrs.
Precip. to date.....14.30 ins.

Synopsis—An extensive but slowly moving weather disturbance over south western B.C. and the northwestern states is moving slowly eastward bringing cloudy cool weather and considerable rain to southwestern B.C. Gradual improvement in weather is expected along the lower coast overnight as the system moves inland but conditions will remain unsettled in the southern interior.

The northern sections of the province will not be affected to any great extent by this system. However another disturbance moving into the Gulf of Alaska will push rapidly toward the Yukon and will likely cause some cloud at least over the northern half of the province.

Liberace Scorns British Critics

LONDON (Reuters) — Pianist Liberace said Tuesday most of the criticism levelled at him by British papers concerns "insignificant little things."

Looking down at his gold-headed suit, he added, "such as the suit I am wearing today."

Liberace said the suit is the only one in his wardrobe made by an English tailor.

"The only startling thing is the price he charged me for it," he added.

Reds Plan to Split, Deepen Caspian Sea

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet solution to the problem of a falling water level which is cutting the Caspian Sea almost in two and raising the level of the northern part, Iran borders the southern part.

Moscow Radio said the plan was devised by the Oceanographical Institute of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

The institute said recent plans to raise the level of the Caspian by diverting rivers into it "would not furnish a radical

Jailed By Tito 10 Years Ago

ROME (AP)—The princely robes bought for Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac are still packed and waiting for him in Rome on the 10th anniversary of the sentencing of the Roman Catholic Yugoslav prelate.

Named a cardinal Jan. 12, 1953, along with 23 other princes of the church, the Yugoslav churchman never came to Rome to receive the biretta, the red hat symbolic of his membership in the college of cardinals.

Then, as now, he was confined to his little home town of Krasice.

constitutionally released by President Tito's Communist government after he had served five years of a 15-year sentence for alleged collaboration with the Nazis during the war.

Pope Pius said at that time of Cardinal Stepinac that "although absent, we embrace him with fatherly love."

DENIES POLITICAL CHARGE
The pontiff also told the cardinals that the Yugoslav charge that he had named Stepinac to the college of cardinals "to provoke political authorities" of Yugoslavia was "especially far from the truth."

The Yugoslav primate told interviewers he would not go to Rome for the robes because "I probably would not be permitted (by Yugoslav authorities) to return."

"I want to stay with my people in life and in death," he declared.

Yugoslav authorities on July 5, 1951, officially confirmed that the Vatican had rejected an offer to free the archbishop on condition that he leave Yugoslavia immediately.

One-Minute Commercial on TV
Can Take 3 Months to Produce

By WILLIAM EWALD
UP Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Valentino Sarra, a fellow who turns out TV commercials by the lungful, admits he sometimes flees from video spools himself.

"Some of those 'hard sell' commercials, they irritate me just like they irritate anybody else," shrugged Sarra today. "Buy, buy, buy—that's all they say during the whole commercial."

"Another trouble with some commercials is that they try to say too much in one minute," said Sarra as he warmed to the topic. "They get too complicated. They go through so many things that you don't know what they're talking about."

"That's no good either—an effective commercial has a simple message."

Sarra points out that the labor poured into a one-minute sales pitch often is equal to the work poured into a whole program.

"That dancing cigaret commercial is what we call a 'stop motion' type," explained Sarra. "It's not a cartoon—those are real cigarettes suspended by hairs or wires. It's all done through a series of exposures and costs about $12,000 to make."

"A cartoon commercial also can cost that much—it may take as long as five weeks before its ready for TV. We've spent as much as three months on a one-minute commercial."

Producing a one-minute commercial calls for the services of some 15 people. "You've got the set builders and the light crew and, the music and the special effects and the costumes and the cameras," said Sarra. "Sometimes we even use more people than that, but frankly, I think it looks ridiculous."

12c Stamp
Nets $10,000

TORONTO (CP)—A record $10,000 was paid in New York Tuesday for a 12-penny black Canadian postage stamp issued in 1851.

An unidentified European dealer bid $500 more than Toronto dealer, J. N. Sissons, who paid $5,400 and $5,800 for two Canadian 12-penny black stamps last April.

The stamp was part of the Alfred H. Caspary collection, being sold in New York. The sales are expected to realize $3,000,000.

The lord mayor of London, England, has been chosen annually since 1215.

Smallwood Concentrating on More New Industry for Newfoundland

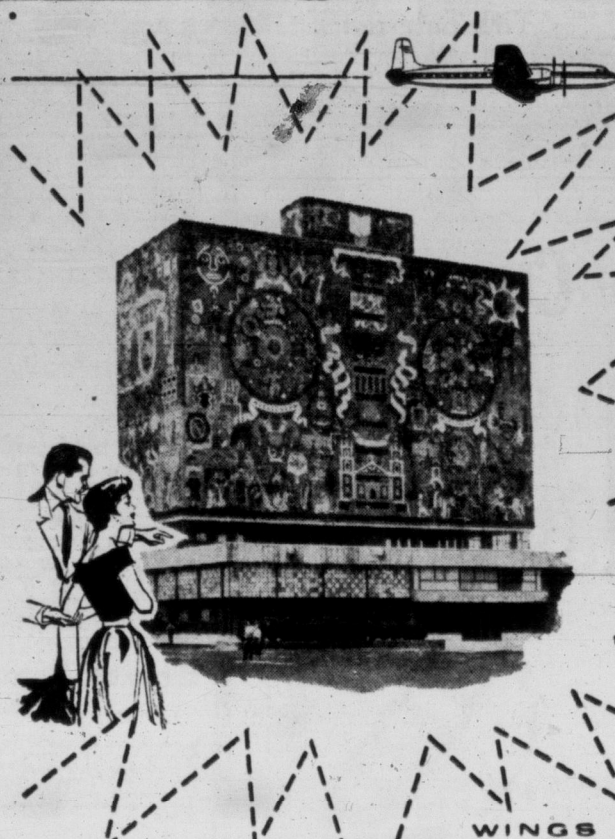

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood, plotting his Liberal government's course of action, says "we're concentrating now on three things" — a third paper mill, mining development and upward revision of Newfoundland's financial terms of union with Canada.

All three were included in his since confederation in 1949, said revision of Newfoundland's terms of union with Canada. "our first later St. Laurent has assured Newfoundland a federal royal commission will be set up early in 1957 in this we will have the invaluable assistance of our own under term 49 of the terms of union, in an attempt to equate the standard of Newfoundland's services to those of other Atlantic provinces. The commission is expected to report to the government before the end of the year. Prime Minister Smallwood, 56, premier, has called upward report to the government before the end of the year. VICTORIA YACHT WHITE HART
... British Columbians meet on high seas.

Victoria Seafarers Arrive in Auckland

Tony and Bridget Reeves, well-known Victoria husband and wife commercial fishing team, arrived at Auckland, New Zealand, today aboard their 48-foot ketch White Hart—nearly 400 days out of Victoria.

This latest episode in their restless, sea-roving career started Sept. 10, 1955, when White Hart slipped quietly away from Fisherman's Wharf, her base since arrival here in 1952.

Aboard as crew member was then two-year-old son Michael, born in Victoria, who has lived all but a few days of his life aboard the white-hulled ketch.

DUAL PURPOSE

White Hart is the second boat Tony Reeves has owned since the Second World War, in which he served as an RAF squadron leader. His first, Random II, was a strictly commercial fisherman; but White Hart was built for a dual purpose—cruising under sail as well as fishing under power.

White Hart was built in the British West Indies, and Tony and Bridget sailed her here via the Panama Canal and the north route through the Pacific to catch prevailing winds.

On the present voyage, White Hart and crew were blessed with sailorman's luck—fair winds, moderate seas and a happy absence of bad storms.

OCEAN MEETING

Chief excitement of the voyage came in a mid-ocean meeting with another B.C. sailing family, Brig. and Mrs. Miles Smeeton of Salt Spring Island. The Smeetons were aboard their yawl Tzu Hang, en route to Australia, and the meet was made 350 miles north of New Zealand in the otherwise lonely and empty ocean.

The Smeetons are on a long and leisurely "no destination" cruise. They brought Tzu Hang here from England in June, 1952.

Tony and Bridget Reeves have no immediate plans, beyond a complete refit and overhaul for the White Hart, which is fitted with all modern navigational aids—radio-telephone, direction finder, fathometer and automatic pilot.

Fruit Growers Demand Probe Of Price Spread

PENTICTON (CP) — More than 200 fruit growers decided at a meeting here Tuesday to press for a Provincial Royal Commission to investigate the British Columbia fruit industry.

Growers said, "we want an impartial investigation to tell us why we get five cents a box for apples that sell for over four dollars at the retail level."

Some delegates said they were fed up with waiting for Ottawa to do something and "fed up with excuses from the executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association."

Cecil Glass, a Penticton grower, said the provincial Royal commission could certainly do no harm and would result in suggestions for the improvement of the industry that could be acted on as seen fit by the growers.

"The matter is urgent," said Mr. Glass. "If something isn't done soon many will lose heart. Some have already lost heart."

Arthur Garrish, president of the BCFGA, in explaining the stand of the BCFGA executive, told of the association's negotiations in Ottawa in seeking a federal Royal commission as urged by the growers at their annual convention.

He said the agriculture minister turned down the request but said the BCFGA did not accept this and was still fighting for the Ottawa investigation.

Mr. Garrish also expressed the fear that a provincial Royal commission would take the control of the industry out of the hands of the growers and into provincial politics.

Some growers accused him of handing out "eye wash" and attempting to cloud the issue.

Voting Official Blamed In Two-Time Voter Mixup

W. Wardrop, returning officer for Vancouver-Burrard, said no charges will be laid against a person who apparently voted twice in the Sept. 19 election.

He said the blame lay with a deputy returning officer in Newton rather than the voter.

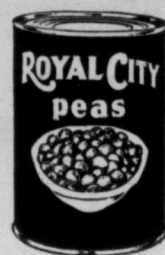

"The voter went into the Newton polling station and filled out an envelope and affidavit which was retained," Mr. Wardrop said. A second voter, resembling the first man, came in and his ballot went into the first man's envelope. Another envelope was filled out for the first man and that is why it appeared he had voted twice."

Marilyn Bell Conquers the Strait of Juan de Fuca A FULL COLOR FEATURE IN SATURDAY'S TIMES!

Canada's Sweetheart:

"I Stuck Out My Chin"

Exclusive to Weekend Magazine, and featured in Saturday's Times, is Marilyn Bell's story of how she swam across the Strait of Juan de Fuca. She told Stephen Franklin, Weekend staff writer, that she had anything but ideal conditions when she waded out into the Strait for the second time. This, however, did not deter Canada's favorite teenager — she just stuck out her chin, determined that this time she'd make it.

You'll want to read this interesting account accompanied with brilliant pictures in full color, showing Marilyn's start, various stages of the swim and its dramatic finish.

PLUS OTHER INTERESTING FEATURES...

Driving Manners

When the guy in the car behind you blows his horn do you blow your top? If so, beware, for an angry driver is a bad one. Don't miss the interesting feature, with quiz for traffic temper, in our Weekend Magazine—a must for drivers.

New Atomic Station

England's first nuclear station built to provide power for peaceful purposes, nestles between the Lake District mountains and the Irish Sea. No hustle and bustle reflects the mighty thins going on inside for all is calm and quiet. Photofeature appears in our Weekend Magazine. Some of the photos are in color.

Personal Sound Effects

How does your voice sound to others—harsh and shrill or so attractive it would make a plain woman beautiful? In her better grooming column Elizabeth Wood comments on voices and offers advice on speaking.

Job Hunting

When Greg Clark offered advice to a nephew about getting a job he unwittingly pushed him into an embarrassing situation. Don't miss this week's anecdote.

Best Comics

The comic characters you like best are in the Weekend Magazine comic section. You'll enjoy following their exciting adventures through the colorful pages.

Japan Fighting Dogs

Though westerners are seldom invited because they would find it shocking, Japanese fans gather regularly to watch the dog fights. An interesting photo-feature with copy by Jacqueline Moore appears in our Weekend Magazine. Feature shows the dogs battling in a bamboo caged ring.

James Cagney's Holiday

What does a film star like to do on a holiday? James Cagney, one of Hollywood's bad boys, takes his family to their Cape Cod home where he plays country squire. Photo-feature appears in our Weekend Magazine.

Olympic Flashback

With the forthcoming Olympic Games in Melbourne in mind Andy O'Brien in a flashback feature covers some of the more spectacular and disrupted past Olympics. Sports fans—you'll enjoy this feature.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE WORMS

1 OUT OF 3 DOES!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... only parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of these ugly pests they must be killed in the intestine where they live and multiply. And that's exactly what JAYNE'S Vermifuge does... kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily. Then they are expelled from the system in a normal manner and you are free of them.

For your own sake and the health of your children and loved ones, don't put off treatment. Get started with JAYNE'S at the very first sign of Pin-Worms. For once established these parasites are highly contagious and often spread through entire families.

So be sure to ask your druggist for JAYNE'S, famous for worm remedies for over one hundred years.

LIONS VIRTUAL CINCH TO HIT 200,000 MARK

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Lions need to attract only 35,833 fans in two remaining home games to become the first football team in Canada to draw 200,000 attendance during a league schedule.

In six Western Interprovincial Football Union games at Empire Stadium here this season, the Lions drew 164,167 fans, an average of 27,361 a game.

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

It was the greatest, that's all, Don Larsen's no-hit, no-run, no-walk, no-error game against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series game of Monday.

And millions of hearts must have gone out to Larsen in the ninth inning as first three, then two, and then one out stood between him and baseball immortality.

And if you think the tension was terrific in the living room, think what it must have been at Yankee Stadium, in the stands, on the field and at the pitcher's box.

That was it—the dream of a lifetime, a goal that never again may be attained.

Hats off to Don Larsen—his name will be enshrined forever in the annals of baseball.

Personally, we thought that we had seen the ultimate in World Series pitching back in the year 1945. On flight from the air force for a few weeks, and with a new battery mate for a few days calling signals, it was our pleasure to catch a few games of the series of that year between the Tigers and the Cubs.

It was in the third game of that series that Claude Passeau of the Cubs handled the Tigers in almost similar fashion.

Only one hit did Passeau allow—that a single by Rudy York. But there was nothing of the tension in that one as happened to Larsen in his brilliant performance Monday.

And one fan summed it up well, in all innocence, when he said:

"I've never seen anything like it."

"True, he hadn't, because neither had anybody else."

Colin Recognized Fans' Wishes

But now to the Cougars, as the Dodgers and Yanks go at it again today—the men of Colin Kilburn did right well for themselves on Thanksgiving Day.

There may be a weakness or two to the club, and Kilburn is willing to admit that fact, but what struck home most of all was the hustling display of the team as a whole.

The Cougars often have been faulted during the past few years, through the reigns of coach Billy Reay and Eddie Olson, for their kitty-bar-the-door tactics. Their defensive style didn't sit well with the opposition, while obviously being uninteresting to a majority of fans.

Kilburn, as a player, recognized this fact, and now as coach it is apparent that he has taken steps to give the customers what they have been missing the past few seasons.

He promised a hard-hitting, exciting team.

Newcomers Give Promise of Better

Monday, in their debut, the Cougars lived up to that promise. The newcomers to the team this year—George Latham, Roy Partridge, Gordon Haworth and Lionel Heinrich—certainly must rank, on the exhibition series with Vernon and the league opener against the Canucks, as the equal if not slightly more interesting to watch than some who were members of last year's club.

True, there are, as was said earlier, a few shortcomings that may need to be ironed out.

That is to be expected and some of these are in hand at the moment.

But regardless of what player plans Kilburn has in mind, the club Monday gave as promising a display for an opening game as has been seen here in the past few years.

And, win or lose, more of the same type of performance should mean a return to popularity of the game and the club.

It's no secret that the Cougars of the past few years were a "poor draw" on the road.

It is Kilburn's plan to erase that stigma this season.

Monday, he and the Cougars took a big step forward in the right direction.

Robinson Figures: 'I'm Good for Year'

BROOKLYN (AP) — Jackie Robinson, feeling "like a kid again," wants to help Brooklyn win one more National League pennant before retiring.

"I feel I've got at least one more good year in these old legs of mine," he said after delivering the blow which gave the Dodgers a 10-inning 1-0 victory Tuesday in the sixth game of the world series.

"I want to play one more year. I'm sure I can help them in another pennant. Next year at this time I may feel I'm good for another year. As long as that's the case, it's going to be hard for me to do something softer—like managing."

Robinson is rated top-flight managerial material—although no Negro has led a professional team in the United States—and his name has popped up as possible manager of Montreal Royals, Dodgers farm club, where he first broke into organized baseball.

Robinson is 37. The muscles which made him an all-star athlete at UCLA still ripple over a frame of six feet, 195 pounds. Fierce competitive fire still burns in his every fibre.

LEGS STILL GOOD

"I've slowed up some—a step and a half," he said. "But my legs feel as good as ever. I think my eyes have lost nothing and my co-ordination is okay."

"I don't worry about situations any more," he said. "I don't go up to the plate tense and determined. I don't say to myself 'I've got to get a hit. I've got to win the game.' Instead I go up there without a worry or a thought whatsoever. I feel myself I'll do the best I can. If I get a hit, fine. If I don't why fret? There's another day."

Minor Hockey

Minor hockey practice schedule at Memorial Arena starting Saturday follows:

Saturday 7:30 a.m.—Bantam practice and registration. 8:30 a.m.—Peewees.

October 17, 5:30 p.m.—Juniors.

October 18, 9 a.m.—Midgets. 5:30 p.m.—Bantams.

October 19, 3:30 p.m.—Bantams. 4:45 p.m.—Midgets.

October 20, 7 a.m.—Peewees.

YANKEE CHEERS FOR YANKEE HEROES

Mickey Mantle, accustomed to basking in the baseball spotlight, and Don Larsen, who has been in and out of the Bronx Bombers' doghouse all season, have been the toasts of Yankee fans during the World Series. Triple batting crown champion Mantle has exhibited his long-distance clouting and is seen being welcomed at the plate by Yogi Berra (8) and Enos Slaughter (17) after belting a home run Monday to give Larsen all the edge he needed. At right, Larsen is bear-hugged by Berra after his perfect game.

Pitchers Take Over In Series

Moundsmen Brilliant After Shoddy Start

BROOKLYN (AP) — Suddenly the 1956 world series, which started as a shabby slugfest, has become proud with pitching.

There was, of course, the perfect no-hitter by Yankee Don Larsen, in the fifth game — something never done before in a series game and few times anywhere.

But how about the five-hitter old Sal Maglie pitched against Larsen? And how about that double nine-inning shutout by Clem Labine and Bob Turley, finally shared by Labine Tuesday as the Dodgers won 1-0 in the 10th?

ALSTON PRAISES PITCHERS

"Let me tell you we've really seen some pitching the last two days," said Dodger manager Walter Alston.

"That Labine has done a wonderful job for us. And I guess I'll have him in the bullpen again today, maybe for a late inning if we need him."

"He has a good arm. I don't think it ever gets sore. During the season I must have used him four days, heck maybe even six days, in a row in relief."

"I don't guess he'd ever gone 10 innings before in the majors. I had him first at St. Paul and he did a good job for me in relief."

STENGEL CONCERNED

Yankee manager Casey Stengel, upset and concerned by the defeat, kept repeating "You couldn't ask anyone to pitch any better than Turley did. What he needed was one run and we couldn't get it for him."

Midway last season, Turley was a discouraged, disillusioned almost forgotten member of the Yankee's pitching staff.

But one defeat has changed all that.

"The most important part of the game was that it made me believe in myself again," he said.

"I didn't know what was the matter with me all season. I might have had lost my first ball and never would have control. But now I know I'm as good as I ever was."

LANDY OUT OF TRIALS

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP) — John Landy, Australia's greatest mile runner, announced today he would not participate in Australia's Olympic trials Saturday because of a strained ankle tendon.

"Unless my strained ankle tendons mend within a month I'll be unlikely to compete in the Olympic Games," he said.

Landy's announcement stunned Australian sports figures, already gloomy because their champion middle-distance runner Dave Stephens also is on the injured list with a torn thigh muscle. However, Stephens said he would make every effort to compete Saturday.

Wire Tapping Newest Threat in Grid Ranks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said Tuesday "it's okay with me" if pro teams wire players for sound, but jokingly hoped nobody starts wire-tapping.

Eavesdropping is a better word—and it is not entirely impossible.

The matter has erupted into a football controversy since two NFL teams—Chicago Cardinals and Cleveland Browns—have attached devices to players that enable coaches to relay plays and other information.

Thothy-Seven Get That, Or They'se All 'Bums'

By BILL RAYNER
Times Sports Writer

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — "Look youse guys, I don't care if they do win the series, but if them Dodgers didn't win yestiddy, they was strictly bums, nuttin' but bums."

"So Larsen throws a no-hitter, so that's in the stadium, and we gotta expect that kinda stuff from the Yankees."

"But we're back in Ebbets Field yestiddy and what happens? We go nine and two-thirds innings without a run. And then what happens? Jackie Robinson hits a single off the left-field wall and we win, 1-0. To square the world series at three games each."

"And you know how old Robinson is? Thothy-seven. Thothy-seven, I tell you. Gilliam and Sniduh and Hodges and Campanelli oughta been ashamed. Although Gillie draws a walk off this terrific Bob Tolley in the 10th, and hotfoots it in from second to score the winnuh."

"But lookit that Gil Hodges, the big wheel in the first three games with eight runs batted in. Nuttin for tree yestiddy and Sniduh, they walk him tree times, but still all he gets is a measly single in the first. And he's a left-hander at that."

Royals, Flyers Off...Running

Warriors, Americans Take Lumps

Edmonton 3, Winnipeg 2
Westminster 5, Seattle 3

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Flyers and New Westminster Royals joined the early winners circle in the second night of the Western Hockey League schedule Tuesday.

Edmonton tripped the defending champion Winnipeg Warriors 3-2 in overtime and New Westminster scored 5-3 over Seattle Americans.

Other teams in the eight-team league with wins to their credit are Brandon Regals and Victoria Cougars.

New Westminster and Seattle will move to Seattle tonight for their second game and Brandon and Calgary will meet in Calgary in their second clash.

Cougars meet Americans at Victoria Friday night.

McCREARY NETS WINNER

In Winnipeg Tuesday night, Bill McCreary fired the winner at 2:21 of the sudden-death overtime period after Warriors had come from behind to tie the score. Edmonton led 3-1 at the end of the second after a scoreless first period.

Besides McCreary, the Edmonton scorers were Len Lundie and Earl Ingardfield were the Winnipeg marksmen.

Both teams played early season hockey, with erratic passing and disorganized playmaking.

The Royals grabbed a 2-1 lead in the first period in the game in New Westminster and were ahead 3-2 at the end of the second.

Max McNab, their playing coach last season, had a goal and two assists while rookie right-winger Ollie Olson counted two goals and had one assist. The other New Westminster goals were scored by Gord Forsberg and Aggie Kukulowicz.

Ray Kinasevich scored twice for the Americans. Guyle Fielder assisted on one and scored a goal himself.

The Royals held an edge in play through most of the Compromise Sought On Hydro-Fish Feud

B.C. Needs Quick Solution to Problem Power Commission Annual Report Stresses

Need for compromise between British Columbia's fishing interests and the power utilities is stressed in the 1955-56 report of the B.C. Power Commission released today.

The commission is faced with the dilemma of constantly climbing demand and a dwindling number of hydro power sources capable of immediate development.

"Important commercial and game fisheries resources must undoubtedly be safeguarded," says H. Lee Briggs, general

GREATER COST

"But it would also appear that in many locations a choice must be made either to develop that natural resource as a hydro power site, with proper provision for by-passing around the plant a high percentage of fish, or go elsewhere for power at a considerably greater cost.

"It is surely obvious that all greater costs must be paid for by all users of power. The need for compromise solutions of fish-power problems is pressing."

Mr. Briggs emphasizes that, to provide adequately for the people it serves, the commission must obtain substantial new sources of low cost power both for Vancouver Island and for the southern and central interior.

"The cost of a kilowatt hour secured from a small hydro development is almost certain to be relatively high," he said.

Obstacles encountered in the development of hydro sites on Vancouver Island led to initiation of the $13,300,000 Georgia generating station—a gas turbine plant at Bare Point near Chemainus.

The plant, described as a "stop-gap," will generate 100,000 horsepower and burn heavy fuel oil. It is tentatively scheduled for production in 1957.

20% EXPANSION

In its eleventh year of service, the commission continued to expand in every branch of its operations. Generating capacity, energy requirements and revenues all increased nearly 20 per cent over the previous year.

Four new commission power districts—Bella Coola, Cariboo, Kingsgate-Yank and the Slokan Valley—came into being during the year. A total of nearly 62,000 customers now receive service in 179 organized and unorganized communities.

Total investment in capital assets climbed by over $13,000,000 to $93,387,201. Gross revenue was $9,730,576 and the commission showed an operating surplus of $777,928 for the year.

Highlight of the report is the continuing increase in average residential use of power—up in 1955-56 by 17.2 per cent. Household use of electricity climbed over 300 per cent in the 10 years of the commission's existence.

RATES CUT

Average residential charge has decreased correspondingly. It was reduced over all commission operations by 6.8 per cent last year and stood at 2.385 cents per kilowatt hour at March 31, 1956.

The commission now has 3,780 miles of distribution lines under operation, up 14.5 per cent for the year.

Power Commission employees increased by 325 and the total now stands at 1,350.

Surveys were carried out this summer on the Homathko River with a view to bringing additional power from Bute Inlet on the mainland to Vancouver Island.

Extensive field studies on the Clearwater and Murtle River will also provide data for planning this winter and next spring.

Other important Island projects include the Ladore Falls development, due to go on load later this fall; the $23,000,000 Upper Campbell Lake project, and the Ash River, Great Central and Sproat Lakes development in the Albernis.

VANCOUVER ISLAND Section, Chemical Institute of Canada, will hear Dr. C. B. Purves, FCIC, national president of the institute, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the library, department of mines laboratory building, 540 Superior.

TOT TRIGGERS FIRE ALARM

TORONTO (CP)—Five fire trucks squealed to a halt outside Toronto's East General Hospital Tuesday and firemen rushed inside.

It was a false alarm. "Who did it?" they asked. "He's down the hall," someone said.

They found the culprit chuckling and waving his arms, making no attempts to escape. Firemen let him go.

They had to. He was a baby who reached from his mother's arms to pull the little handle on the wall.

50 Graves Damaged By Colwood Vandals

RCMP today are investigating desecration of about 50 graves in Colwood Burial Park.

Leslie Peatt, manager and caretaker of the burial ground, said glass covers for grave markers had been smashed and some markers strewn around.

There are about 5,000 graves in the park. "We think it was teenagers," Mr. Peatt said.

The custodian said the damage was not costly but "hurts families and friends needlessly." Rupert.

Grave markers are set up pending erection of headstones.

Teacher's Car Kills Boys Running to Bus

SHINGLEHOUSE, Pa. (AP)—Two brothers, running hand in hand to catch a school bus, were fatally injured Tuesday when they were struck by an auto driven by a school teacher.

The victims were Donald Maxson, 8, and his brother, Michael, 6. Police identified the teacher as Mrs. Edna C. Rupert.

Inco Metals at Work in Canada

A MILKING MACHINE
To guard the purity of milk of milking time practically all metal parts of milking machines are made of stainless steel.

B MILK COOLER
Milk is quickly chilled to low temperatures in coolers made of easy-to-clean stainless steel.

C DAIRY TANK TRUCK
Nickel-containing stainless steel lining of tank truck helps protect milk from contamination.

D PROCESSING AND COOLING EQUIPMENT
At the dairy, stainless steel storage tanks, coolers, pasteurizing and processing equipment help keep milk pure.

E BOTTLING MACHINE
Use of stainless steel metal parts in bottling machine helps keep milk sanitary at bottling time.

To make sure the milk you drink is pure, many Canadian farmers and dairymen now use milk handling and processing equipment made from stainless steel containing about 8% nickel. The Inco nickel used to make stainless steel in Canada is mined, milled, smelted and refined here, and stays in Canada to help provide jobs for Canadians.

This is how stainless steel made in Canada with INCO NICKEL helps bring you pure milk and makes jobs for Canadians

From milking time to bottling time, milk produced by the most modern farms and dairies seldom touches anything but nickel-containing stainless steel.

This stainless steel has a hard, corrosion-resistant surface that is easy to clean. When used in farm and dairy equipment, it helps keep milk pure.

All the stainless steel produced in Canada for this equipment is made with Inco nickel. Here's how this Inco nickel helps provide jobs for Canadians:

1. Nickel-bearing ores are mined, milled and smelted by Inco near Sudbury, Ontario. Final refining is done at Inco's plant in Port Colborne, Ontario.
2. Inco nickel is used in Canada for the manufacture of stainless steel.
3. This stainless steel is used by Canadian manufacturers in the production of milking machines, coolers and other equipment for handling and processing milk.

These steps in the manufacture of this equipment—from the ore to the finished product—require thousands of workmen. In this way, Inco nickel stays in Canada to help provide jobs for Canadians.

From the brilliant best-selling novel by Nevil Shute comes this marvelously moving and exciting film. Caught up in the turmoil of war in the Malayan jungle, a party of women are compelled to trek across country to find a place of refuge. Their adventures call for the kind of courage and endurance only found and developed as they face the hazards of their journey. From the bloody frontlines with a heart of gold, and the snobbish colonialists—Dorothy Frost, to Virginia McKenna, playing her finest role as Jean Page, the English girl leader of this party, the characters are excellently drawn and superbly played. A great film. Not to be missed.

(BB) "THE BURNING HILLS" (Capitol)—In this day of the veteran (in the world of motion pictures as well as in the realm of baseball, it's good to see the young commence their long climb up the shaky ladder of fame.

Two of these youngsters, Tab Hunter and Natalie Wood, are seen to good account in Warner Bros.' action-western, "The Burning Hills." Indeed they had to be young to last through the hectic shootings, brawls, long rides and up-and-downhill runs that would make the Olympic decathlon event look like a minuet.

The plot is an old one, but tried and true—the struggle for land in the west of old between the have-nots and the man who owns most of the valley. It all starts out when Hunter finds his brother murdered and tracks his slayer to the lair of the powerful cattle baron. As the baron tries to shoot him in the back, Hunter draws and wings him, then takes to the hills, reeling slightly from a slug in the back.

There, in an old abandoned mine entrance, more dead than alive, fiery Mexican maiden Natalie, graduate of the School of Broken English, finds him and nurses him back to health in spite of her distaste for "gringos." What talent the girl has! In about two days she has that boy up and about, fighting like Horatius at the bridge and pitching war like Larsen pitched to the Dodgers.

Miss Wood, a comely lass still in her teens, is obviously on her way up if she puts her mind to it. She is one of the excellent juvenile group that included Sai Mino and the late James Dean seen to such advantage in "Rebel Without a Cause." However, it would appear that she is much better suited to play the all-American girl than she is to playing half-breeds as in her last two assignments.

AMAZES HOLLYWOOD

Hungarian Actress Quiet, No Beauty

By ALINE MOSVY
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Hollywood has a new Hungarian beauty who surprised the town by not murdering the English language or being a curvaceous blonde.

Eva Bartok is the first actress from Budapest to find stardom on the American screen since Zsa Zsa Gabor. In Hollywood Eva also found people expecting her to murder the English language like Hungarian director Michael Curtiz or throw around some "dahlinks" like Zsa Zsa.

But Eva (pronounced Ava) has soft brown hair, big brown eyes, a figure more like Grace Kelly and a face more like Garbo. She's the star of 20 pictures made in Europe, and MGM imported her to co-star with Dean Martin in "10,000 Bedrooms." "On the set they say I'm the first quiet Hungarian 'they've met,'" smiled Eva, who is tall and trim.

Eva, currently divorcing German actor Curt Jurgens, is beating away wolves from her door while he works at MGM. She hopes to find more roles here so she can live in Hollywood.

By PEGGY LIDSTONE
Home Lighting Specialist

The charm and comfort of your home depend, to a large extent, on the way that it is lighted.

The simplest room may appear luxurious if your lamps are well chosen and well placed. But bad lighting can make the most furnished room seem uninviting.

There are two main types of illumination—general and local.

The general lighting of a room should produce a softly diffused light. This should be augmented by local lights distributed where they will be of most use—at those places in a room where reading, writing or sewing is to be done.

It is neither beautiful nor healthful to look into a light that glares. No local light should be more than ten times as bright as the general illumination of the room.

Lamps should be low enough to group with your furniture, yet above your line of vision. They will be most attractive if they are all at the same height.

When your day has been hard and your only thought is to sink into a favourite armchair, that is the time to enjoy the soft, rosy glow of a G-E Deluxe Pink Bulb. These new bulbs supply a glamorous light that flatters both faces and furnishings. They throw new light on the whole subject of how best to light your home!

You can buy G-E Deluxe Pink Bulbs in 60, 100 or 150 watts. They are also available in Tri-Light and Decorator shapes.

New Way Relieves Arthritic, Rheumatic Pain Without Pills

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep, speeds flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas, helps drive away pain-causing pressure.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring hours and hours of relief from pains of arthritis and rheumatism—without the need of taking pills and other medicines that may upset the system.

Rubbed gently into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep it actually vanishes into the skin. It speeds the flow of fresh, rich blood into sore muscles, joints. Actually helps drive away pain-causing pressure and congestion.

Used by doctors in England, France and the U.S.A., this remarkable cream is now available without prescription at drug stores everywhere. Ask for Infrarub.

Saanich Delays Sewer Bond Vote To Await B.C. Guarantee Decision

An $850,000 sewer money by-law, scheduled to be placed before the ratepayers on Oct. 27, was postponed by Saanich council Tuesday until the provincial government decides whether or not it will guarantee municipal bonds.

The council's action was followed by a motion ordering "immediate and forceful steps" be taken to request the government to guarantee municipal bond issues to prevent debarment losses on the open market.

The by-law was postponed at the suggestion of Reeve Arthur Ash who informed council the provincial cabinet is considering the guaranteeing municipal bonds. This policy was endorsed by the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention at Penticton last week, he said.

TWO WEEKS

But the reeve said the government would make no decision on the matter for at least two weeks.

Council set no new date for placing the money by-law before the people for completion of the sewer program which was halted last year due to a deficit. Over 1,000 homes are awaiting to be hooked up to the system. Postponement of the money by-law was opposed only by

Coun. Leslie Passmore, chairman of the sewerage committee. He warned council that it should not "gamble" when "the matter of health of the community is of some concern."

"The question is, does the health of the community come before saving a few dollars?" he asked.

DELAY BORROWING

Mr. Passmore suggested that council submit the by-law on the original date, and if approved by ratepayers, delay borrowing the money pending the decision of the government.

This would prevent any delay in starting the project and at the same time would protect council if the government did guarantee municipal bonds, he said.

But councillors feared the government might decide not to guarantee bonds retroactively.

Reeve Ash said there would be no delay in starting the project in the resumption of the sewer program because it was now impossible to start until spring due to weather conditions.

Coun. Grant said that sewer conditions in the municipality have been "bad for years" and that a few months longer "won't mean a major epidemic."

200 ORNAMENTAL TREES FOR ESQUIMALT STREETS

Esquimalt council approved a plan Tuesday night to plant 200 ornamental trees on five municipal boulevards next spring.

Slated for new greenery are MacNaughton, Uganda, Paradise, Wychbury and Joffre Streets.

Recommendation was made by parks and playgrounds committee chairman Coun. G. K. Sammon.

Sullivan's TV Absence Still Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Margaret Sullivan's associates made a great mystery of her whereabouts Tuesday after she failed to keep a television date Monday night.

There were reports that she has been taken suddenly ill. However, another source said she was well and staying with friends for some unexplained reason.

Miss Sullivan, 45-year-old stage and film star, vanished Monday some hours before she was to play the lead in a CBS-TV drama. She failed to show up for rehearsal or for the show itself.

Said Hubbell Robinson Jr., CBS vice-president in charge of TV programs:

"This is one of the strangest things I've heard of in my life. She loved the play and did it because she liked the script. Her failure to appear has to be something weird."

"Her husband was just as astounded as we were that she didn't turn up. Her agent was dumbfounded."

Sisterhood of Poor Clares in Oak Bay

By TONY DICKASON
The life could be termed a bold and magnificent calling. This is the silent world of the Poor Clares, a Roman Catholic sisterhood sworn to a life of seclusion and dependency on others for survival.

Fourteen of these devoted women, in their habits of grey frieze and cloth sandals, live in a three old old building in Oak Bay.

They opened the outer door briefly to this reporter the other day.

The sagging structure in which they live is on Haultain, beside Our Lady of Lourdes Church, fronted by a large white statue of St. Francis, he who liked animals.

Saint Clare was an Italian noblewoman who lived in the 13th century and is called the "spiritual sister" of the good Saint Francis. She founded her order of cloistered nuns about the same time Saint Francis started his Franciscan friars, mendicants, who today span the world.

LITTLE KNOWN

Few residents of Oak Bay know the cloistered nuns exist; those who do know from among Oak Bay's 5 per cent Roman Catholic population know next to nothing about the order.

Their lives are like living in the future before coming to it, bespeaking an obedience to the will of God to a point where their conduct could be considered idiosyncratic.

Rather, it is a training ground, so to speak, for the next life.

There is a hopelessness in trying to explain the thinking and the feeling of the nuns. They are detached from the world, as we know it.

Under a golden sign which reads "St. Clare's Monastery," we walked up a few steps through a door into a hallway, furnished with an old-fashioned hat rack-cum seat. A crucifix hung over another door leading into the monastery depths.

The quiet was either restful, or appalling, depending on the point of view. In the distance a bell sounded, calling the nuns to one of their numerous duties.

It is hard to talk with a person one can't see, but it is interesting.

PORTERESS UNSEEN

Arrangements had been made beforehand to speak with the Rev. Mother Abbess. We rang a bell, introduced ourselves through the swivel wicket to an unseen porteress.

A moment passed, the wicket swung around. A key lay there.

"The guest parlor is on your right. Please return the key after you have finished with it," said a grave voice.

We promised, took the key and unlocked the door to the parlor.

Another moment passed. We sat thoughtfully in the sparse room beside a heavy dark metal grill.

Then, "yes, Mr. Dickason?" Inquired a serene and gracious voice.

Feeling rather out of place, we explained the purpose of the visit: just a little chat.

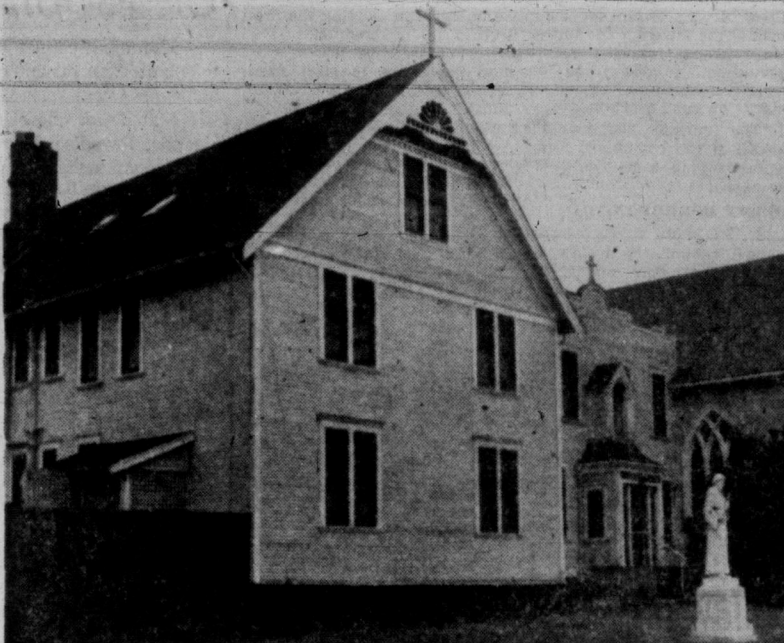

A small black and white sign on the wall said visitors would be granted 15 minutes and parents a half-hour. Only the immediate family is given this privilege, and at strictly limited occasions.

In the entrance outside the parlor was a box of grapes and a couple of cucumbers left by people from the parish.

"WE MUST EAT"

"What we ask, we receive," said the Abbess. "We must eat. We can't live exclusively on prayers."

They live on charity. It is a supernatural life, one against nature. But with saints seldom made in a day, God grants the graces to accomplish the impossible in the nuns' special spiritual vocation.

WHITE STATUE OF GENTLE SAINT FRANCIS of Assisi, fronts monastery of Poor Clare nuns on Haultain in Oak Bay. Cloistered sisters have been 44 years here.

Bay. Cloistered sisters have been 44 years here.

Few receive this special call. To follow it into the cloister and spend a lifetime in penance, contemplation, work, obedience, poverty and chastity, calls for Christ's support.

It is not a selfish life; on the contrary, if one believes in the efficacy of prayer.

The nuns pray together almost seven hours daily, apart from personal prayers.

In the outside hall is a small box marked "intentions."

Into this go requests for prayers. Sisters pray for other people and their needs.

"We all belong to God and in this world we are all brothers and sisters," said the disembodied voice of the Abbess.

It is astonishing what the nuns do before the rest of the world is awake.

MANY AWAKENINGS

The community rises at 11.45 p.m. and prayers for an hour. The life is tightly scheduled. They are up again at 5 a.m. and attend mass at 7.30 a.m. in the church next door in their own chapel—screened from the public by a grill.

Hour of retirement is 7.30 p.m., but not all go to their cells. In the chapel is perpetual adoration. Roman Catholic believe is Christ's immediate presence on the altar and one sister prays there at all times.

Additional Appeal Court Judge Likely

Legislation to increase the membership of British Columbia's Appeal Court by one judge is a "likely" development, Attorney General Robert Bonner said Tuesday.

The court now has seven judges including Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, who is now writing his report on the Sloan Royal Commission on Forestry.

Mr. Bonner said it is not possible to add quickly to the Appeal Court for two reasons:

1. It requires provincial legislation. 2. It requires concurrent federal legislation and appropriation because the appointment is federal.

"We believe another judge is required. The desirable situation for a court is to have a degree of leisure available to permit the writing of decisions promptly. That has been the basis for the increase in the size of the Supreme Court."

Mr. Bonner said it is expected that Chief Justice Sloan will be able to complete his forestry report by the end of this year.

"But it would still be desirable to add at least one judge to the Appeal Court."

The Attorney General added that present accommodation in Vancouver courthouse is "strained" and it looks as if the building will have to be enlarged.

"A study is now being made of requirements and it is possible a new wing will be added."

FORMER VICTORIAN Roy A. Logie, a graduate of the University of British Columbia and a former student at South Park School here was admitted to the B.C. Bar in a ceremony at the Vancouver Courthouse recently.

BRAN-burgers?

Clever idea for clever cooks! Simply add crisp Kellogg's All-Bran to ground beef to give a new flavor and wonderful texture to the all-favorite hamburger. Why not make "Branburgers" tonight?

RECIPE

BRANBURGERS
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons minced onions
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup milk
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
1 pound ground beef

Combine egg, salt, pepper, onions, parsley, milk and All-Bran. Let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add beef and mix thoroughly. Shape into 12 patties. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes, or broil about 10 minutes. Serve with Cheese Sauce.

Canada's Supply Of Oil Adequate Despite Suez

FREDERICTON (CP)—J. R. White, president of Imperial Oil Ltd., said Tuesday that a somewhat lessened movement of oil tankers through the Suez Canal has had no effect yet on Canada's oil supplies.

There is little likelihood of any effect as long as the present number of vessels can be kept in operation, he said in an interview.

Little oil from the Middle East entered Canada ordinarily. Any needed from outside North America was imported from South America.

reading. There is an hour of "recreation" each day, except Friday. Recreation is not taken Fridays in remembrance of Our Lord's death that day.

They exemplify a strong need in the world of today to withdraw to a life of spiritualized concepts, but the life of the Poor Clare calls for belief and fortitude possessed by few, and understood by fewer still.

Duncan Loggers Want 3-Man Gangs

DUNCAN—A meeting of all fallers and buckers working within the jurisdiction of local 180 of the IWA has given full endorsement to the district and local union's policy of compelling employment of three-man falling and bucking gangs at all operations.

The union has written logging operators to this effect. George Smythe, president, said there is a tendency for operators to cut the falling and bucking gangs to two men and sometimes one.

Central Saanich Buys Fire Truck Chassis

Former Reeve Pickles Probably Will Get His Old One Back Again

SAANICHTON—A new fire truck chassis is parked at Central Saanich fire hall in space formerly occupied by the controversial stand-by vehicle associated with the Pickles regime.

The bright green chassis was purchased by the municipality second-hand in Vancouver for $1,891.

Council, on motion of Coun. Harry A. Peard, Tuesday authorized volunteer Fire Chief Vic Heal to purchase material to equip the chassis as a fire fighting unit.

Chief Heal estimated that a new 700-gallon tank would cost about $600, but figured the job could be done under his direction at a cost of about $450.

The much-disputed No. 1 stand-by truck which former Reeve Sydney Pickles claims he acquired by personal cheque for $800 and loaned to the municipality has been relegated to a works department parking lot.

Its disposition has yet to be finally decided, although it is likely that Mr. Pickles will get his truck back eventually. As the matter stands now council is still awaiting reply to a municipal letter suggesting full release of responsibility from possible legal action which might result from the return of the vehicle.

The truck still carries equipment installed by the municipality.

Control of what council termed junk yards was debated following reading of a letter from Victoria city clerk Frank Hunter outlining the city's by-law governing junk yard control.

A definition of "junk" was asked for by taxpayer Philip Lomas, former municipal building inspector, who claimed the term should be clearly defined before it took by-law form.

There are no junk yards as such within the boundaries of the municipality.

Practice of piling firewood and other material on public road allowances will have to be stopped, council decided. Property owners, it was suggested, will be allowed 10 days to get wood piles and other dumped material off the public highways.

Council members expressed determination to have road allowances kept clear of rubbish at all times.

The proposed special services tax favored by the B.C. Union of Municipalities convention was brought up by Coun. John B. Windsor and threatened to

Marilyn Bell Considers Quitting Marathon Swimming

Marilyn Bell's conquest of the Strait of Juan de Fuca last month could be her last professional swim.

In the coming issue of Weekend Magazine, carried by the Times Saturday, she tells her story of the mighty swim and says "I don't know whether I'll ever do a big swim again."

Canada's top woman swimmer, now studying physiotherapy at McGill University, writes "there are so many other things to do. I want to learn to cook and be married and have some normal kids."

Marilyn is frank in her article.

"I'm a professional and I swim for money. I like having it, of course. Who would not? But I never think about it when I'm swimming. I swim for the challenge."

Marilyn tells her story in straightforward language. Juan de Fuca wasn't her toughest swim, it was Lake Ontario, she says.

When defeated by the strain on her first bid, Marilyn determined to "stick out my chin and do it again."

She did just that, clipping Bert Thomas' time from Ediz Hook to Victoria by 39 minutes.

She writes: "If I was going to stop the first time I was beaten I'd have stopped swimming 10 years ago. I think it's good for me that I failed."

I think it was good for my pride."

Weekend Magazine, together with the Times and the Toronto Telegram, sponsored the plucky swimmer's successful crossing.

Color photography in Weekend, of crowds greeting Marilyn and of the boats against a bright blue sea, are eye-catching.

LOTS WANT HOUSE LOTS ON LANSDOWNE AIRFIELD

Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. reported today it is flooded with requests to buy property on the government-financed subdivision at the old Lansdowne airfield in Saanich.

Sale of 135 lots at $2,000 apiece was thrown open to the public today, after veterans had been allowed first choice. Twelve were sold to them.

The lots are all free of local improvement taxes as the government has installed services such as sewage, light and water.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

Don't come crying to me with your troubles. I, too, invested in seven—count them, seven—series pools and won.

And I am still trying to explain to My Favorite Wife why it was necessary to play the first six games when the whole thing was settled by that one game today.

Also, MFW can't understand all the excitement about the game Don Larsen pitched. "Absolutely nothing happened," says MFW. "No hits, no runs, no errors, no walks, nothing. How unutterably dull."

Which leaves nothing but a flock of statistics for the hot stove league. And speaking of hot stoves, this is fire prevention week. (Clever intro, what?)

Fire prevention week is held with the avowed purpose of preventing fires.

The best way I know to prevent fires is, take me along on a camping trip. Give me one match, and tell me to start the cooking fire. That prevents fire. I know from experience. (Cold beans aren't so bad if you're really hungry.)

One of the best things fire has done for man is, it attracted dogs to man.

Dogs, when they were really wolves, used to sneak up to man's campfire to get warm.

Man took advantage of this, and made a deal with dogs. Dogs were allowed to keep warm by man's fire in return for doing various small chores for man.

One of the most important of these chores is barking and waking up the family when some fool goes to sleep smoking in bed and sets fire to the joint.

It is enough to make any sensible dog go back to the jungle.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt will join with Mayor Percy Scurrell and Reeves of Saanich and Oak Bay to represent Greater Victoria at a meeting on metropolitan area legislation at Vancouver Oct. 18.

The legislation is contained in the new Municipal Act expected to be put before the provincial legislature at its next session.

History of puppetry will be reviewed Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Victoria Public Library by Mrs. Gwen Downs.

She will speak to the local chapter of the Canadian Authors' Association.

Industrial editor of the London fortnightly New Commonwealth, Ron Avery will visit Victoria later this month as part of a six-week tour of Canada, during which time he will assemble material for an economic-political review by his magazine next spring.

During his tour Mr. Avery will meet with governments, industry, finance and commercial figures.

School of instruction for PTA officers will be given by the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council at North Ward School auditorium Thursday at 7.45 p.m.

Chairman of the program will be Mrs. E. Wills, Parent-Teacher Council vice-president. Duties of PTA officers and chairmen will be outlined by Mrs. A. B. Thompson, council president, and Mrs. E. Evans, past president of the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation.

Pastor of Kingsway Four-square Church, Vancouver, and dean of the church's Bible school, Rev. Guy P. Duffield will speak at a meeting in the Sidney Foursquare Church, Fifth Street, Thursday at 8 p.m. Former minister of the Victoria Foursquare Church, Rev. Abortion Try Charge Denied By City Man

Benjamin Robert Maggs, former SPCA inspector here, denied in Criminal Assize Court today he attempted abortion at 2727 Wark Street April 1.

Maggs, facing trial on the attempted abortion charge, also denied he was posing as a medical practitioner and giving treatment to Gordon Head soldiers.

The accused took the witness stand today after Margaret Joyce Billings testified he had attempted an abortion on her, and frightened her into believing she needed immediate treatment.

DOG TREATMENT In answer to Mrs. Billings' accusation, Maggs testified he was invited to her home to treat a dog.

Maggs said that during the visit he was asked by a man named Stanley Glenn Frohman whether he could perform an abortion.

Maggs said he refused to do so and warned Frohman that it was dangerous and could lead to disastrous results.

Earlier, Frohman, a member of the Second Battalion, QORs, said he had asked Maggs to come to the house because he believed he was a doctor.

The accused was asked to explain why he carried a card which introduced him as "Dr. B. R. Maggs, PH.D. MD. B.S. MA. FRAM. Neurosurgeon."

Maggs said "I only printed the cards to be funny, because I was known at Gordon Head as 'doctor,'" adding that the use of the term was in reference to his work as a veterinarian.

Under questioning by his counsel, James Proudfoot, Maggs admitted doing a urine test as a favor to a soldier.

The trial is continuing before Mr. Justice Harold McInnes.

Wide Acclaim For Young City Artist

Enthusiastic praise was voiced today by two leading Canadian authorities for the wildlife paintings of 19-year-old Victoria artist James Fenwick Lansdowne.

Opening of an exhibit of 40 of his paintings of birds and native wild flowers took place Tuesday at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto. The paintings immediately aroused interest and caused T. M. Shortt, Canada's leading wildlife illustrator, to comment:

"I've never seen anything like it. His work is nothing short of brilliant. Lansdowne is the most amazing discovery in wildlife art I can remember."

BRILLIANT

John A. Livingstone of the Canadian Audubon Society, which sponsors the exhibition annually, featuring paintings from Canada's best wildlife illustrators, declared Lansdowne's work to be "a thoroughly extraordinary and obviously brilliant new talent... all 'Canada can take pride in this youngster and his work.'"

The Victoria artist was born in Hong Kong and came to Canada at an early stage. At the age of two he was a polio victim. He lives with his parents at 1978 Forrester Street, but travels about a good deal studying birds, insects and plant life of the Pacific north-west.

He has been painting since the age of six and has had the interest and help of Frank Beebe, artist, and Charlie Guizet, biologist of the Provincial Museum, although he has had no formal art training.

2nd Teen-Ager Admits Hurling Knives in Home

Pleads Guilty To Radio Theft

Brian Tennison, 18, 1575 Clawthorpe, pleaded guilty to charges of creating a mischief and theft under $50 value, when he appeared in Saanich police court today.

He was the second to be charged in a knife-throwing spree in a Burnside home Oct. 2. Garith Clouston, 18, 2247 McCoy, pleaded guilty to a mischief charge Saturday.

Two others are still sought by Saanich police.

Detectives said the four teenagers entered the home, unoccupied except for a 16-year-old girl who was sleeping, and began throwing butcher knives at wall and doors.

GIRL WANTED

The girl awoke, police said, and joined the four when they left the house. She is wanted on a delinquency charge separate from this incident.

Tennison was charged with stealing a portable radio from the house on the same date. He and Clouston will appear in regular sitting of Saanich court Thursday afternoon.

Watershed Wood Sought As City Fuel

A Victoria city council committee will meet with the Greater Victoria Water Board, Thursday, to seek permission to remove waste timber from the Sooke Lake and Goldstream watersheds.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today the request will be made as a means of relieving the current city firewood shortage.

If permission is obtained, council will discuss letting firewood contracts at its 2 p.m. meeting the same day.

The mayor said the wood in question is slash and other wastes which could be converted for stove use.

Victoria wood dealers are experiencing the most severe wood shortage in history due to diversion of mill wastes to chipper plants for conversion to pulp.

CD Course Here January 7 to 10

A provincial civil defence course is planned for CD officers and senior municipal employees throughout the province at University School here, Jan. 7 to 10.

The province will pay transportation for out-of-town delegates to the course and will arrange dormitory accommodation at the school for the four-day period.

An announcement of the courses addressed to Victoria city council advised that unless there is sufficient registration, the course will be cancelled.

Pinball Ban Due As Scurrah Acts

Aldermen's Support Seen

All pinball machines in Victoria may be thrown out following a meeting of city council Thursday.

The ban would apply to pinball machines, whether or not illegal pay-offs are proven.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today he will ask council to order suspension of all licenses for pinball machines as of Jan. 2, 1957, start of next licensing period.

Indications at City Hall are that majority of aldermen will support the mayor's move toward a ban against the machines.

At present, 60 machines are licensed in the city, at $60 each, payable in advance, bringing an annual revenue of $3,600 to the city.

"I have conducted an investigation and am satisfied the people who play them are losing large sums of money, in many cases money which they cannot afford to lose," the mayor stated. He added he was convinced many operators of stores where the machines are in use are "paying off" in cash for "free games" rung up on the machines.

The pinball question arose after publication last Friday in a New Westminster paper of an account of alleged pinball gambling here. A former operator was quoted as saying an income of $35,000 a week is garnered from the machines locally through a combination of pay-offs and "fixed" machines.

Esquimalt and Oak Bay outlawed the machines some years ago.

United Church Young People Convention Here

More than 100 members of United Church young people's unions in B.C. will attend a provincial conference here Oct. 25 to 28.

Theme of the conference will be "Ye Shall Be My Witnesses." Members of young people's unions in Kamloops, the Okanagan, Cariboo, New Westminster, Vancouver and up-Island will take part.

The three-day meeting will open, Friday, Oct. 26, with a dance in the Oak Bay United Church gymnasium.

Theme speaker Rev. William Buckingham, minister of Sidney United Church, will address the group at a meeting in Oak Bay United Saturday afternoon. He also will conduct the Sunday morning service in the church.

The Hon. W. N. Chant, minister of public works, will be guest speaker at a dinner in the church hall Saturday night.

Main part of the conference will be devoted to program workshops, directed by chairman Nora Wolfe, past president of the B.C. conference, Young People's Union.

The conference will close with communion service at the church Sunday afternoon.

Walter Wilson, Shrine Bandsman, Succumbs at 66

A member of the Gizeff Temple Shrine band for more than 30 years and well known in printing circles in Victoria, Walter Wilson died today in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Aged 66, he had been ill about three months.

Mr. Wilson was for years foreman of the bindery section of the Queen's Printers and later was office manager of Island Engravers Ltd., handling engraving for both the Times and Colonist.

Among survivors are his wife, at home, 2527 Cedar Hill; one son and one daughter.

Thomson Funeral Home will announce arrangements later.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Arthur J. De'Ath, HMCS Ontario, $40 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $35 and licence suspension for careless driving.

Robert Charles Duke, 2258 Neil, $40 and licence suspension for careless driving resulting in $750 total damage in collision with another car.

Robert David Cambrey, 2361 Queenswood, $25 for speeding over 30 miles an hour, clocked at 40.45.

Robert Alfred W. Wallis, 4103 Shelbourne, $40 for driving while under suspension.

Douglas Irwin, 821 Princess, $35 for careless driving, resulting in $400 total damage in collision with another car.

Bruce Andrew Shiley, 436 Niagara, $35 for careless driving, resulting in $350 total damage in collision with another car.

SONGHEES LINK WITH PAST

Old Potlach House To Be Demolished

Wreckers' hammers will soon smash one of the few remaining historic potlach houses on the Maple Bank Songhees Indian Reserve, Esquimalt.

Chief George Cooper, owner of the house, said the building is beyond repair and will have to be demolished because of the danger it may collapse.

Inside the building, which once echoed with the whoops and cries of Indian tribal dances, stands a totem pole, the only one on the Indian reservation. Its origin is cloaked in mystery, as the Songhees did not carve totems.

"I know the totem was acquired by my father, Michael," Chief Charles explained. "I don't know where he got it and for what reason."

SMITHSONIAN INTEREST

The chief said the Smithsonian Institute in the United States was interested in getting the pole. During the past few weeks, he said, many artists and photographers have been drawing, and snapping pictures of the pole and building.

The wooden building, along with three others, was built in 1911 when the Indian band moved from the Industrial Reserve to the present site overlooking Esquimalt Harbor. Each building used to accommodate 500 braves.

The building to be demolished still contains evidence that it was used for potlaches. Here and there are scattered fragments of red mats no longer made by the Indians.

An eerie atmosphere prevails inside the building with its scattered Indian relics. The scene is one of desolation, with the old totem pole looking down on the remains of a forgotten past.

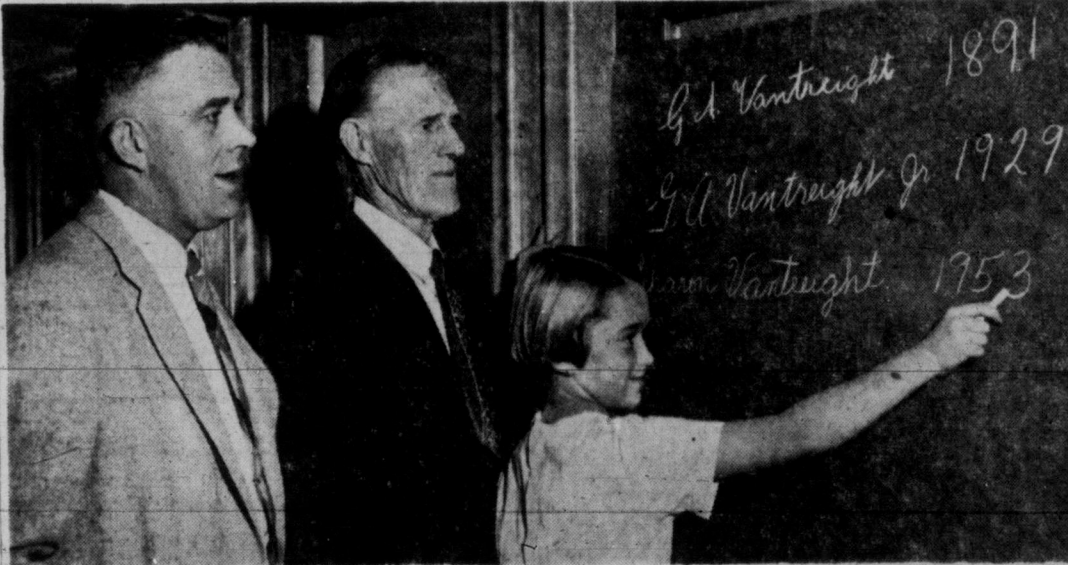

ASK THE TIMES

Q. The Cyclopaedia of Canada has a brief section dealing with the opossum, a member of the Marsupialia, animals having a pouch or "marsupium," in which the young are kept during part of their development. The article says opossums are rare wanderers in southwestern Ontario from their normal range, which is farther south. Have opossums ever been seen in British Columbia? L.L.D.

A. Yes, but they did not come from the same region as those seen in Ontario. It probably will come as a surprise to most citizens to learn from Dr. Carl of the B.C. Museum that specimens have been sighted in the Blaine and Cloverdale districts. Though not native to the region, opossums were released south of the border. The couple seen near Cloverdale obviously came from one of those colonies. Actually, the descendants of the opossums freed in California have become a pest, consuming and destroying vegetables. They are almost omnivorous, feeding on almost anything that is edible.

Q. What is the present population of Lethbridge, Alberta? Mrs. S.D.T. A. Preliminary figures from the June, 1956, federal census put the population of that city at 31,120, compared with the 22,947 listed in the 1951 census.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Metal 'n' Plastic Mixtures
Make Repair Jobs So Easy

By PENNY SAVER

While sleuthing around town, with an eye open for bargains, I noticed a throng of people around a store window. They were peering this way and that and oh-ing and ah-ing, and I thought for sure that here was something special that would make good copy for this column. I made my way almost to the front of the crowd before I discovered that it wasn't a super-salesman in the window! It was a TV set. Of course, the mob had turned out to see the World Series. The jaunt into the bleacher section of the sidewalk was profitable in my searchings, nevertheless, for I spied some good buys in a nearby window.

I went inside the store and found a display of fix-it materials that are a snap to use. I saw some plastic aluminum that you just apply and let dry, and the resultant hardened surface will withstand over 600 degrees F. It won't shrink, crack or peel and can be burnished to a brilliant lustre. Leaky gutters and down-spouts, plumbing leaks, holes and leaks in wood and metal boats, holes and dents in car bodies and fenders can all be repaired so easily. You can seal out drafts in metal buildings, seal furnace ducts, laps and seams, and do dozens of other little repair jobs around the house or workshop. The mixture, that comes in a tube, will dry to a metallic hardness in three to four hours. It's $1.29 a tube.

Of a similar idea is the plastic steel kit that is used in industry for rebuilding machinery and for cementing steel to steel, aluminum, bronze, brass or porcelain. Once mixed, the substance can be used as easily as modelling clay. Used according to directions, it will harden in about two hours at room temperature. It's 80 per cent steel and 20 per cent plastic. The kit is yours for $2.50.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the articles mentioned here in the column.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Ungainly Position of Hands
Can Deduct From Glamour

When our hands are busy we never think of them, but they are a problem to many women and men, too, when sitting, standing or walking.

We see people everywhere standing to talk with their arms folded over their chest or stomach, or with one arm akimbo on a hip. If you cross your arms over your tummy, sitting or standing, you are glamour-sunk at any age and any weight. Overweight people seem to have a greater tendency to this position, probably because they are conscious of a protruding abdomen.

We often see overweight women with their hands clasped beneath their abdomens. This gives the impression of trying to hold up the George Washington Bridge. Arms crossed over the chest is a better pose—but not the best by a long shot.

The simplest and best solution seems to be to stand erectly with your arms hanging at your sides in a relaxed manner. Your thumbs should touch your side seams with your palms turned inward toward your body. This is the "movie way." There is another position which is quite graceful if it is relaxed and comes naturally to you. Clasp your hands loosely behind your back and lift your chest, and your chin (slightly).

There is another possibility. When you stand to talk bend your elbows and clasp your hands together in a relaxed manner, at your waistline. If you are a relaxed person with a certain natural grace you probably will place your hands in an attractive position when you sit. This will no doubt be one-arm on each arm of the chair or one hand on the other in your lap.

When you walk let your arms swing in a relaxed manner. The right arm moves forward as you step forward with the left foot and vice versa. Avoid a piston-like movement of the arms. Some people swing their arms so vigorously that they appear to be propelled along by them. If a pad of fat on your abdomen is making you self-conscious, you may want my tested abdominal reducing exercises which will decrease that measurement a few inches in a few weeks' time. If so send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Housing and Household Articles
Combine to Create Good Design

OTTAWA (CP)—The director of the National Gallery says Canadians should be more "vocal and concerned" with their total environment.

Good design in household articles and in housing go together, Alan Jarvis told the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumers here.

He said the National Industrial Design Council promotes better design for quantity-produced articles. Now a newly formed Canadian Housing Council would promote better housing design.

FOREST OF TV

Some Canadian suburban areas today are a "mess" sprawling in "forests of television masts," he told some 80 CAC delegates and observers from eight provinces.

He said changing standards should be carried into town planning and that the public and builders should be educated to housing of more enduring quality.

The three-day CAC meeting began Tuesday and continues today with the presentation of resolutions and election of officers. The meeting ends Thursday.

In reports presented Tuesday, membership chairman Mrs. R. W. Morningstar of Toronto said individual memberships increased this year to 15,500 from 9,318 last year. Group memberships rose to 529 from 257.

URGES MORE LIAISON

Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon, Sask., who conducted the 1956 membership campaign, first since the CAC's inception in 1947, said the drive indicated a need for a liaison officer on the national membership committee.

Nearly 1,000 persons in the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia and Alberta have seen the CAC display of measuring cups and spoons, design committee chairman Mrs. W. F. Harrison of Ottawa said.

The CAC's toy testing committee is preparing program kits on toys as parent education aids, and is working on a cross-Canada tour for toy-testing panels, chairman Mrs. A. L. Kassirer of Ottawa said.

High Standard Set by First Antique Fair

Victoria's first Antique Dealers' Fair was compared with the famous Antique Dealers' Fair and Exhibition at Grosvenor House in London by Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross when she officiated at the opening of the local fair Tuesday evening at the Empress Hotel.

The crystal ballroom of the hotel was sectioned to show 12 booths, each completely representing the taste of its owner. Four "rooms" in the adjoining lounge were exquisitely furnished with antiques from private collections in the oak, walnut, early mahogany and 19th century rosewood periods.

"General level of the show is exceptionally high," said expert Mrs. Peggy Bartholomew. "Almost every country of the civilized world is represented here."

One of the rarest pieces on display is a chest from the walnut period, 1660-1700. Original paper lining of each drawer still clearly shows its pattern of Charles II and his wife, Catherine of Braganza.

Fascinating accessories to the contents of a French drawing room were several musical boxes belonging to Princess Chikhmatoff.

There were fine examples of Chippendale, Queen Anne and Sheraton furniture, but one room, furnished with simple, early American furniture dating from 1760, drew equal compliments with the more ornate displays.

The cherry and maple pieces were combined with suitable furnishings of the period. On the wall of the booth were early impressions of rare prints depicting the "Battle of Bunker's Hill" and the "Death of General Montgomery."

A piece of Chien Lueng jade, carved to unbelievable delicacy, won admiration of every opening-day visitor at the fair. Another favorite exhibit was a Spanish priest's robe, brocaded in muted color tones. Many stopped to comment on the dainty child's rocking chair, which once belonged to Charlotte Bronte, while others would have loved to play some intriguing old Cornish Christmas carol bells.

The showing will conclude this evening and a lucky visitor will win the door prize, a walnut burl coffee table, more than 100 years old. Proceeds will be divided between the Antique Fair sponsors, the Art Gallery and the Victoria Symphony Society.

Procedure Pointers For Arbutus Club

Parliamentary procedure for the Arbutus Toastmistress was the object lesson of the day when, Monday, Mrs. L. Rush, led the meeting which covered obtaining the floor, making a motion, seconding a motion and moving a previous question. Mrs. J. de Bourcier was table topic mistress with inspiration by Mrs. R. Thomas. Timer for the speeches was Mrs. J. T. Jones and program toastmistress was Mrs. J. R. Pipes.

The theme was founder's night and speaking on various public service agencies were Mrs. J. S. Petterson, Miss Dora Ponsford, Mrs. E. L. Aubel and Mrs. F. Blaus. Award winners were Mrs. E. G. Aldred taking the Oscar, and Miss Doris Thomas, Spur. Mrs. M. D. Darling, Miss Muriel McKeown and Mrs. H. Ker were critics, with Mrs. C. S. Yarwood as language evaluator and Mrs. C. C. Warren guest evaluator.

A vote of thanks for the participants was given by Miss Joyce Taylor. Mrs. Robert Thomas was chosen as new club historian.

Return From England

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Chubb have returned to their home on Craigdarroch Road after their vacation in Montreal and in England. While away, they renewed many musical contacts and made special visits to church buildings and renovations. Mr. and Mrs. Chubb were very pleased by the new stained glass in Winchester's ancient abbey, and the imposing new home of the Royal School of Church Music at Addington Palace, Croydon.

Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, presents an exhibit in the first Victoria Antique Fair, which she opened in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel Tuesday. Mrs. Denis Humphries, president of the Women's Committee to the Victoria Symphony, and Mrs. Lloyd McKenzie, president of Women's Committee to the Victoria Art Gallery, look on. Mrs. Ross was guest of honor at a reception in the Duke of Kent Room, following the opening.

St. Margaret's Parents Planning Annual Fun Fair

Parents' Auxiliary to St. Margaret's School is busily preparing for its fifth annual "Fun Fair," to be held October 20 from 2 p.m. when a fashion show, sponsored by the T. Eaton Company, will highlight a program of entertainment produced by students of the school.

Tea will be served continuously throughout the afternoon while guests enjoy games and shop at various stalls. General conveners of the fun fair are Mrs. D. J. Williams, Mrs. J. Barracough and Mrs. R. R. Wilde.

Other conveners are Mrs. Fisk, tea; Mrs. S. Orrick, penny arcade; Mrs. R. Wilde, home cooking; Mrs. J. Whittaker, candy; Mrs. W. J. Roper, white elephant; Mrs. T. W. A. Legg, Willis, book stall; Mrs. J. W. Paynter, movies; Miss Davy, art exhibit; Mrs. D. Wilkinson, gifts; Mrs. R. A. Holtum, flower and plant stall; Mrs. W. R. Thompson, fish pond; Mrs. D. W. Jacobs, clothing exchange; Mrs. E. A. McGowan, parcel post; Mrs. W. H. Dunbar, decorations; Mrs. R. Bainbridge, contests; Mrs. J. Barraclough, fashion show.

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Monica Nash, whose marriage to Mr. Bob Herron takes place this month, was surprised with a shower party at the home of Mrs. S. Avren, 71 Beach Drive, Tuesday evening. Co-hostess was the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. C. W. Nash. On arrival, the guest of honor received a red carnation corsage and her mother, Mrs. E. T. W. Nash, pink carnations. A large red basket and a bright kitchen trash can held the many gaily-wrapped kitchen gifts, which, with a box of recipes from the guests, were presented. Guests at the party included Mrs. Bill Akam, Mrs. R. H. McCall, Mrs. A. Hall, Mrs. B. Lawless, Mrs. J. L. Heffernan, Mrs. T. O'Connell, Mrs. R. Whitehead, Mrs. D. Hitchcock, Mrs. G. Humeston, Mrs. G. Brownies Take Part In Baking Contest At Mothers' Bazaar

The Tillikum Local Association of Guide and Brownie Mothers recently held a successful fall bazaar in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields parish hall. Mrs. G. Bone, president, introduced Brown Owl, Mrs. V. Heaslip, Guide captain, Miss E. Taylor, and division commissioner, Mrs. H. King, who opened the affair. A special feature was a baking contest by the Brownies. Judging was by Miss Clapworthy, home economist from the B.C. Electric Company. The "mystery parcel" and Freshie stalls were run by the Girl Guides. Other stalls were: Lady with a thousand pockets, Mrs. A. Gray; harvest produce, Mrs. G. Bone and Mrs. C. Rife; candy, Miss E. Taylor and Mrs. A. Bone; home cooking, Mrs. W. McKinty and Mrs. J. Dentith; novelties, Mrs. W. Rowe and Mrs. S. Averill; grocery hamper, Mrs. L. Wardman and Mrs. G. Calver; refreshments, Mrs. L. Ledson and Mrs. S. Cross.

Proceeds from the affair were approximately $125.

NEW PRESIDENT

OTTAWA—Miss Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon has been elected president of the Canadian Association of Consumers at the annual meeting in Ottawa. She succeeds Mrs. H. E. Vaulet of Montreal.

My Life as a Caboose

AS the popular song says, the railroad comes through the middle of our house.

The pattern on the kitchen linoleum forms tracks. So do the strips of flooring in the hall, the border around the living room rug and the space between the runner and the daddies going upstairs.

If you have an eye for such things—and the small despot who visits us and who is president, conductor and complete staff of the company makes it her business to see that you have—you'll understand that it's a very impressive railway line.

It can take you anywhere. In Xanadu did Kubla Khan a stately pleasure dome decree. You'd like to see it? Climb on, she'll carry you there. You've heard of the cigarette trees and the lemonade springs in the "Big Rock Candy Mountain." Care to pass through? You're her passenger.

NO LIMITS

There's no end of the line on the railroad going through the middle of our house. You hanker for a little space travel? Certainly. All aboard!

Of course a full railroad located within four walls, even if not confined to it, makes a home slightly congested. You're not allowed to walk on the tracks and you must be careful where you sit, because most likely there are tracks there too, whether you see them or not.

STOTT

Still, if you push your chair close to the wall and arch your legs over to a footstool, you may pass as a low bridge. And the young line president, chuffing along on hands and knees underneath, may like that. But you run the risk of becoming an engineering fixture with much less chance of moving than real estate on a PGE hillside.

You can't walk very well in our house, when the railroad's running through. You can move only by joining the train. Physically it's a little awkward. You bend your knees, shuffle along flat-footed and puff, puff. Do that and you'll arrive wherever the conductor wants to take you. With a little gulle, you may even persuade her to take you where you want to go.

FREIGHT RUN

But mostly you ply a run between the back door and the refrigerator. That's the freight haul and the small lady train company is packing "hish" from the docks to the warehouse. They're "hish" because a very young phonetic alphabet doesn't yet include the letter "f".

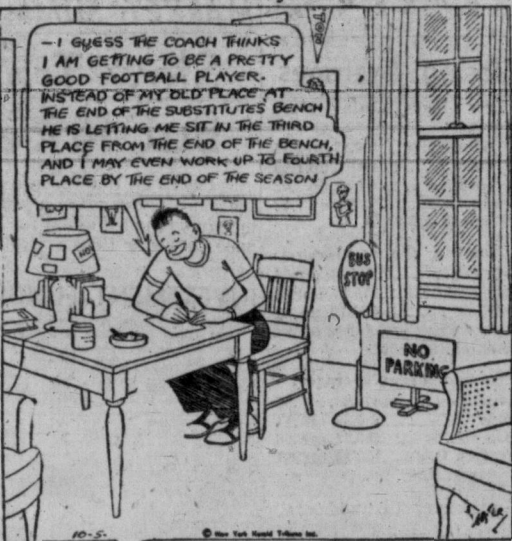

So the railroad runs through the middle of our house and we travel far and wide. A small hand pushes the little wooden locomotive from which the red and black paint is chipped.

It's inconvenient having these imaginary tracks everywhere you happen to put your foot and a patient dog is everlastingly being pushed from a comfortable resting place because it's a level crossing or a station.

Still, you make wonderful trips, particularly when you glance from the window to glimpse the country the little conductor sees.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

A WINTER TRAM

Clarification Asked On Language Law

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal Commons member has taken action aimed at having English and French more specifically defined in the constitution as the official languages of Canada.

Bona Arseneault, French-speaking member for the Quebec constituency of Bonaventure, filed a motion to that effect Thursday with the clerk of the Commons. He said he will introduce it at the next session of Parliament.

His action follows a claim last week by the Ottawa branch of the Protestant Women's Federation of Canada that "the official use of the French language is illegal and a violation of the constitution."

The claim, said Mr. Arseneault in a statement, shows "disconcerting stupidity."

ON EQUAL FOOTING

"By the same reasoning, the use of English for the same purpose would be equally illegal, since French and English are on an equal footing by virtue of the British North America Act of 1867."

He said section 133 of the act gives equal recognition to both languages in Parliament, the federal courts, the houses of Quebec's legislature and Quebec courts. Eminent jurists had affirmed that the act gives French no different status from English.

"But since section 133... can lend itself to confusion and such fantastic interpretations, in a country where the majority recognized the fact of bilingualism, carriers to distribute them to other patients."

"Section 133 specifies nothing on the subject of the status of either of the two languages, English or French, in any other province of the country, nor in any other field of Canadian activity." His resolution recommends that the government, after consulting with the provinces, consider

Ontario Farmer Wins Plow Title

BROOKLIN, Ont. (CP)—Hugh Baird, 24-year-old farmer from Blackwater, Ont., won the Canadian plowing championship Thursday at the international plowing match, defeating 11 other contenders after an all-day competition.

His victory marked the second consecutive year in which Ontario has won the crown. Second was Douglas Reid of Brampton and Stanley Willis of Cornwall, P.E.I., placed third. Willis will travel to next year's world's plowing championships with Baird instead of Reid, since the two Canadian representatives cannot be from the same province.

Butler Admits Tories Critical Of U.S. Tariff Policy

LONDON (CP)—The frank comments on the Anglo-American alliance by Britain's R. A. Butler probably should not be interpreted too narrowly. Butler, lord privy seal and leader of the House of Commons, said Wednesday night in a television interview that the Conservative party has been a "bit critical" of United States policy.

Reporters and commentators generally interpreted that as an attack on American policy in connection with the Suez Canal dispute. But Butler did not refer to Suez, directly or indirectly, and it is probably not a correct assumption to say he was thinking of Suez specifically.

The indications are that the minister was more concerned with trends in American policy during the last few years. When Butler was chancellor of the exchequer he pursued economic policies that depended considerably on U.S. support, particularly in the field of liberalizing tariffs.

The support was not forthcoming and it is believed Butler felt the lack of it undermined Britain's attempts to strengthen sterling. In a cabinet shuffle last December Butler was moved from the treasury to his present job. He is generally regarded as No. 2 man in Prime Minister Eden's government.

On the TV program Butler was asked whether the Conservatives feel a "growing resentment" against American policy. The minister replied:

"Well, of course we are a bit critical. As you know there have been one or two breaks which we are not entirely happy about."

Newspapers uniformly used the word "break" in this passage but there is a possibility

Butler meant "brake," for state department's Suez policy have caused annoyance here, but in general the U.S. attitude is understood and appreciated.

Butler's remarks coincide with wide butcroppings of what could be called "anti-American" opinion in Britain, France, Holland and some other European countries, virtually all of it related to U.S. policies on Suez.

The criticism, mostly directed at State Secretary Dulles of the United States, is largely from that section of European opinion which favors strong measures to prevent Egypt's President Nasser from "getting away with it" in Suez.

From the standpoint of the British government it is understood that some aspects of the

YOUR HEALTH

Children in the Dark

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Many a parent wonders what to do when a child gets afraid of the dark, and perhaps starts screaming in the middle of the night. Thousands of children refuse to go into a dark room. Some parents feel that they must not give in to this sort of thing, and as a result are extremely cruel to the poor child. I know, because I went through this myself when I was between the ages of four and seven. I suffered tortures from having to sleep in a dark room at some distance from the room of my parents. Some times, when the wind rubbed a bush against the side of the house, or a rat scuttled under the floor, or the wind ruffled up papers on a table, I couldn't stand it any more and would start screaming for my father.

Today I bless him in kindly memory because he always came running quickly to comfort me. He would turn on the light and show me that there was nothing to be afraid of. He would have been even kinder if he had left a small night light in my room—just bright enough to let me see when I waked that there was nothing around to be afraid of.

One can buy little night lights that will go into a base plug. That there is need for such lights is shown by the fact that in every Pullman bedroom there is a faint bluish light for those adults who still cannot sleep in a completely dark room.

In most cases, as he grows up, the child will get over his fears, and will be able to sleep in the dark.

MOVIES OFFEND

One of the worst offenders against children today is the maker of animated movies. I remember once seeing a picture in which poor Mickey Mouse got into a dark basement, and out from corners and cupboards hopped all sorts of horrible goblins and ghosts and demons which scared poor Mickey half to death. I am sure that one day, when I was a small child going through a dark basement, a servant must have jumped out at me because ever since I have had a horror of dark basements, and my commonest nightmare has always been one in which, as I am going through a dark basement, I brush up against something standing there.

REALISTIC DISPLAY BY EXPERTS

Fire Demonstration Aves Victoria High Students

BY IAN SMITH
Victoria High School Correspondent

Necessity for effective fire prevention methods was brought home with force to students at Victoria High School on Wednesday in a special lecture in connection with Fire Prevention Week.

Donald Watts, chief fire prevention officer for McMillan and Bloedel, Ltd., and Deputy Victoria Fire Chief Jim Bayliss made use of many household items in their realistic display as they alternately amused and awed the students.

Mr. Watts proved there aren't many things that won't burn as he explained that fuel, oxygen, and heat are all essential in starting a blaze. Using a transparent flask with a large stopper at the open end,

Mr. Watts deposited three drops of lighter fluid in the bottom and proceeded to blow the stopper clear by the ceiling by passing an electric current through the fluid.

After he had blown the cork four times with the same worn-out drops of fluid, students and teachers alike realized his meaning when he said that "everything is combustible."

After admonishing his listeners not to try "these stunts" at home, Mr. Watts calmly struck a match to a piece of steel wool and watched it burn to prove that no material is completely fireproof.

In thanking the speaker, Harry Dee, principal, called the lecture "the most practical, down-to-earth demonstration we've had during Fire Prevention Week in recent years."

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices on the Toronto stock market improved toward the close today after a session of mixed and lower trading that crawled along for most of the day at the slowest pace in more than a week.

Earlier gains were bettered in New York stock market today, but trading was slow.

AT TORONTO industrial advances ranged to 2 1/2 points, led by McCall. Winners of between one and two points were Bank of Nova Scotia, Royal Bank, Loblaws Inc., Canadian Bank of Commerce, Page-Hersey and Ridgeway.

On the losing side were Alcan, Aluminum, Gypsum, Interprovincial Pipe Line, Steelco, Weston B, Ogilvie and Building Products.

Kirkland Hudson led juniors off, dipping 2 1/2 cents. Other stocks on the downside were Iron Bay, Kirkland Minerals and Brunswick.

Western oils were quiet but a few stocks recorded sizeable price changes. Dome was up 20 cents and Peruvian off 15 cents. Great Plains and Calgary and Edmonton gained 1/4.

AT MONTREAL base metals were easier as Aluminum, Noranda and Smelters slipped 1/2. Steels were better in a 1/2-point range while papers held a mixed note. Walker dropped a point in the beverages.

AT LONDON industrials were irregular with engineering and electrical equipments easier. General Electric was lower.

Borax, Imperial Chemicals and Dunlops showed useful improvements but Hudson Bay was dull.

AT VANCOUVER mines were active and oils dull, though prices were up a fraction. Mid West Copper sold 10,000 between 74 and 76, and Quatsino went up a cent at 43 on a sale of 11,000. Trojan sold 5,000 at 47 to 49.

Industrial needs of Victoria will be the subject of a panel discussion Tuesday at the annual meeting of the industrial group, Victoria Chamber of Commerce, to be held a noon in the Pacific Club.

Participating will be Fred Manning, vice-president of Bapco Paints and a president Manning Products; Brahm Wiesman, capital city planner; and Colonist business editor Harry Young.

Moderator will be city manager C. C. Wyatt.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most activity today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange appeared in flax. Strong export support was shown in connection with small parcel sales to the United Kingdom, continental countries and Japan. Liberal hedges were indicated and were brought about by farm deliveries. Prices showed some hesitation and eased off at the close.

Oats and barley had domestic support with U.S. interest in oats. Barley showed moderate export demand and prices of both grains were easier.

Rye had little feature. Local support was shown and an occasional American order.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: West Germany 850,000 bushels, United Kingdom 850,000, Japan 400,000, Belgium 55,000.

Canada's Best Known Woman Soldier Dies Here at 52

Organizer of the Canadian Women's Army Corps during the Second World War, Lt. Col. Joan Kennedy, 52, 1788 Rockland Avenue, died suddenly at her home Thursday. Born in Middlesex, Eng., Col. Kennedy served with the CWAC from the time it was organized in 1941 to the war's end.

Military service was a family tradition. Col. Kennedy's father was in the Imperial Army, and her mother was a member of the Women's Land Army during the First World War.

Col. Kennedy's first appointment was as district CWAC officer in Military District No. 11, Victoria. Subsequently she became officer administering the CWAC and was established at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa. In 1943 she was posted overseas. On her return she was appointed general staff officer, Grade 1, in charge of all training for the CWAC. In 1944, Col. Kennedy was posted to the branch of the Master General of Ordnance where she assisted in the organization of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers.

Active in various volunteer organizations during the war, she was one of 10 women to form the B.C. Women's Service Corps in 1939, first organization of its kind in the Dominion. Following the corps' amalgamation with the Canadian Red Cross corps, Col. Kennedy toured Canada helping to co-ordinate the work of the voluntary organizations. Later Col. Kennedy became secretary to Veterans' Affairs Minister Ian Mackenzie. She also was secretary to the National Liberal convention which first nominated Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. She headed her own business, Joan Kennedy Business Services, here for the past year.

Col. Kennedy is survived by one brother, Colin Fensham, of Victoria, and cousins in England.

She was known as "the O.A." officer administering, to her troops.

As organizer of the CWAC, she said years ago "women won't lose their responsibility to their country again in a hurry. We've learned to love just not our own home town but every bit of it from the Gaspe and the Maritimes to northern British Columbia. There isn't a thing any of us wouldn't do to preserve it."

Lt. Col. Joan Kennedy ... in wartime role.

Victoria is rising up in righteous rage against the Federal census takers.

Victoria claims the census takers didn't take enough census when they were census taking in Victoria.

In brief, the census takers claim Victoria added only 1,757 population between 1951 and 1956. And Victoria claims 6,000 population was added.

This leaves 4,243 men, women, and children unaccounted for.

No wonder Victoria is rising up in righteous rage.

One cannot stand idly by while 4,243 of one's citizens turn up missing, can one?

I, personally, am deeply concerned about the fate of the missing 4,243.

Where were they when the census takers were taking census?

I have been in contact with the bureau of missing persons, but without much success.

The bureau of missing persons says that several missing persons have turned up recently in Vancouver.

But these couldn't be from Victoria.

Nobody from Victoria ever goes to Vancouver.

It is of vital importance to locate these missing persons, not only for humanitarian reasons, but because of their cash value.

These people are worth $6.50 each, in the form of provincial grants.

Thus it is a matter of but a moment to figure out Victoria has misplaced $12,579.50.

If the thought of 4,243 missing persons fails to move you, surely you will be shaken by the thought of 12,579 missing dollars.

And fifty cents.

Even in this inflated age, $12,579.50 is too significant a sum to let go without a battle.

No wonder official Victoria is rising up in rage, and also weeping, wailing, and gnashing its teeth.

But something more constructive must be done to find the missing persons, and through them, the missing dollars.

And the solution would seem awesomely simple.

The South Vancouver Island Rangers have always been notably successful in tracing missing persons.

Let the Rangers organize a posse and trace down the persons the census takers couldn't take.

After all, it doesn't seem likely all 4,243 of them are out trying to swim Juan de Fuca Strait.

Erosion Damage To Bridge Less Than Expected

Erosion damage to piers of Point Ellice Bridge is far less than previously anticipated, city engineer James Garnett said today.

Divers of Intrusion Prepack Ltd., who have been carrying out underwater repairs to the old piers so they can be used to support the new Point Ellice Bridge, reported to Mr. Garnett that the erosion in the piers are so small only a slight amount of fill could be inserted.

The men have been working as if filling giant teeth. A hole is bored and specially mixed concrete forced into the cavities with high-pressure hoses.

NEW CASING

Later it is intended to build underwater forms and pour a new casing of concrete around the old piers.

Cost of the repair job was estimated earlier at $71,000 but it is thought likely this will be scaled downward if work is completed ahead of schedule due to the good condition of the old piers.

Dominion Bridge Ltd. was awarded contract for the new span at a quoted price of $349,900. Work should be under way early in June. The city will do the decking and road approaches. Total cost is expected to fall within the $550,000 early estimates.

Armed with crumpets, tea-bags and bottled samples of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the Victoria Y's Men's Club leaves tonight to attend a regional convention in Salem, Wash.

Convention delegates also will be treated to a tape recording of the "first" trip across the strait made by a member of the club—not Marilyn Bell.

All Victoria members will be dressed in goggles and swim trunks.

Idea of the novelty get-up is to bring the regional convention to Victoria in 1957, a YMCA spokesman said today.

The convention will be attended by members of YMCA men's clubs in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and B.C.

Officers of Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada scored a victory over officers of Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) in an invitational rifle shoot Thursday night at Bay Street Armoury miniature range.

Lieut. Col. Jack Fawcett, Scottish CO, challenged QOR CO, Lieut. Col. Roderick F. MacKay and officers to the shoot and a social evening as a courtesy between active and militia messes.

The Queen's Own, with eight officers, came through with about a 10 per cent margin over scores chalked up by 25 Scottish officers.

GRACEFUL DUGOUT

Henry Hunt Revives Canoe Carving Art

An authentic Haida Indian canoe, to be displayed in Thunderbird Park, is being carved at the Provincial Museum by Henry Hunt of the Kwakiutl tribe.

Henry is one of three carvers who created the world's tallest totem, now in Beacon Hill Park.

Now in its final stages of construction, the canoe is a dugout fashioned from a cedar tree.

It's sturdier than the canoes used by the Haidas when they travelled from the Queen Charlottes to Victoria in the early days, says provincial archivist Wilson Duff.

"Children will be clambering in and out of the canoe at the park so Henry's allowing extra thickness for wear and tear."

First of its type to be constructed here, the canoe is 21 feet in length. It will be painted black on the outside and red on the inside according to Haida tradition.

An assistant carver to famed Mungo Martin, Henry has been working on the canoe for a month. It will become part of the Thunderbird Park displays next spring.

The canoe may be viewed at an "open house" at the Provincial Museum tonight from 7 to 10 p.m., which marks International Museum Week being observed throughout Canada.

The open house also will feature a special display of mushrooms and other fungi, a "Mushroomorama" arranged by provincial botanist Dr. Adam Szczawinski and Frank I. Beebe.

Special prizes will be presented to four school pupils who submitted the best posters in a museum poster contest.

They are Marilyn Strouts, Central Junior High School; Michael Cullin, Willows Elementary School; Edith Boon, Strawberry Vale School, and Vicky Vigar, Oaklands School.

Police said the car was started with a piece of silver paper in the ignition switch and it was taken to Campbell River and abandoned.

Owner of the car is Sherman Grasney.

The shore patrol spotted a second stolen car at 5:30 a.m. today at Carroll and Burnside. In it were Carlow and a 17-year-old companion, who admitted they took the car, property of Robert K. Evans, Nanaimo.

Carlow was remanded to Oct. 18 for a probation report. The other boy will be dealt with by juvenile authorities.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Henry John Rowe, 1420 Camosun, $35 for careless driving resulting in collision causing about $450 damage when his car struck a motorcycle at Fernwood and Fort Sept. 23, throwing off rider Robert Donald McLean, 854 Someros, and breaking his foot.

Howard George Abercrombie, 947 Meares, $35 for careless driving resulting in collision with a steel fence at Dallas and Clover Point, causing $340 total damage.

Lawrence Perron, 19, HMCS Sioux, $15 for being a minor in illegal possession of liquor.

The group had elected its own officers in the past and conducted its own programs, including social evenings, visits to the sick and other events.

Escapee From Boys' School

Saanich grocer Ed Bullock apprehended one of three juveniles who broke into his store at 3400 Douglas at 5 a.m. today after they awoke him with their movements.

The youngster was reported by Saanich police to be an escapee from Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School.

Bullock was asleep in living quarters at Parkdale Super Market when he heard a disturbance in the store. Investigating, he found two youngsters in the premises and a third outside.

"If I had been more wide awake I might have caught them all," he said.

The youngsters broke a side window to gain entrance to the store. They tried to open the cash register without success, but it was not known whether the two who escaped obtained anything before Bullock arrived.

No Force Used on Girl, Says Accused in Rape Trial

John Wilkie of Saanich, facing trial on a charge of raping a 19-year-old girl, admitted in Criminal Assize Court today that he had sexual relations with the young woman but "without the use of force."

The 22-year-old laborer, who took the witness stand in his own defence, told a 12-man jury that the woman offered no resistance to his overtures when he drove her to Beaver Lake in the early hours of the morning of June 17.

"She did not protest and was calm and collected after the act," he said.

Wilkie's evidence contradicts the testimony of the woman who said she was thrown on the ground by Wilkie and raped, despite her protests and screams.

The girl said she met Wilkie at a dance June 16 and later, with her father's consent, went to a house party with him. This developed to a trip to Beaver Lake on her way home to Sidney in Wilkie's car.

Wilkie said after the Beaver Lake incident, he took the girl home around 4 a.m.

The woman, he said, walked into another room and her father came out and asked him what he wanted. Wilkie said he didn't reply and the girl said to him: "Well, tell him what happened."

Wilkie said he told the father that he did not think he had been "right to your daughter."

"I was referring to bringing her home so late in the morning," Wilkie explained to the court.

Wilkie related that the girl then turned to him. "Tell him what happened—he raped me," Wilkie said the father then asked him what kind of a job he had and then turned to the girl and asked her: "Are you going to marry the man?"

When she said no, Wilkie said, the father then suggested to his daughter to go to the police.

"The girl then said she was going to lay a charge of rape," said the witness.

The case is continuing before Mr. Justice Harold McInnes.

ARTHROSIS FORUM TONIGHT AT CENTRAL JUNIOR HIGH

Victoria's third public health forum, this time on arthritis, will be held tonight in the Central Junior High School auditorium at 8.

Dr. C. Y. Brown will be the moderator. Panel members will be Dr. W. A. Falk, Dr. L. N. Roberts, Dr. A. E. Trotter and Dr. R. C. Anderson.

Doors open at 7:30 and until 8 the band from HMCS Ontario will play.

Start 'Within Year' On Modern Fire HQ

Scurrah Also Promises Action on Garbage Wharf

By PETE LOUDON
Times City Hall Reporter

Mayor Percy Scurrah today set a target of "within one year" for a start on a new city fire hall headquarters and garbage wharf.

"That's our objective—to be built and paid for in cash," he said.

Another location, unless it were on city property, would probably increase the projected price of the wharf considerably.

The mayor felt, however, the construction fund would continue to grow rapidly. (It was $252,000 when the mayor took office last January. He has since launched a speed-up campaign on land sales to almost treble that figure.)

LOTS ON MARKET

"We are getting ready to place on the market 100 lots near the Smith's Hill reservoir. We are getting estimates on the costs of servicing them."

"There is $38,000 worth of saleable city property on Harriet Road."

"City lots which will soon be for sale on Standard Avenue in Fairfield will bring in another $20,000," he said.

He said the success of the policy of civic expansion without borrowing or increasing tax revenues is working, "because of the co-operation of the whole council."

It was also announced today the city-Saanich committee investigating building of a joint municipal hall and pooling of public works departments will meet again Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. at city hall.

It is understood two sites for a joint hall will be suggested at the meeting. Chairman is Ald. W. F. Pinfold.

Colwood to Form Ratepayers' Body

A meeting of ratepayers of the Colwood Fire Protection District will be held at Colwood Community Hall at 8 p.m. Monday.

Purpose is formation of a ratepayers' association.

A committee was named at an earlier meeting to begin organization. The association is to safeguard interest of ratepayers and promote general welfare of the community, a spokesman said.

The association will decide to either support or condemn a recent Colwood and Districts' Chamber of Commerce proposal for incorporation of the area. Other business will be discussed.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Students learn that a great deal of the English language as we know it was derived from Latin. Is it known of what percentage of English this is true?—Mrs. W.H.M.

A.—Yes, there is a scholarly computation that is widely accepted. The matter has been briefly expressed as follows: "Sixty per cent of the English vocabulary has come from the Saxon soil, thirty from the Latin, five from the Greek and the remaining five from myriad sources. But only two per cent of the Saxon soil is solely from the British Isles in derivation." It is clear that the disparity between the Latin sources and the Greek sources reflects the hundreds of years Roman armies were in occupation of England as contrasted with the fact the Greeks never occupied England. All scholars know that "the glory that was Greece" was infinitely greater than the achievements of Rome in the realm of the mind.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Get Your Shopping Basket And Prepare for Weekend

By PENNY SAVER

Here comes another weekend, and that means it's time to restock your food cupboard for family meals. The briskness of fall weather builds up appetites, so you shouldn't be surprised to find plates coming back for seconds of everything. Of course, I hope the appeal is also in the preparation, but even if you don't specialize in the exotic in the way of food, you can't really go wrong when there are such wonderful fresh foods that need so little preparing, and taste so good.

For the hot vegetable of the meal, try some Swiss chard for a change. It's fresh, and costs 25 cents for two pounds. Green beans that can be cooked in any number of ways and with all types of foods are 25 cents a pound and fresh green peas are two pounds for 45 cents. Carrots in bunches are new and crisp. Two bunches are yours for 15 cents.

Broccoli is a versatile vegetable, and takes on a special taste when served with a nippy cheese sauce. This frothy vegetable is 20 cents a pound. Another vegetable that can be described as frothy and so tasty, too, is cauliflower, grown on the Island, and selling at 29 cents each.

Brussels sprouts are 23 cents a pound, and beets are two bunches for a quarter. Spinach is two pounds for 29 cents. Corn on the cob is still a good buy and a mealtime favorite. Five cobs are 25 cents.

For salads, you'll find the best in greenery are bright foods that spark up many meals. Local tomatoes, hard and juicy, are 10 cents a pound. Field beans are two pounds for 29 cents. Lettuce is 10, 12 and 15 cents a head, depending on size and locality where grown, and celery is 15 cents a stalk. Onions are two bunches for 13 cents and avocados are 29 and 49 cents each.

A display of apples I saw gave off such an enticing aroma that I could hardly tear myself away. McIntosh reds are three pounds for 29 cents; Kings are three pounds for a quarter, and Wealthies, that are good for cooking or eating, are four pounds for a quarter. Gravensteins are the same price. Local box pears are three pounds for 25 cents, and honey pears are four pounds for 25 cents.

Something for a change of pace are persimmons, selling at two pounds for 35 cents. I also saw citron on sale at two pounds for a quarter.

Circumstances Allow Girl To Ask Boy on Movie Date

By LOUISE DAVIS

About asking a boy to the theatre:

My husband was given a pair of theatre tickets by a business acquaintance. We turned them over to our daughter, who invited a boy. The day after the show the boy phoned my daughter and said he thought it poor taste for a young lady to ask a man to the theatre and provide the tickets. Did my daughter do wrong by asking the boy?

Louise Davis answers:

The boy doesn't have a leg to stand on. If he felt that way why did he consent to go? Having accepted the girl's hospitality, he should not have been so rude and ungrateful as to take the girl to task even if he thought that she had paid for the tickets.

I have an idea that your daughter didn't make it clear when she did the inviting. It would have been wise if she had put her cards on the table and told him the tickets had been given to her. The boy's pride may have been injured if your daughter did not hand him the tickets before entering the theatre.

A WEDDING THIS MONTH

Oct. 27 has been chosen as the wedding date of Miss Beverly Alice Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Ross, Fraser Street, and Mr. Anthony Stuart Walls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walls, Metcoshin. The marriage will take place in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church at 8 p.m. Attendants will be Miss Pat Cook, maid of honor; Miss Denise Cave, bridesmaid, and Miss Ann Locke, junior bridesmaid. (Kandid Kamera.)

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

True Charm Achieved By Interest in Others

For many years psychologists have recognized the fact that our egos are important to us. Feelings of inadequacy, inferiority or guilt, can distort an otherwise effective personality. What makes you feel important? Individuals differ. One person may achieve a feeling of importance because of success in a career. Another may need only the knowledge that she or he is deeply loved by someone. It doesn't matter what it is, every one of us must have something to bolster our belief that we are needed and valuable individuals.

Many people feel discarded and lonely because they have trouble making friends. Why are some people so magnetic? Of what does charm consist? When we meet a truly charming woman we hardly know whether she is beautiful—she seems so lovely to us. Personality and charm are great attributes. Even failures and weaknesses are loved when they have this magic, intangible quality.

If you will think this over you will realize that the person you find charming makes you feel charming, that when you are with this person the things you say seem to take on some importance or seem witty or interesting, that you feel relaxed and at ease.

The charming person makes you feel this way because he is truly interested in you, in what you think, in what you do, in what you have to say. This interest cannot be simulated. It must be real to pack a wallop!

So if you are lonely, if you are self-conscious or shy, try this turnaround in outlook. Every person you meet is a surprise package. Every single person you know has some interesting bit of information, has a unique approach to life, has had some entertaining experiences or hobbies or thoughts. We cannot be really interested in others unless we forget ourselves.

Forgetting ourselves and concentrating on others is the best prescription for charm I know. Try it the next time you are in a group. It may not be easy at first but with practice you can do it, and when you do you will find life adventurous and friendly.

The warm heart, the responsive mind and the understanding spirit, are always, touchstones for popularity.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "How to Overcome Loneliness and Self-Consciousness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 59 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Brussels sprouts should be soaked in salted water for 15 minutes then rinsed in fresh water before cooking. To shorten cooking time, make crosswise slits in stem end of sprouts. Serve cooked Brussels sprouts with butter or with a cheese or Hollandaise sauce.

Assorted broken greens, crackling crisp and cold, with a topping of shrimp, sliced Calavo avocado and cooked frozen peas, make an attractive salad. Top with your favorite dressings and serve with hot rolls and coffee.

Smorgasbord Buffet at Empress Is Sheer Delight for Diners

By TERRY FRENCH

Take equal parts of good food, color and imagination and mix well with the outstanding artistry of the Empress Hotel chefs, and the result is the lavish smorgasbord buffet so enjoyed at the Empress Hotel Thursday evening.

The popular weekly buffets were resumed for the winter season on Thursday evening.

A fall motif, featuring fruits of the harvest on the main table, was seen as guests entered the dining room. Pumpkins added the splash of color to tons of green and brown.

An exploratory circuit of the serving table quadrangle tended to confuse the diner. So appetizing, so tempting—where to begin?

A "tree" of fresh shrimps speared with ruffie-covered picks of all colors was surrounded by the niblets, olives, pickles and carrot sticks. On a tiered tray were stuffed tomatoes and many fish or meat-filled jelly patties. Following the cream soup or consomme, it was time for another stroll around the delicious thoroughfare. A golden brown turkey, shining with a glaze, was a thing of beauty.

Tiny mushrooms were dotted from head to tail of a baked salmon covered with a white glaze that resembled porcelain. Fluted pate flowers much like carnations in many colors decorated the sides of the fish, and around the edge of the large silver platter were serrated slices of lemon. A side piece of beef done to perfection yielded slices to please all palates.

A gracefully molded vase? No. 'Twas a whole ham with a posy on top. A cluster of green grapes was firmly glazed to the ham, completing the look of an ornate vase. A leprechaun's turned-up toe shoe was actually a whole beef tongue with an artistic touch. Lamb chops, tender and tasty, had a shiny glaze to make them even more appetizing.

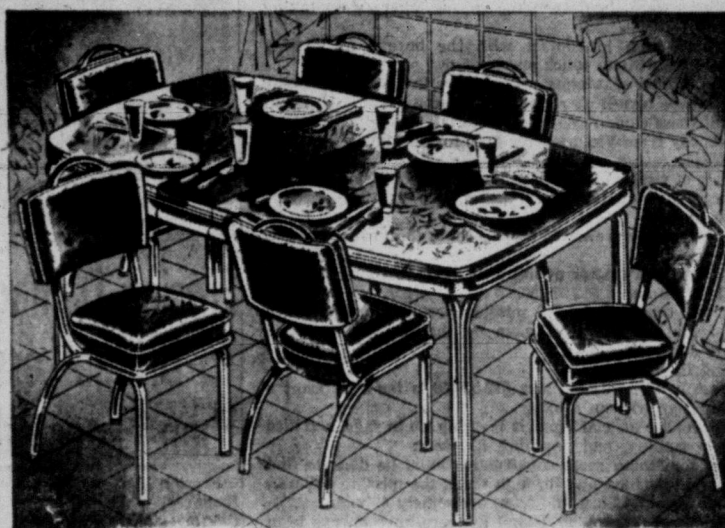

Of course, salads and a wonderful selection of dressings added to the overall picture of eating bliss. For a hot dish, chicken a la king with fluffy rice was the final note.

Desserts or tange cheese and crackers took up the fourth serving table. A strawberry pie, a selection of cakes or a jellied sweet were very colorful and certainly tempting.

Two Jailed 6 Years For Drunken Killing

From The Canadian Press

KAMLOOPS—Gordon Cisco, 17, and Harold William Eusta, 20, charged with murder in the death of Johnny Sampson, near Merritt, April 22, Tuesday, were convicted on a reduced charge of manslaughter and each was sentenced to six years in penitentiary.

A Supreme Court jury deliberated three-quarters of an hour before bringing in the verdict.

The defence contended that the accused, both from Merritt, had been so intoxicated at the time they could not have formed any intent to murder Sampson.

The trial had been postponed from September after a juror left his hotel room without escort while the case was in progress. During the second trial, the jurors were warned daily about their conduct.

Merritt is 61 miles south of Kamloops.

RECOUNT ASKED

GRAND FORKS (CP)—A judicial recount of ballots cast in the Grand Forks-Greenwood riding in the Sept. 19 provincial election will be asked by the Social Credit Party, spokesmen said Tuesday.

The final count of ballots in the riding showed Mrs. Lois Hagen of the CCF with a 15-vote margin over Craig Dawson of the Social Credit Party.

KAMLOOPS—North Kamloops Social Credit League has prepared a resolution asking the government to investigate the FASTTEETH, a pleasant alkaline (non-acid) powder, both false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTTEETH on your plate. No gummy, powdery taste or feeling. Checks plate odor (denture breath). Get FASTTEETH at any drug counter.

"I could scarcely move with pain in my back!"

Here is the story of a man whose experience might have been yours or that of a dear friend. Mr. Marshall R. George, 31 Rich Ave., Galt, Ont., writes: "About a year ago I woke up one morning with such a pain in my back I could scarcely move. A friend who saw how I was suffering suggested that I try Templeton's T-R-C's. T-R-C's gave me quick and satisfactory relief. You can believe me that I would hate to wake up some morning without suffering from lumbago, sciatica, rheumatic or arthritic pain should give Templeton's T-R-C's a fair trial!" If you suffer from any of these complaints, look for blessed relief with T-R-C's—only 79c and $1.50 at drug counters.

DEMOCRATS LEADING ALASKA'S EARLY VOTING

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Democrats moved into a commanding lead today in mounting returns from Alaska's general election.

Overcoming an early trend toward the Republican side in the first returns from conservative south-east Alaska, the Democrats moved overnight into a dominant position for the territory offices at stake, although by narrow margins in some cases. They led for 18 seats in the territorial House of Representatives while Republicans were ahead only for three.

The Democrats held 21 seats and the Republicans three in the old House.

The Alaska election was watched closely in the United States because in recent years the swing of U.S. congressional elections has followed the Alaska weathervane.

Adlai Promises to Give U.S. Back to the Joe Smiths

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Adlai Stevenson said last night the American people in the forthcoming election would "take the country away from General Motors and give it back to Joe Smith."

He climaxed a busy day in the Northwest with a regionally televised address to a loudly applauding audience of 6,000 persons in the civic auditorium here.

The theme of his prepared address was his charge that the Eisenhower administration "has not prepared and evidently is not preparing to carry out the atom for peace program for which it took responsibility before the world."

New Polio Vaccine Taken Orally Claims Near Lifetime Immunity

CINCINNATI (AP)—A University of Cincinnati scientist has announced development of a new polio vaccine to be taken by mouth which is expected to produce long-term—perhaps life-time—immunity against the dread disease.

Dr. Albert B. Sabin, professor of research pediatrics in the College of Medicine, made the report to a private group of scientists. The Cincinnati Times-Star carried it in a copyrighted story.

Dr. Sabin said a single dose of the new vaccine will produce immunity against all three major strains of polio virus. He said the vaccine has proven safe after extensive tests on animals and humans and is now ready for mass testing on an international basis.

The researcher said that tests of the new vaccine will begin next year in foreign countries as well as in the United States.

PRODUCTION CHEAP

He said: "I have made arrangements with scientists in several foreign countries to make the tests. It will be a co-operative venture. But I'd prefer not to say now what the countries are."

Dr. Sabin said the vaccine is the first effective oral preventive against polio. He said it works in persons who have already received Salk vaccine.

Dr. Sabin's report indicated arrangements have already been made with a leading pharmaceutical house to produce the vaccine in a pilot plant. Production, the report said, will be cheap—the vaccine itself costing less than the cherry syrup vehicle by which it is administered.

Because only small amounts of the vaccine are required to produce immunity, the scientist estimated that 20 litres of the substance will be sufficient to vaccinate 2,000,000 persons.

A major difference between Dr. Sabin's vaccine and that produced by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh is that the Sabin drug contains live polio virus, while the Salk serum contains virus which has been killed. Another difference is that the Sabin vaccine is taken orally, the Salk vaccine by injection. A third distinguishing feature is that Sabin's discovery calls for only one administration of the immunizing drug. Salk's vaccine requires a minimum of two injections and usually one booster shot.

Dr. Sabin's report said that while Salk vaccine provides protection against polio to those immunized, it does not halt the epidemic spread of the disease in communities. It said the Sabin vaccine may be able to provide both individual immunity as well as halt the spread of the disease. Dr. Sabin said the main problem was to isolate pure samples of the least active polio virus in the three major strains from the entire range of relatively inactive polio viruses which produce immunity without at the same time producing paralysis and nervous system damage.

YOGI BERRA

JOHNNY KUCKS
... wraps it up

World Series Records Fall

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
BROOKLYN (UP)—Yogi Berra broke Dodge hearts with a pair of $100,000 homers and young Johnny Kucks broke their backs with three-hit pitching today to crush Brooklyn, 9-0, and give the New York Yankees their seventh world championship in 10 years.

The Yankees, turning on all their long-famed power in this seventh and final game of the annual classic, made it a mauling mardigras before 33,782 Ebbets Field fans as Berra's two-run pair, one by Elston Howard and a grand-slammer by burly Moose Skowron provided an all-time record of 12 homers for the series.

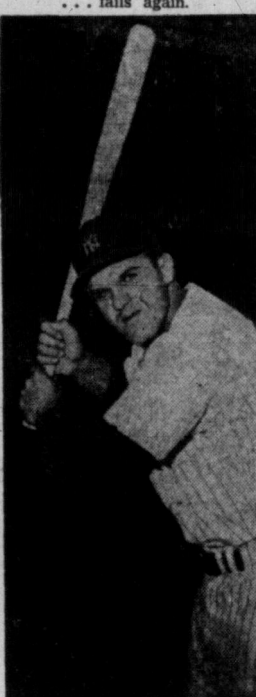

Berra's blasts in the first and third innings gave him 10 runs batted in to break the immortal Lou Gehrig's 28-year-old record for the series and set up big Don Newcombe for another trip down heart-break highway. Newcombe, four times previously a failure against the Yanks, was kayoed again by Howard's blast, leading off the fourth—and the 23-year-old Kucks took it from there with the added comfort of Skowron's big wallop in the seventh.

Humiliating Loss
Kucks, the "sinker-ball baby" of the Yankee pitching staff, finished it up with a fantastic flair as he handed the Dodgers the most humiliating seventh-game series defeat since the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Detroit Tigers, 11-0, in the 1934 finale. He had only six base runners back of him this blue-skied day and three hits and three walks, and he scored his only strikeout against the final man—Jackie Robinson, whose hit had won Tuesday's squaring sixth game. That meant, on the heels of Don Larsen's history-making perfect game in the fifth contest, that Yankee pitchers had given Brooklyn only one run and seven hits over the last 28 innings to provide Casey Stengel with this sixth world championship in eight years.

And, once again it was grim defeat for Newcombe, beaten twice by these Yankees in 1949.

DON NEWCOMBE

HOW YANKS DID IT PLAY BY PLAY BY UNITED PRESS

FIRST INNING
Yankees—Bauer lined a 1 and 2 pitch over Reese's head into left field for a single.
Bauer stole second base on Newcombe's third pitch to Martin, Campanella making a one-bounce throw to second.
Martin was called out on strikes on a 2 and 2 pitch.
Mantle ran the count to 3 and 2 and then went down swinging.
Berra lined Newcombe's second pitch a few feet foul down the right field line and then hit the next pitch over the right field screen for a home run, putting the Yankees ahead, 2-0. Skowron struck out.
Two runs, two hits, no errors, none left.
Dodgers—Gilliam bounced to Skowron, who made the putout unassisted.
Tom Sturdivant was warming up in the Yankee bullpen.
Reese ran the count to 3 and 2 and walked when Kucks' next pitch was inside.

Snider hit the first pitch into left field for a single, Reese going to second.
Robinson hit into a double play, Kucks to Martin to Skowron. Robinson protested the call at first base.

GOP Concealed Oilman's $5,000 Kefauver Says

Offers to Show Cheque Photostat

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Senator Estes Kefauver says the Republicans have tried to conceal a $5,000 campaign gift from the oil company president whose money was offered to a South Dakota Republican senator during the congressional debate on natural gas in the United States.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, in a speech to a Syracuse Press Club luncheon today, said he was ready to display a photograph of a cheque for the $5,000.

His speech was released to the press in advance.

He said the cheque was drawn on the City National Bank of Houston, Tex., dated Jan. 10, 1956, made out to the United Republican Dinner Committee, and signed by H. B. Keck, president of the Superior Oil Co.

The senator declared the circumstances of the gift was evidence that "when candidate Eisenhower promised as part of the great crusade to take firm action against corruption in government, he failed to live up to his word."

TWO LAWYERS INDICTED

Kefauver demanded to know whether the Republican national chairman, Leonard W. Hall, or Attorney-General Herbert Brownell had notified the president of the $5,000 cheque, and if not, why not.

Keck testified during a Senate lobbying committee investigation that $2,500 rejected by Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) came from his personal funds.

Kefauver pointed out that Superior Oil and two of its lawyers, Elmer Patman and John Neff, had been indicted in connection with the case.

"But no action was taken regarding the much greater amount given the Eisenhower dinner committee by the same head of Superior Oil," he said.

AID TOO LATE

Bear Kills Trainer as Girl Screams

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—While his fiancée tried desperately to save him, a 28-year-old animal trainer was killed Tuesday night by a 500-pound performing bear he was taking from his cage.

Paul Lemery was attacked shortly after he entered the cage of one of four bears he had been training for television appearances. Hans, a European brown bear, pinned Lemery to the floor and clawed and bit him.

Lemery's fiancée, Shirley Rodriguez, 23, outside the cage, grabbed a seven-foot pole and beat the bear repeatedly as it clung to Lemery.

Screams by Lemery and Miss Rodriguez were heard by Robert Bellefleur, 26, an operator of a store near the trailer where the bears were kept in three cages. He seized a .35-calibre hunting rifle, ran to the door of the trailer and fatally shot the bear in the head.

Esquimalt Home Gunned by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin gutted the home of Wilfred Demers, 480 South Joffre, at 11:30 a.m. today as Mrs. Demers stood in the yard.

Esquimalt firemen confined flames to the building, an old house, and loss of interior and furnishings is covered by insurance.

The fire broke out while Mrs. Demers was outside the house for a few minutes. She looked toward the house and noticed smoke and flame pouring out, but was unable to account for the cause. Firemen were called but flames had already made headway in the building.

95 Terrorized; Girl Teachers Used As Shields

TERRAZZANO, Italy (AP)—Italian police burst into a schoolhouse today and freed 95 children and four teachers held prisoner for hours by two berserk brothers who opened fire in the final minutes of the siege, killing one man. Both brothers were wounded.

The children, between six and 10 years old, had been held at gunpoint for six hours by Arturo and Osvaldo Sampato, who demanded 2,000,000 lire ($380,000) to release them.

A full battalion of national police attacked the building after the director of an asylum for the criminally insane from which one brother recently was released warned that the youth was growing more maniacal by the moment.

The brothers had threatened to blow up the children with dynamite or scar them with acid unless given the money.

Police Went In, Guns Blazing

Italian police, long prevented from shooting by the brothers' use of the girl teachers as shields, finally went in with guns blazing.

They wounded both Arturo, the madman, and Osvaldo, the younger brother whom police described as a near-moron under Arturo's domination.

Near-hysterical parents tried to lynch the pair when, manacled, they were brought into a close in without the children being endangered.

Tried to Kill His Own Sister

Arturo pumped two bullets at his own sister just before the police assault. She had been trying to persuade him to give up.

The brothers shot one man dead who tried to climb into a school window during the final attack on the building. Earlier, they shot the mother of one child in the leg.

Arturo kept asking for a TV set in messages to police during efforts to get him to surrender. One was placed on the window ledge just before the attack in hopes he would be fascinated by it and not open fire. But Arturo's gun went into action as soon as police began climbing up ladders into the second-storey windows.

The brothers repeated their oral threat by tossing out a note saying: "Give us 200,000,000 lire or we will not have pity on the children." Holding up a flask, one shouted to police: "See this. There's acid in it. We also have dynamite. The children are in our hands. If you make a step we will kill them all."

A parish priest they sought to reason with the youths, but they would not listen to him. Terrazzano, a town of less than 1,000, is on the highway between Milan and Sesto Calende.

At nighttime the bandits permitted the police to carry food for the children to the entrance. Using a teacher for a shield, one gunman brought the food inside the school. Sobbing parents waited outside.

POINTS UP CANADA'S INTEREST IN ASIA

Ottawa Sends Paul Martin On Long Tour in Far East

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Hon. Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare, will be the first Canadian minister to visit the international supervisory commission in Indochina when he makes a goodwill tour of the Far East this winter.

The tour will include India, Ceylon, Pakistan, Australia and New Zealand. Mr. Martin will be the official Canadian government representative at the Olympic Games in Melbourne.

The tour is further evidence of the increasing importance with which Canada regards the Far East.

Grave Case Remanded

ALBURNI—A further remand to Thursday was granted William Harold Nelson, 38, when he appeared in police court here today on a charge of offering an indignity to a human body.

Nelson pleaded guilty earlier. He is one of four youths charged in connection with recent cemetery vandalism and the digging up of a body as a grisly prank.

Jean Gibson, 17-year-old waitress who recently was transferred to juvenile court, was today transferred for the second time to police court and remanded for future hearing. No date was set.

David Windsor Ferguson, 19, and Alma Doreen Lochner, 19, who are out on bail of $2,500 and $1,000 respectively, will appear in court again Friday.

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, will fly to Japan Oct. 21 to open a two-week goodwill tour of Japanese industrial centres.

Mr. Martin is expected to leave Ottawa with his party about mid-November. Plans call for him flying in the Royal Canadian Air Force C5 aircraft used by Prime Minister St. Laurent on his round-the-world tour.

After the Olympic Games, Mr. Martin will fly to New Zealand for the Colombo Plan conference in December.

The tour itinerary includes an official visit to New Delhi. Tentative plans call for Mr. Martin to lay the cornerstone for the atomic reactor which Canada has given to India.

Want Troops Freed

LONDON (Reuters)—Several mass-circulated British newspapers are demanding that the government demobilize reservists, who were recalled for the Suez crisis, including those on Malta who demonstrated Monday.

LIONS VIRTUAL CINCH TO HIT 200,000 MARK

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Lions need to attract only 35,833 fans in two remaining home games to become the first football team in Canada to draw 200,000 attendance during a league schedule.

In six Western Interprovincial Football Union games at Empire Stadium here this season, the Lions drew 164,167 fans, an average of 27,361 a game.

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

It was the greatest, that's all, Don Larsen's no-hit, no-run, no-walk, no-error game against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series game of Monday.

And millions of hearts must have gone out to Larsen in the ninth inning as first three, then two, and then one out stood between him and baseball immortality.

And if you think the tension was terrific in the living room, think what it must have been at Yankee Stadium, in the stands, on the field and at the pitcher's box.

That was it—the dream of a lifetime, a goal that never again may be attained.

Hats off to Don Larsen—his name will be enshrined forever in the annals of baseball.

Personally, we thought that we had seen the ultimate in World Series pitching back in the year 1945. On flight from the air force for a few weeks, and with a new battery made for a few days calling signals, it was our pleasure to catch a few games of the series of that year between the Tigers and the Cubs.

It was in the third game of that series that Claude Passeau of the Cubs handled the Tigers in almost similar fashion.

Only one hit did Passeau allow—that a single by Rudy York. But there was nothing of the tension in that one as happened to Larsen in his brilliant performance Monday.

And one fan summed it up well, in all innocence, when he said:

"I've never seen anything like it."
True, he hadn't, because neither had anybody else.

Colin Recognized Fans' Wishes

But now to the Cougars, as the Dodgers and Yanks go at it again today—the men of Colin Kilburn did right well for themselves on Thanksgiving Day.

There may be a weakness or two on the club, and Kilburn is willing to admit that fact, but what struck home most of all was the hustling display of the team as a whole.

The Cougars often have been faulted during the past few years, through the reigns of coach Billy Reay and Eddie Olson, for their kick-bar-the-door tactics. Their defensive style didn't sit well with the opposition, while obviously being uninteresting to a majority of fans.

Kilburn, as a player, recognized this fact, and now as coach it is apparent that he has taken steps to give the customers what they have been missing the past few seasons.

He promised a hard-hitting, exciting team.

Newcomers Give Promise of Better

Monday, in their debut, the Cougars lived up to that promise. The newcomers to the team this year—George Rasmussen, Roy Partridge, Gordon Haworth and Lionel Heinrich—certainly must rank, on the exhibition series with Vernon and the league opener against the Canucks, as the equal if not slightly more interesting to watch than some who were members of last year's club.

Time, there are, as was said earlier, a few shortcomings that may need to be ironed out.

That is to be expected and some of these are in hand at the moment.

But regardless of what player plans Kilburn has in mind, the club Monday gave as promising a display for an opening game as has been seen here in the past few years.

And, win or lose, more of the same type of performance should mean a return to popularity of the game and the club. It's no secret that the Cougars of the past few years were a "poor draw" on the road.

It is Kilburn's plan to erase that stigma this season. Monday, he and the Cougars took a big step forward in the right direction.

Robinson Figures: 'I'm Good for Year'

BROOKLYN (AP) — Jackie Robinson, feeling "like a kid again," wants to help Brooklyn win one more National League pennant before retiring.

SERIES QUERY

Was It Enos' Fault Or Not?

BROOKLYN (UP) — Enos Slaughter, one of the greatest clutch players in baseball history, is on the spot today as a possible 1956 world series goat.

Did the 39-year-old New York Yankee outfielder misplay three balls, including Jackie Robinson's game-winning 10th-inning single in yesterday's 1-0 Brooklyn Dodgers triumph? Or did circumstances just happen to make Enos look bad?

The Yankees' sentimental hero of the series ran into trouble early when Junior Gilliam lifted a routine fly to left field with one out in the third inning. Enos loomed in under ball, then lost it in the sun, and let it drop for a single. Gilliam tried for two and the alert Slaughter grabbed the ball and threw to Billy Martin for the putout.

Ill-luck again came Enos' way in the eighth inning of the tense struggle when pitcher Clem Labine lifted a high fly close to the left field foul line. At first it seemed the ball might go all the way for a home run but it fell short close to a protruding section of the stands but still just inside the foul line.

Slaughter raced over to take the ball but stopped about five feet short of the protruding fence. The ball dropped for a double.

And then, of course, there was some question whether Enos should have caught Jackie Robinson's game-winning liner in the 10th. At first, it appeared the ball would be caught and then, suddenly, it was over Enos' head and off the wall, and Junior Gilliam was streaking over the plate.

YANKEE CHEERS FOR YANKEE HEROES

Mickey Mantle, accustomed to basking in the baseball spotlight, and Don Larsen, who has been in and out of the Bronx Bombers' doghouse all season, have been the toasts of Yankee fans during the World Series. Triple batting crown champion Mantle has exhibited his long-distance clouting and is seen being welcomed at the plate by Yogi Berra (8) and Enos Slaughter (17) after belting a home run Monday to give Larsen all the edge he needed. At right, Larsen is bear-hugged by Berra after his perfect game.

Pitchers Take Over In Series

Moundmen Brilliant After Shoddy Start

BROOKLYN (AP)—Suddenly the 1956 world series, which started as a shabby slugfest, has become proud with pitching.

There was, of course, the perfect no-hitter by Yankee Don Larsen, in the fifth game—something never done before in a series game and few times anywhere.

But how about the five-hitter old Sal Maglie pitched against Larsen? And how about that double nine-inning shutout by Clem Labine and Bob Turley, finally snared by Labine Tuesday as the Dodgers won 1-0 in the 10th?

ALSTON PRAISES PITCHERS

"Let me tell you we've really seen some pitching the last two days," said Dodger manager Walter Alston.

"That Labine has done a wonderful job for us. And I guess I'll have him in the bullpen again today, maybe for a late-inning if we need him."

"He has a good arm. I don't think it ever gets sore. During the season I must have used him four days, heck maybe even six days, in a row in relief."

"I don't guess he'd ever gone 10 innings before in the majors. I had him first at St. Paul and he did a good job for me in relief."

STENGEL CONCERNED
Yankee manager Casey Stengel, upset and concerned by the defeat, kept repeating "You couldn't ask anyone to pitch any better than Turley did. What he needed was one run and we couldn't get it for him."

Midway last season, Turley was a discouraged, disillusioned almost forgotten member of the Yankees' pitching staff.

But one defeat has changed all that.

"The most important part of the game was that it made me believe in myself again," he said.

"I didn't know what was the matter with me all season. I thought maybe I had lost my fast ball and never would have control. But now I know I'm as good as I ever was."

"I want to play one more year. I'm sure I can help them in another pennant. Next year at this time I may feel I'm good for another year. As long as that's the case, it's going to be hard for me to do something softer—like managing."

TO MANAGE ROYALS?
Robinson is rated top-flight managerial material—although no Negro has led a professional team in the United States—and his name has popped up as possible manager of Montreal Royals, Dodger farm club, where he first broke into organized baseball.

Robinson is 37. The muscles which made him an all-star athlete at UCLA still ripple over a frame of six feet, 195 pounds. Pierce competitive fire still burns in his every fibre.

LEGS STILL GOOD
"I've slowed up some—a step and a half," he said. "But my legs feel as good as ever. I think my eyes have lost nothing and my co-ordination is okay."

"I don't worry about situations any more," he said. "I don't go up to the plate tense and determined. I don't say to myself 'I've got to get a hit. I've got to win the game.'"

"Instead I go up there without a worry or a thought whatsoever. I feel myself I'll do the best I can. If I get a hit, fine. If I don't why fret? There's another day."

Thoitly-Seven Get That, Or They'se All 'Bums'

By BILL RAYNER
Times Sports Writer

BROOKLYN, N.Y.—"Look youse guys, I don't care if they do win the series, but if them Dodgers didn't win yestiddy, they was strictly bums, nuttin' but bums."

"So Larsen throws a no-hitter, so that's in the stadium, and we gotta expect that kinda stuff from the Yankees."

"But we're back in Ebbets Field yestiddy and what happens? We go nine an' two-thirds innings without a run. And then what happens? Jackie Robinson hits a single off the left-field wall and we win, 1-0. To square the world series at three games each."

"And you know how old Robinson is? Thoitly-seven. Thoitly-seven, I tell you. Gilliam and Sniduh and Hodges and Campanelli oughta be ashamed. Although Gillie draws a walk off this terrific Bob Tolley in the 10th, and hotfoots it in from second to score the winnub."

"But lookit that Gil Hodges, the big wheel in the first three games with eight runs batted in. Nuttin for tree yestiddy and Sniduh, they walk him tree times, but still all he gets is a measly single in the first. And he's a left-hander at that."

Clem Shoulda Shot 'Em Dead
"Gilliam, strictly a Bum with 2 fuh 20 for the serious, better he shoulda stood in Montreal. And that Campanelli. Strikes out three times, already. Tree times."

"I'm tellin' yuh, Clem Labine shoulda shot all those guys dead, even though he did win eventually with a terrific seven-hitter. And Tolley only allows four, although he walked eight, and those walks'll kill yuh every time."

"But those Dodgers. Sure, the Yanks win tree in their own park. But we're back on Bedford Avenue now and if Brooks shoulda won better than that. Eleven strikeouts by Tolley."

"You know how many runs d' bums has scored in the last four games? Six. Six runs in four games and we're lucky we win the last one. We scored as many runs as that last Friday in Ebbets Field. Maybe it should rain or we all have coupla beers like Larsen did the other day, or sumpin."

And Mickey—Tree Ground Balls!
"Them Yanks coulda had us a couple times yestiddy too, yuh know. Take that Mickey Mantle. Tree ground balls at the infield. Better he should go back to Commolice, or whatever he's from. So he hits tree homers, so he gets lucky."

"And that Slaughter, I dunno. Maybe he loses that first single by Gilliam in the sun in the third, but he shoulda had that ground-rule double by Labine in the eighth, and maybe he shoulda had that single by Robbie, too."

"Maybe he's getting too old and slow at 40. But whatamny talkin' about. Look at Robinson, he's thoitly-seven."

"Look youse guys. If it hadn't been for Robinson yestiddy and those Dodgers woulda lost, I was goin' over to the Polo Grounds an' watch Willie Mays next year."

BOB KNEW

BROOKLYN (AP) — Twenty-four hours after pitching the first World Series no-hitter and the first perfect game in 34 years, Don Larsen was red-eyed Tuesday from lack of sleep and "still in a daze."

"I still can't believe it," the six-foot-four New York Yankee right-hander managed to say while admirers crowded around him for autographs.

Larsen said he'd had only an hour's sleep and the fingers of his famous pitching hand were numb from scribbling his name on scorecards, baseballs and match covers.

"I must have signed a thousand," he added.

Two days ago the San Diego, Calif., resident was just another obscure pitcher with a reputation for high-jinks. Today he is on baseball's pedestal—a pitcher who achieved a goal which escaped such greats as Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson and Grover Cleveland Alexander.

He is sought for television appearances at $1,000 a throw, endorsements and magazine stories.

Asked how he spent the 24 hours after attaining diamond immortality, the reticent right-hander said he was on a television show Monday night ("I forget which one") and Tuesday morning and then went out to be with the gang.

The club used it successfully in beating New York Giants last Sunday.

Bell said he had his doubts that "these new-fangled gadgets can do much to change football."

But he wondered "what might happen should the opposition start listening in on those signals going to the quarterback."

That is possible, a Philco spokesman said.

Such an installation costs $400. The opposing quarterback could horn in if he had the device in his helmet. Anybody can buy one for $79.50.

Wire Tapping Newest Threat in Grid Ranks

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Now Detroit Lions, Chicago Bears and New York Giants are going to install similar equipment. Bell said he "doesn't care" what kind of devices teams employ "as long as the game is conducted legally in a manner that fans enjoy."

Cleveland started the player "wiring" by hooking up a radio device to its quarterback. It didn't pan out so well. The radio was too heavy and reception intermittent.

Cards turned to an electronics device—the "Audiotape" developed by Philco Corporation and still in the experimental stage. The club used it successfully in beating New York Giants last Sunday.

GIL A REAL GENTLEMAN

EBBETS FIELD—Brooklyn first baseman Gil Hodges is a gentleman from the toes up. Before the game an umpire was saying that when he misses call on Hodges he feels like bowing down and apologizing. Then in the dressing room after the game Hodges gave up his stool to a reporter interviewing pitcher Clem Labine. Their lockers are side by side.

Both teams played early season hockey, with erratic passing and disorganized playmaking.

The Royals grabbed a 2-1 lead in the first period in the game in New Westminster and were ahead 3-2 at the end of the second.

Max McNab, their playing coach last season, had a goal and two assists while rookie right-winger Ollie Olson counted two goals and had one assist.

The other New Westminster goals were scored by Gord Fawcett and Aggie Kukulowicz.

Ray Kinasewich scored twice for the Americans. Guyie Fielder assisted on one and scored a goal himself.

The Royals held an edge in play through most of the game and were in front except for 13 minutes in the last period after Kinasewich scored his second goal to tie the score at 3-3. Olson's goal provided the winning margin for the Royals.

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—Natalie Myburgh, 16-year-old South African swimmer, Saturday broke the world 100-yard women's swimming record with a time of 57.8 seconds.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two of the National League's long-term veterans, catcher Walker Cooper and relief pitcher Jim Konstanty, were given unconditional releases Monday by St. Louis Cardinals.

Cooper, 41, was signed as a Cardinal coach for next season. Big Cooper, a power on the Redbird pennant's teams of 1942-43-44, was purchased from Chicago Cubs before this season.

WHAT'S THE SCORE? BY Denny Boyd

Tuesday afternoon, Bob Fleming left Victoria, to hack out his own path in golf's Gold Trail in the United States.

Bob was armed with a new pair of sharp, cream-colored Palm Beach slacks on the outside and on the inside by a new philosophy.

The slacks are for the show of affluence that every tournament golfer must offer while the new outlook on life, is something that only Bob can see and enjoy.

There comes a time in every golfer's life when he finds "it." This is a subtle switch in hand position, an infinitesimal move of the hips or a secretive muttered mumbo-jumbo at the address that causes the golfer to exclaim: "Well, I've finally found 'it'; watch me score from now on."

The trouble is, for most golfers, there are a succession of these "its" and they are never as sure-fire as they first seem to be.

Fleming, since he was a skinny ball shagger at Gorge Vale, eternally wearing a top-sided grin and a Sloppy Joe sweater, has found and tussled with these "its," several of them.

He has analyzed, changed and polished his golf swing numerous times. Sometimes for the good, sometimes for the worse.

What's Good for Pros, Good for Bob

As early as 1954, when Bob followed the Tournament Trail merely as a spectator, he decided to change his golf swing completely after watching in awe as the likes of Cary Middlecoff, Ben Hogan and Mike Souchak made a trembling, broken wreck of Old Man Par.

Bob took the plunge. He threw down his old swing, picked up the pieces and put them back together in a different structure.

"I've got the swing now that I have been looking for," Bob says. "I don't worry about it now."

But Bob wanted to go a step further. He had his swing (the physical "it") mastered and the next step was to bring out and tame that other thing that can make good golfers go on the rocks—the mental heebie-jeebies.

Nerves in tournament play can be as damaging as a bent putter and Bob, in his younger days, had been high-strung at times.

So he took the direct course and he did the thing he thinks will do more for him in his future golf career than any other. He took a public speaking course.

In Victoria there is a chapter of that mail order course that you see advertised on the back of magazines, usually squeezed between the "Muscles in 90 Days" and the "Sure-Fire Exema Cure" ads. It is the Dale Carnegie Public Speaking Course, and while we do not mean to hand out free plugs on these pages, Bob says, "Taking that course was the best thing I ever did for myself."

"It gave me confidence and poise and a serenity to life that I didn't know before. I was able to transfer the things I learned in that course to my golf game and it has given me a completely different outlook on the game. I think I will be a better golfer for it."

From Gorge Vale to Corpus Christie

And now, Bob is off to spend a short vacation in New York, and from there he flies to Corpus Christie, Tex., which will be his golf headquarters.

He probably will pick up the tournament trail in Florida, entering as an amateur, and may take enough time off to come home for Christmas. If he does, he will leave us again on Jan. 1 to join the Winter Trail, starting with the Los Angeles Open and the Bing Crosby Invitational and so on along the line.

Bob will play for the satchels and golf balls they give amateurs for prizes, for at least a year. If, at the end of that time, he thinks he can make a living at it, he will probably turn pro.

But win or lose, pro or amateur, we join Victoria in wishing the best of luck to Bob. You can get mad at him for playing too slow, but you can't dislike him. He was born to be a winner and will accept nothing less.

And, in addition to his woods and irons, Bob will be attacking Old Man Par with a rolled up diploma, his award as a graduate public speaker.

Bob really will be armed.

Good News From 'Ma', Coho Show at the Cove

"Ma" Holder, known to the fishing fraternity as "The Queen of Deep Cove" had good news for frustrated coho fishermen this week.

Mrs. Holder reported that the long-awaited appearance of coho had finally materialized in the cove over the weekend and anglers enjoyed particularly good fishing on Saturday and Sunday.

One of the best catches was made by John and Alfred Quayle, who caught five coho, the biggest 12 pounds 10 ounces, lost another and caught two jack-springs and a limit of grise, the entire catch on green and white bucktail flies.

Doug Wilkinson took a 13-pound 3 ounce on a McKnight spoon, Earl Poulton caught a 14 1/2 pounder on a green and white fly and his party had two smaller fish.

Mrs. Holder reports that early morning fishing is the most rewarding and that the fish are taking flies weighted with two to eight ounces of lead.

Grise are running up to two pounds and are plentiful.

Prices Up Slightly In Dullest Trading

Prices improved slightly near the close of trading today on the Toronto stock exchange after running through the dullest session in many weeks.

Prices also were higher on a slow market session at New York. Leading stocks were ahead fractions to around a point.

AT TORONTO industrial gains ranged up to one point, with Algoma, Calgary Power, St. Lawrence and International Paper leading the winners. Bathurst Power and Paper B lost a point.

Falconbridge added 1/2 among senior base metals but other issues lost some ground. Ventures was ahead a point among holding companies.

Great Plains gained a point in western oils but Bailey-Selburn lost 1/2.

AT NEW YORK an outside gainer was International Business Machines. This high-priced stock rose around five points following a report of record earnings.

Hudson Bay Mining gained a point and Aluminium Ltd. International Nickel and Walker-Godthard gained fractions.

Brazilian Traction and Preston East Dome gained 1/2 in trading among Canadian issues on the American exchange.

AT MONTREAL Aluminium slipped 1/2 in a fractionally easier base metal section, while Algoma dropped a point to lead steels lower.

Calgary Power climbed 1 1/2 in a generally improved utilities section.

AT LONDON oil shares were quiet and firm, with Shell and British Petroleum both up two shillings or better. Industrials were mixed. In engineering shares Babcock and Wilcox opened firm but most of the gains were lost.

Newsprinters were easier but leading electricals improved. A number of miscellaneous issues improved, but Borax, British Aluminium and Hudson's Bay were dull. Coppers showed a firm trend.

AT VANCOUVER trading was dull. National Exploration sold 7,000 shares at 46, up 2 cents. Vanor dropped 5 cents to $1.41.

Refined Nickel Price Dropped One Cent

TORONTO (CP) — The International Nickel Company of Canada announced Tuesday a decrease of one cent in its price of electrolytically refined nickel, for consumption in Canada, to 62 cents a pound from its Port Colborne, Ont., refinery.

The price change does not alter the company's price of nickel for the United States or other markets.

CNR Labor Relations Vice-President Named

MONTREAL (CP) — William T. Wilson, of Ottawa, former deputy chairman and controller of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has been appointed assistant vice-president in charge of labor relations and personnel with the CNR. It was announced Tuesday.

The railway also announced the appointment of T. A. Johnston, a native of Winnipeg, as manager of the labor relations section.

Canada's Exhibit At Brussels Will Cost $2.7 Millions

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will spend $2.7 million on its exhibit at the 1958 Brussels world trade fair, Trade Minister Howe said yesterday.

He said the exhibit will not only be used to advertise Canadian products but also to tell the world how Canadians live.

Council would be under no obligation if it turned down Mr. Gunn's plan, Coun. Diespecker said.

Council was unanimously in favor of contacting Mr. Gunn.

U.S. Govt. Cotton Destroyed in Texas Fire

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Fire raged through two warehouses Tuesday, destroying 7,500 bales of government-owned cotton worth an estimated $1,250,000. The blaze for the time threatened a wide area of the city, including a gasoline storage area. Firemen said it was completely under control before daybreak today, but that the cotton probably will smoulder for days.

CANADIAN INVESTMENT FUND CALVIN BULLOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains showed little change throughout most of a quiet session on the board of trade today.

Wheat maintained a steady tone as did corn and oats. A factor in wheat trade was a government report showing that larger than expected quantities of 1956 crop wheat is being placed under price support.

Winnipeg (CP) — Fair export interest in flax appeared in trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. There were reports of sales of small quantities of flax on the Continent. Hedges were liberal but were fairly well taken. Prices were irregular.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: the United Kingdom 840,000 bushels, Japan 700,000, Switzerland 340,000, West Germany 185,000, Belgium 105,000, the Netherlands 75,000 and a small lot to Denmark.

Lakehead prices on class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged.

Marilyn Bell Considers Quitting Marathon Swimming

Marilyn Bell's conquest of the Strait of Juan de Fuca last month could be her last professional swim.

In the coming issue of Weekend Magazine, carried by the Times Saturday, she tells her story of the mighty swim and says "I don't know whether I'll ever do a big swim again."

Canada's top woman swimmer, now studying physiotherapy at McGill University, writes "there are so many other things to do. I want to learn to cook and be married and have some normal kids."

Marilyn is frank in her article.

"I'm a professional and I swim for money. I like having it, of course. Who would not? But I never think about it when I'm swimming. I swim for the challenge."

Marilyn tells her story in straightforward language.

Juan de Fuca wasn't her toughest swim. It was Lake Ontario, she says.

When defeated by the Strait on her first bid, Marilyn determined to "stick out my chin and do it again."

She did just that, clipping Bert Thomas' time from Ediz Hook to Victoria by 39 minutes.

She writes: "If I was going to stop the first time I was beaten I'd have stopped swimming 10 years ago. . . . I think it's good for me that I failed."

I think it was good for my pride."

Weekend Magazine, together with the Times and the Toronto Telegram, sponsored the plucky swimmer's successful crossing.

Color photography in Weekend, of crowds greeting Marilyn and of the boats against a bright blue sea, is eye-catching.

LOTS WANT HOUSE LOTS ON LANSDOWNE AIRFIELD

Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. reported today it is flooded with requests to buy property on the government-financed subdivision at the old Lansdowne airfield in Saanich.

Sale of 135 lots at $2,000 apiece was thrown open to the public today, after veterans had been allowed first choice. Twelve were sold to them.

The lots are all free of local improvement taxes as the government has installed services such as sewage, light and water.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

Don't come crying to ME with your troubles. I, too, invested in seven—count them, seven—series pools and won:

And I am still trying to explain to My Favorite Wife why it was necessary to play the first six games when the whole thing was settled by that one game today.

Also, MPW can't understand all the excitement about the game Don Larsen pitched.

"Absolutely nothing happened," says MPW. "No hits, no runs, no errors, no walks, nothing. How unutterably dull."

Which leaves nothing but a flock of statistics for the hot stove league.

(Clever intro, what?)

Fire prevention week is held with the avowed purpose of preventing fires.

The best way I know to prevent fires is, take me along on a camping trip.

Give me one match, and tell me to start the cooking fire. That prevents fire. I know from experience. (Cold beans aren't so bad if you're really hungry.)

One of the best things fire has done for man is, it attracted dogs to man.

Dogs, when they were really wolves, used to sneak up to man's campfire to get warm.

Man took advantage of this, and made a deal with dogs. Dogs were allowed to keep warm by man's fire in return for doing various small chores for man.

One of the most important of these chores is barking and waking up the family when some fool goes to sleep smoking in bed and sets fire to the joint.

It is enough to make any sensible dog go back to the jungle.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Abortion Try Charge Denied By City Man

Benjamin Robert Maggs, former SPCA inspector here, denied in Criminal Assize Court today he attempted abortion at 2727 Wark Street April 1.

Maggs, facing trial on the attempted abortion charge, also denied he was posing as a medical practitioner and giving treatment to Gordon Head soldiers.

The accused took the witness stand today after Margaret Joyce Billings testified he had attempted an abortion on her, and frightened her into believing she needed immediate treatment.

In answer to Mrs. Billings' accusation, Maggs testified he was invited to her home to treat a dog.

Maggs said that during the visit he was asked by a man named Stanley Glenn Frohman whether he could perform an abortion.

Maggs said he refused to do so and warned Frohman that it was dangerous and could lead to disastrous results.

Earlier, Frohman, a member of the Second Battalion, QORs, said he had asked Maggs to come to the house because he believed he was a doctor.

The accused was asked to explain why he carried a card which introduced him as "Dr. B. R. Maggs, PhD, MD, BSc, MA, FRAM, Neurosurgeon."

Maggs said "I only printed the cards to be funny, because I was known at Gordon Head as 'doctor,'" adding that the use of the term was in reference to his work as a veterinarian.

Under questioning by his counsel, James Proudfoot, Maggs admitted doing a urine test as a favor to a soldier.

The trial is continuing before Mr. Justice Harold McInnes.

Wide Acclaim For Young City Artist

Enthusiastic praise was voiced today by two leading Canadian authorities for the wildlife paintings of 19-year-old Victoria artist James Fenwick Lansdowne.

Opening of an exhibit of 40 of his paintings of birds and native wild flowers took place Tuesday at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto. The paintings immediately aroused interest and caused T. M. Shortt, Canada's leading wildlife illustrator, to comment.

"I've never seen anything like it. His work is nothing short of brilliant. Lansdowne is the most amazing discovery in wildlife art I can remember."

BRILLIANT

John A. Livingstone of the Canadian Audubon Society, which sponsors the exhibition annually, featuring paintings from Canada's best wildlife illustrators, declared Lansdowne's work to be "a thoroughly extraordinary and obviously brilliant new talent."

The Victoria artist was born in Hong Kong and came to Canada at an early age. At the age of two he was a polio victim. He lives with his parents at 1978 Forrester Street, but travels about a good deal studying birds, insects and plant life of the Pacific northwest.

He has been painting since the age of six and has had the interest and help of Frank Beebe, artist, and Charlie Guellet, biologist of the Provincial Museum, although he has had no formal art training.

2nd Teen-Ager Admits Hurling Knives in Home

Pleads Guilty To Radio Theft

Brian Tennison, 18, 1575 Clawthorpe, pleaded guilty to charges of creating a mischief and theft under $50 value, when he appeared in Saanich police court today.

He was the second to be charged in a knife-throwing spree in a Burnside home Oct. 2. Garith Clouston, 18, 2247 McCoy, pleaded guilty to a mischief charge Saturday.

Two others are still sought by Saanich police.

Detectives said the four teenagers entered the home, unoccupied except for a 16-year-old girl who was sleeping, and began throwing butcher knives at wall and doors.

GIRL WANTED

The girl awoke, police said, and joined the four when they left the house. She is wanted on a delinquency charge separate from this incident.

Tennison was charged with stealing a portable radio from the house on the same date.

He and Clouston will appear in regular sitting of Saanich court Thursday afternoon.

Watershed Wood Sought As City Fuel

A Victoria city council committee will meet with the Greater Victoria Water Board, Thursday, to seek permission to remove waste timber from the Sooke Lake and Goldstream watersheds.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said today the request will be made as a means of relieving the current city firewood shortage.

If permission is obtained, council will discuss letting firewood contracts at its 2 p.m. meeting the same day.

The mayor said the wood in question is slash and other wastes which could be converted for stove use.

Victoria wood dealers are experiencing the most severe wood shortage in history due to diversion of mill wastes to chipper plants for conversion to pulp.

CD Course Here January 7 to 10

A provincial civil defence course is planned for CD officers and senior municipal employees throughout the province at University School here, Jan. 7 to 10.

The province will pay transportation for out-of-town delegates to the course and will arrange dormitory accommodation at the school for the four-day period.

An announcement of the courses addressed to Victoria city council advised that unless there is sufficient registration, the course will be cancelled.

Pinball Ban Due As Scurrah Acts

Aldermen's Support Seen

All pinball machines in Victoria may be thrown out following a meeting of city council Thursday.

The ban would apply to pinball machines, whether or not illegal pay-offs are proven.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said today he will ask council to order suspension of all licenses for pinball machines as of Jan. 2, 1957, start of next licensing period.

Indications at City Hall are that majority of aldermen will support the mayor's move toward a ban against the machines.

At present, 60 machines are licensed in the city, at $60 each, payable in advance, bringing an annual revenue of $3,600 to the city.

"I have conducted an investigation and am satisfied the people who play them are losing large sums of money. In many cases money which they cannot afford to lose," the mayor stated. He added he was convinced many operators of stores where the machines are in use are "paying off" in cash for "free games" rung up on the machines.

The pinball question arose after publication last Friday in a New Westminster paper of an account of alleged pinball gambling here. A former operator was quoted as saying an income of $35,000 a week is garnered from the machines locally through a combination of pay-offs and "fixed" machines.

Esquimalt and Oak Bay outlawed the machines some years ago.

United Church Young People Convention Here

More than 100 members of United Church young people's unions in B.C. will attend a provincial conference here Oct. 26 to 28.

Theme of the conference will be "Ye Shall Be My Witnesses." Members of young people's unions in Kamloops, the Okanagan, Cariboo, New Westminster, Vancouver and up-island will take part.

The three-day meeting will open Friday, Oct. 26, with a dance in the Oak Bay United Church gymnasium.

Theme speaker Rev. William Buckingham, minister of Sidney United Church, will address the group at a meeting in Oak Bay United Saturday afternoon. He also will conduct the Sunday morning service in the church.

The Hon. W. N. Chant, minister of public works, will be guest speaker at a dinner in the church hall Saturday night.

Main part of the conference will be devoted to program workshops, directed by chairman Nora Wolfe, past president of the B.C. conference, Young People's Union.

The conference will close with communion service at the church Sunday afternoon.

Walter Wilson, Shrine Bandsman, Succumbs at 66

A member of the Gizeh Temple Shrine band for more than 30 years and well known in printing circles in Victoria, Walter Wilson died today in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Aged 66, he had been ill about three months.

Mr. Wilson was for years foreman of the bindery section of the Queen's Printers and later was office manager of Island Engravers Ltd., handling engraving for both the Times and Colonist.

Among survivors are his wife, at home, 2527 Cedar Hill; one son and one daughter.

Thomson Funeral Home will announce arrangements later.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Arthur J. De'Ath, HMCS Ontario, $40 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $35 and licence suspension for careless driving.

Robert Charles Duke, 2258 Neil, $40 and licence suspension for careless driving resulting in $750 total damage in collision with another car.

Robert David Cambrey, 2361 Queenswood, $25 for speeding over 30 miles an hour, clocked at 40-45.

Robert Alfred W. Wallis, 4103 Shelbourne, $40 for driving while under suspension.

Douglas Irvin, 821 Princess, $35 for careless driving, resulting in $400 total damage in collision with another car.

Bruce Andrew Smiley, 436 Niagara, $35 for careless driving, resulting in $350 total damage in collision with another car.

SONGHEES LINK WITH PAST

Old Potlach House To Be Demolished

Wreckers' hammers will soon smash one of the few remaining historic potlach houses on the Maple Bank Songhees Indian Reserve, Esquimalt.

Chief George Cooper, owner of the house, said the building is beyond repair and will have to be demolished because of the danger it may collapse.

Inside the building, which once echoed with the whoops and cries of Indian tribal dances, stands a totem pole, the only one on the Indian reservation. Its origin is cloaked in mystery, as the Songhees did not carve totems.

"I know the totem was acquired by my father, Michael," Chief Cooper explained. "I don't know where he got it and for what reason."

SMITHSONIAN INTEREST

The chief said the Smithsonian Institute in the United States was interested in getting the pole.

During the past few weeks, he said, many artists and photographers have been drawing and snapping pictures of the pole and building.

The wooden building, along with three others, was built in 1911 when the Indian band moved from the Industrial Reserve to the present site overlooking Esquimalt Harbor. Each building used to accommodate 500 braves.

The building to be demolished still contains evidence that it was used for potlaches. Here and there are scattered fragments of reed mats no longer made by the Indians.

An eerie atmosphere prevails inside the building with its scattered Indian relics. The scene is one of desolation, with the old totem pole looking down on the remains of a forgotten past.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. The Cyclopaedia of Canada has a brief section dealing with the opossum, a member of the Marsupialia, animals having a pouch of "marsupium," in which the young are kept during part of their development. The article says opossums are rare wanderers in southwestern Ontario from their normal range, which is farther south. Have opossums ever been seen in British Columbia? I.L.D.

A. Yes, but they did not come from the same region as those seen in Ontario. It probably will come as a surprise to most citizens to learn from Dr. Carl of the B.C. Museum that specimens have been sighted in the Blaine and Cloverdale districts. Though not native to the region, opossums were released south of the border. The couple seen near Cloverdale obviously came from one of those colonies. Actually, the descendants of the opossums freed in California have become a pest, consuming and destroying vegetables. They are almost omnivorous, feeding on almost anything that is edible.

Q. What is the present population of Lethbridge, Alberta? Mrs. S.D.T.

A. Preliminary figures from the June, 1956, federal census put the population of that city at 31,120, compared with the 22,957 listed in the 1951 census.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Make Repair Jobs So Easy

By PENNY SAVER

While sleuthing around town, with an eye open for bargains, I noticed a throng of people around a store window. They were peering this way and that and oh-ing and ah-ing, and I thought for sure that there was something special that would make good copy for this column. I made my way almost to the front of the crowd before I discovered that it wasn't a super-salesman in the window. It was a TV set. Of course, the mob had turned out to see the World Series. The jaunt into the bleacher section of the sidewalk was profitable in my searchings, nevertheless, for I spied some good buys in a nearby window.

I went inside the store and found a display of fix-it materials that are a snap to use. I saw some plastic aluminum that you just apply and let dry, and the resultant hardened surface will withstand over 600 degrees F. It won't shrink, crack or peel and can be burnished to a brilliant lustre. Leaky gutters and downspouts, plumbing leaks, holes and leaks in wood and metal boats, holes and dents in car bodies and fenders can all be repaired so easily. You can seal out drafts in metal buildings, seal furnace ducts, laps and seams, and do dozens of other little repair jobs around the house or workshop. The mixture, that comes in a tube, will dry to a metallic hardness in three to four hours. It's $1.29 a tube.

Of a similar idea is the plastic steel kit that is used in industry for rebuilding machinery and for cementing steel to steel, aluminum, bronze, brass or porcelain. Once mixed, the substance can be used as easily as modelling clay. Used according to directions, it will harden in about two hours at room temperature. It's 80 per cent steel and 20 per cent plastic. The kit is yours for $2.50.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the articles mentioned here in the column.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Ungainly Position of Hands
Can Detract From Glamour

When our hands are busy we never think of them, but they are a problem to many women when they are sitting or standing or walking.

We see people everywhere standing to talk with their arms folded over their chest or stomach, or with one arm akimbo on a hip. If you cross your arms over your tummy, sitting or standing, you are glamour-sunk at any age and any weight. Overweight people seem to have a greater tendency to this position, probably because they are conscious of a protruding abdomen.

We often see overweight women with their hands clasped beneath their abdomens. This gives the impression of trying to hold up the George Washington Bridge. Arms crossed over the chest is a better pose—but not the best by a long shot. The simplest and best solution seems to be to stand erect with your arms hanging at your sides in a relaxed manner. Your thumbs should touch your side seams with your palms turned inward toward your body. This is the "movie way." There is another position which is quite graceful if it is relaxed and comes naturally to you. Clasp your hands loosely behind your back and lift your chest, and your chin (slightly).

There is another possibility. When you stand to talk bend your elbows and clasp your hands together in a relaxed manner, at your waistline. If you are a relaxed person with a certain natural grace you probably will place your hands in an attractive position when you sit. This will no doubt be one arm on each arm of the chair or one hand on the other in your lap.

When you walk let your arms swing in a relaxed manner. The right arm moves forward as you step forward with the left foot and vice versa. Avoid a piston-like movement of the arms. Some people swing their arms so vigorously that they appear to be propelled along by them.

If a pad of fat on your abdomen is making you self-conscious, you may want my tested abdominal reducing exercises which will decrease that measurement a few inches in a few weeks' time. If so send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Housing and Household Articles
Combine to Create Good Design

OTTAWA (CP)—The director of the National Gallery says Canadians should be more "vocal and concerned" with their total environment.

Good design in household articles and in housing go together, Alan Jarvis told the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumers here.

He said the National Industrial Design Council promotes better design for quantity-produced articles. Now a newly formed Canadian Housing Council would promote better housing design.

FOREST OF TV

Some Canadian suburban areas today are a "mess" sprawling in "forests of television masts," he told some 80 CAC delegates and observers from eight provinces.

He said changing standards should be carried into town planning and that the public and builders should be educated to housing of more enduring quality.

The three-day CAC meeting began Tuesday and continues today with the presentation of resolutions and election of officers. The meeting ends Thursday.

In reports presented Tuesday, membership chairman Mrs. R. W. Morningstar of Toronto said individual memberships increased this year to 15,300 from 9,918 last year. Group memberships rose to 529 from 257.

URGES MORE LIAISON

Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon, Sask., who conducted the 1956 membership campaign, first since the CAC's inception in 1947, said the drive indicated a need for a liaison officer on the national membership committee.

Nearly 1,000 persons in the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia and Alberta have seen the CAC display of measuring cups and spoons, design committee chairman Mrs. W. F. Harrison of Ottawa said.

The CAC's toy testing committee is preparing program kits on toys as parent education aids, and is working on a cross-Canada tour for toy-testing panels, chairman Mrs. A. L. Kassirer of Ottawa said.

Injured Logger Dies on Way Here

An unidentified 31-year-old logger from the Duncan area died en route to Jubilee Hospital of injuries received in an accident in the Nitinat region today.

He was given emergency treatment at Duncan, then brought here for medical attention and hospital care. No details on the accident were available. The man had been working in B.C. only nine days.

Two Bodies Taken From Mine

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Tired rescue teams today brought up two bodies from a 1,000-foot coal mine near here where four men were buried Tuesday night by a 100-ton fall of rock.

Rescuers toiled all night clawing away the rock from the pit where the men were trapped. No sound came from the other two trapped miners.

Chase Man, 26, Facing Murder Charge

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A 26-year-old Chase man was being held for questioning today in connection with a fatal shooting at Magna Bay, 35 miles east of here.

Kamloops RCMP said the suspect will be charged with the murder of Wilber Nichols, 26.

Nichols died in hospital here today from gunshot wounds in the stomach.

Hitler's Sister to Write Memoirs

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP)—Hitler's sister said today she is writing her memoirs to set some of the record about her family straight.

"And the readers will forgive me if I abstain from depicting my brother at all costs as a wicked character, just for the sake of profit," she told a reporter.

Paula Hitler, 60, whose name was changed to Paula Wolf on Hitler's orders in 1936, was interviewed at her home in this Alpine resort city.

4th Jet Crash Victim Identified

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP)—First Lieut. Robert L. Canup, 25-year-old radar observer, died in the crash of his air force fighter-interceptor after it collided last Thursday with a second jet over the Olympic Peninsula, the air force announced today.

Searchers found the wreckage of Canup's Scorpion on rugged Mount Olympus, and reported it appeared to have crashed at about the speed of sound.

The air force statement said Canup apparently failed to clear the jet in attempting to parachute after the collision. Three other air force officers in the two jets bailed out safely.

Boxcar Collides With Tug

VANCOUVER (CP)—A tug captain barely escaped with his life when an empty boxcar jumped a siding and crashed along the side of his tiny cabin at Terminal Dock here early today.

Capt. James Hughes, skipper of the Camrillo, was asleep in his cabin when the empty boxcar hurtled 50 feet past the end of the track and landed in Burrard Inlet.

MAD GUNMEN MENACE
STUDENTS IN SCHOOLCasey Looking To Next Year

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP)—Crusty Casey Stengel took his sixth World Series championship in stride today, praising Yogi Berra and pitcher Johnny Kucks, and hinted, with a sly wink, he'll be back to try for No. 7 next year.

Joe McCarthy, also of the New York Yankees, is the only manager to win seven world baseball championships.

"Well, as you fellows know, my contract was for two years and it ends this year," the stumpy, grey-haired skipper said in the hubbub of the Yankees' victorious dressing room.

"I'm not talking about next year yet, but I'll let you in on a secret—I'm not worried about where I'll be next spring."

Co-owners Del Webb and Dan Topping and general manager George Weiss were among the first to elbow their way through the throng of newsmen and photographers to shake Casey's hand.

"We haven't talked about it yet, but I feel sure Casey will be back in 1957," said Weiss.

THE JOB IS HIS

"The job is his as long as he wants it," added Topping. "I feel sure Casey will be back."

Stengel, independently wealthy with more oil wells than baseball players, has indicated several times he may retire from baseball to meet his wife's request.

The centres of attention in the Yankee quarters, where bedlam was rampant, were Berra, the sturdy little catcher whose pair of two-run homers put the 9-0 victory over Brooklyn on early ice, and Kucks, the 23-year-old righthander, who pitched a magnificent three-hit shutout.

"They beat the hell out of us," said Walter Alston sadly in his little office a few minutes after the last out of the last game of the 1956 World Series.

"But all I want to say is that this club worked like dogs all year long," the Brooklyn Dodger manager went on.

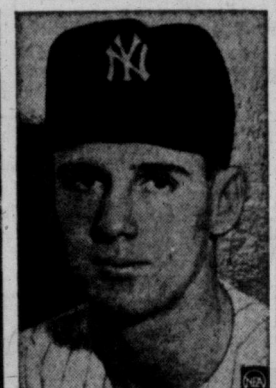

"They battled from behind. They did a wonderful job as far as I am concerned." They fought the Yankees right down to the seventh game.

Then he paid tribute to manager Casey Stengel and his victorious American League team.

"Casey did a good job—and they got some hitting."

The inevitable question came up—how about Don Newcombe, the big 27-game winner during the season who has yet to win a series game and was shelled from the mound in the fourth?

"Newk had as good stuff as I have ever seen him show," said Alston. "He either struck 'em out or they hit it over the fence."

YOGI BERRA
... mighty blastJOHNNY KUCKS
... wraps it upYankers Wrap It Up, Series Records Fall

By LEO H. PETERSEN

United Press Sports Editor
BROOKLYN (UP)—Yogi Berra broke Dodger hearts with a pair of $100,000 homers and young Johnny Kucks broke their backs with three-hit pitching today to crush Brooklyn, 9-0, and give the New York Yankees their seventh world championship in 10 years.

The Yankees, turning on all their long-famed power in this seventh and final game of the annual classic, made it a mauling mardigras before 33,782 Ebbets Field fans as Berra's two-run pair, one by Elston Howard and a grand-slammer by burly Moose Skowron provided an all-time record of 12 homers for the series.

Berra's blasts in the first and third innings gave him 10 runs batted in to break the immortal Lou Gehrig's 28-year-old record for the series and set up big Don Newcombe for another trip down heart-break highway.

Newcombe, four times previously a failure against the Yanks, was kayoed again by Howard's blast, leading off the fourth — and the 23-year-old Kucks took it from there with the added comfort of Skowron's big wallop in the seventh.

Humiliating Loss

Kucks, the "sinker-ball baby" of the Yankee pitching staff, finished it up with a fantastic flair as he headed the Dodgers the most humiliating seventh-game series defeat since the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Detroit Tigers, 11-0, in the 1934 finale.

He had only six base runners back of him this blue-skied day on three hits and three walks, and he scored his only strikeout against the final man—Jackie Robinson, whose hit had won Tuesday's squaring sixth game.

That meant, on the heels of Don Larsen's history-making perfect game in the fifth contest, that Yankee pitchers had given Brooklyn only one run and seven hits over the last 28 innings to provide Casey Stengel with this sixth world championship in eight years.

And, once again it was grim defeat for Newcombe, beaten twice by these Yankees in 1949.

Youngster Saved From Drowning
By Girl Who Recalled TV Lesson

By AB KENT

Story of a little girl who remembered a water safety program on TV last summer and saved a two-year-old boy from drowning off Macaulay Point Thanksgiving Day, came to light today.

Shawn Chapin, nine, daughter of Lieut. W. L. Chapin, paymaster at Camp Gordon Head, went to the waterfront off Point Street in Work Point Barracks married quarters to fish at 2:30 p.m. Monday.

She saw a small green cap floating in the water a few feet from shore with bubbles rising around it.

Without hesitating, Shawn waded waist-deep to investigate.

Under the cap she found a small unconscious boy whom she pulled to dry land and he

POINTS UP CANADA'S INTEREST IN ASIA

Ottawa Sends Paul Martin
On Long Tour in Far East

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Hon. Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare, will be the first Canadian minister to visit the international supervisory commission in Indochina when he makes a goodwill tour of the Far East this winter.

The tour will include India, Ceylon, Pakistan, Australia and New Zealand. Mr. Martin will be the official Canadian government representative at the Olympic Games in Melbourne.

The tour is further evidence of the increasing importance with which Canada regards the Far East.

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, will fly to Japan Oct. 21 to open a two-week goodwill tour of Japanese industrial centres.

Mr. Martin is expected to leave Ottawa with his party about mid-November. Plans call for him flying in the Royal Canadian Air Force C-5 aircraft used by Prime Minister St. Laurent on his round-the-world tour.

After the Olympic Games, Mr. Martin will fly to New Zealand for the Colombo Plan conference in December.

The tour itinerary includes an official visit to New Delhi. Tentative plans call for Mr. Martin to lay the cornerstone for the atomic reactor which Canada has given to India.

Teachers
Used as Shields

TERRAZZANO, Italy (AP)

—Italian police burst into a schoolhouse today and freed 95 children and four teachers held prisoner for hours by two berserk brothers who opened fire in the final minutes of the siege, killing one man. Both brothers were wounded.

The children, between six and 10 years old, had been held at gunpoint for six hours by Arturo and Osvaldo Sampato, who demanded 2,000,000 lire ($380,000) to release them.

A full battalion of national police attacked the building after the director of an asylum for the criminally insane from which one brother recently was released warned that the youth was growing more maniacal by the moment.

The brothers had threatened to blow up the children with dynamite to scare them with acid unless given the money.

Italian police, long prevented from shooting by the brothers' use of the girl teachers as shields, finally went in with guns blazing.

They wounded both Arturo, the madman, and Osvaldo, the younger brother whom police described as a near-moron under Arturo's domination.

Near-hysterical parents tried to lynch the pair when, manacled, they were brought into a courtyard outside the two-storey school. Police fought back the crowd and took them away.

Many of the children were bound hand and foot.

Heroine of the rescue was Miss Paolo del Caratore, a teacher. She attacked the younger brother with her bare hands. She wrenched away his knife and stabbed him in the head. It was then Arturo, the older brother, grappled with her and police were able to close in without the children being endangered.

Arturo pumped two bullets at his own sister just before the police assault. She had been trying to persuade him to give up.

The brothers shot one man

Comox Memorial To War Dead Must Find New Site

COMOX—A new site is being planned for the war memorial here for men of the 102nd battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force.

The memorial now is beside the post office but it must be moved as the post office is to be extended.

The local branch of the Canadian Legion is receiving suggestions concerning the new site.

Owner Says Someone Let Death-Car Loose

PORT ALBERNI — A runaway car that struck and killed FO Leonard Samuel Wall Saturday, one day after his wedding, had been interfered with on a parking lot, witnesses said Tuesday.

A coroner's jury found that the 25-year-old RCAF officer from Portage la Prairie, Man., died accidentally, but recommended fences or other safety devices for parking lots.

Mrs. Arth Maureen Wall, 18, the victim's bride from Comox, B.C., said: "Suddenly he was not there. Then I saw him on top of the front of the car."

"I didn't clearly see the car coming. He fell down to the ground and I started screaming."

FO Wall was thrown against two other cars by the runaway vehicle. He died a short time later. The honeymooning couple had been walking side by side to their hotel when the car came down a steep incline behind them from the parking lot nearly a block away.

Gordon Dufor said he parked the car, leaving it in gear with the emergency brake on. He said he found after the accident that the window was open, the gear in neutral and the brake disengaged.

dead who tried to climb into a school window during the final attack on the building. Earlier, they shot the mother of one child in the leg.

Arturo kept asking for a TV set in messages to police during efforts to get him to surrender. One was placed on the window ledge just before the attack in hopes he would be fascinated by it and not open fire. But Arturo's gun went into action as soon as police began climbing up ladders into the second-storey windows.

The brothers repeated their oral threat by tossing out a note saying: "Give us 200,000, 000 lire or we will not have pity on the children."

Holding up a flask, one shouted to police: "See this. There's acid in it. We also have dynamite. The children are in our hands. If you make a step we will kill them all."

A parish priest then sought to reason with the youths, but they would not listen to him.

Terrazano, a town of less than 1,000, is on the highway between Milan and Sesto Calende.

At noon the bandits permitted the police to carry food for the children to the entrance. Using a teacher for a shield, one gunman brought the food inside the school.

Central Saanich Buys Fire Truck Chassis

Former Reeve Pickles Probably Will Get His Old One Back Again

SAANICHTON—A new fire truck chassis is parked at Central Saanich fire hall in space formerly occupied by the controversial stand-by vehicle associated with the Pickles regime.

The bright green chassis was purchased by the municipality second-hand in Vancouver for $1,891.

Council, on motion of Coun. Harry A. Peard, Tuesday authorized volunteer Fire Chief Vic Heal to purchase material to equip the chassis as a fire fighting unit.

Chief Heal estimated that a new 700-gallon tank would cost about $600, but figured the job could be done under his direction at a cost of about $450.

The much-disputed No. 1 stand-by truck which former Reeve Sydney Pickles claims he acquired by personal cheque for $800 and loaned to the municipality has been relegated to a works department parking lot.

Its disposition has yet to be finally decided, although it is likely that Mr. Pickles will get his truck back eventually. As the matter stands now council is still awaiting reply to a municipal letter suggesting full release of responsibility from possible legal action which might result from the return of the vehicle.

The truck still carries equipment installed by the municipality.

Control of what council termed junk yards was debated following reading of a letter from Victoria city clerk Frank Hunter outlining the city's by-law governing junk yard control.

A definition of "junk" was asked for by taxpayer Philip Lomas, former municipal building inspector, who claimed the term should be clearly defined before it took by-law form.

There are no junk yards as such within the boundaries of the municipality.

Practice of piling firewood and other material on public road allowances will have to be stopped, council decided. Property owners, it was suggested, will be allowed 10 days to get wood piles and other dumped material off the public highways.

Council members expressed determination to have road allowances kept clear of rubbish at all times.

The proposed special services tax favored by the B.C. Union of Municipalities convention was brought up by Coun. John B. Windsor and threatened to

Two lawyers indicted

Kefauver demanded to know whether the Republican national chairman, Leonard W. Hall, or Attorney-General Herbert Brownell had notified the president of the $5,000 cheque, and if not, why not.

Keck testified during a Senate lobbying committee investigation that $2,500 rejected by Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) came from his personal funds.

Kefauver pointed out that Superior Oil and two of its lawyers, Elmer Patman and John Neff, had been indicted in connection with the case.

"But no action was taken regarding the much greater amount given the Eisenhower dinner committee by the same head of Superior Oil," he said.

Trainer as

Girl screams

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—While his fiancée tried desperately to save him, a 28-year-old animal trainer was killed Tuesday night by a 500-pound performing bear he was taking from its cage.

Paul Lemery was attacked shortly after he entered the cage of one of four bears he had been training for television appearances. Hans, a European brown bear, pinned Lemery to the floor and clawed and bit him.

Lemery's fiancée, Shirley Rodriguez, 23, outside the cage, grabbed a seven-foot pole and beat the bear repeatedly as it clung to Lemery.

Screams by Lemery and Miss Rodriguez were heard by Robert Bellefeuille, 26, an operator of a store near the trailer where the bears were kept in three cages. He seized a .35-calibre hunting rifle, ran to the door of the trailer and fatally shot the bear in the head.

Esquimalt Home Guttered by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin gutted the home of Wilfred Demers, 480 South Joffre, at 11.30 a.m. today as Mrs. Demers stood in the yard.

Esquimalt firemen confined flames to the building, an old house, and loss of interior and furnishings is covered by insurance.

The fire broke out while Mrs. Demers was outside the house for a few minutes. She looked toward the house and noticed smoke and flame pouring out, but was unable to account for the cause. Firemen were called but flames had already made headway in the building.
